Boston Man Taken In Tilden Street Block After Thrilling Chase

City Continues to Swelter Under High Temperature and Humidity

Arraigned in Police Court This Morning and Held In $2500 For Hearing

Hundreds Seek Relief In Parks and Commons—One Prostration Reported

The police believe that in Clyde Meadows, alias Nicholas Kistoff, captured by Officer Spillane after a thrilling midnight chase they have the man who has passed raised bills here with success. Meadows was held in bonds of $2500 this morning by Judge Enright, for a hearing July 25. In default of surety, he was taken to the house of correction. In the interim the federal authorities will be notified.

Mihra Barsarian, a storekeeper occupying premises on South street, identifies Meadows as the man who entered his establishment at about 10.10 o'clock last evening and inquired as to the prices of oranges. Barsarian told him that the price was 45 cents a dozen. The ostensible customer argued that this was excessive, and said that he wanted a half dozen for 20 cents. The storekeeper told him he could not oblige him, whereupon the man said he would buy at the regular purchase price. He pulled from his pocket a bill and passed it to Barsarian, saying "Ten." The latter, glancing at it perceived that it was a one dollar bill raised to a ten. However, he pretended that he had not noticed this

With the thermometer hitting the 90 mark in Merrimack square early this afternoon and the humidity even more oppressive than yesterday, Lowell people were again in the throes of one of the most uncomfortable days of the season and were looking forward to relief promised for tomorrow by the weather man in the form of cooling showers.

Until then, however, it looks as though the city would have to remain in the same parched condition that made evening and caused more or less suffering in the congested districts. The fire department will again wet down the thickly settled districts this evening as it did last night in an effort to bring some measure of relief from the heat. Such places as Fayette street, Aiken street and other thickly populated sections throughout the city were the scene of the firemen's work last evening and their efforts were more than appreciated.

Police officers who have been on night duty for many years have stated that last night was one of the worst in their experience because of

Lowell Man Charged With Illegal Keeping of Liquor is Found Not Guilty

Henry L. Turcotte, a local business man, who was charged with illegal keeping of liquor as a result of a raid at his home in Fletcher street last January by Federal Officer O'Dea, was found not guilty and discharged by Commissioner Hayes at Boston Wednesday. Mr. Turcotte will now file a petition with the federal authorities for the return of the liquor taken at his home. The finding of Commissioner Hayes was given on the ground that the officer had no authority to enter the home as he did not have a search warrant.

and later issued a warrant for the arrest of the owner. The case was called in court at Boston and was continued, the defendant being held in the sum of $10,000. When the case went to trial last Wednesday, Mr. Turcotte entered a plea of not guilty and after hearing the evidence Commissioner Hayes ordered the defendant discharged.

It will be remembered that on the night of Jan. 11 last, Officer O'Dea seized 10 barrels of whisky and several jugs of alcohol and a quantity of brandy, valued at $13,000, at the home of Henry L. Turcotte, 533 Fletcher street.

"ALL MEN ARE CREATED EQUAL"

—but do you believe this well worn saying to be true? Certain it is that some have greater opportunities, responsibilities and temptations in life than others. If we have "started something" in your Thinkery, consider and answer this question:

What is the Secret of Man's or Woman's Success in Life?

It has been said that three great fundamentals of success are ability to SAVE MONEY, loyalty to employment and willingness to assume responsibility. To the man who practices these cardinal virtues, Fate is kind, for it brings him sure promotion. But it is equally true some men meet only the agreeable attributes of Fate; others are crushed by it. Can you then truthfully say that all (every one) men are created equal?

One thing is Certain, Positively Certain; all who enlist are as customers with this Bank are created equal on a basis of absolute Equality in Attention, Equality to All. In the broad sense of the word—A DEMOCRATIC BANK.

WATCH PAPERS FOR NEXT WEEK'S ATTRACTIONS

The locker equipment at the municipal bathhouse proved to be woefully inadequate to cope with the crowds which flocked to the river to get relief from yesterday's insufferable humidity. After the authorities at the pool had crowded the lockers to overflowing, three or four persons being assigned to each, there was still a large number of people who clamored for admittance to the bathhouse but these had to be content with open racks in which to place their clothes or forego the pleasure of a swim.

At the present time there are 75 lockers on the men's side of the bathhouse. Each locker was originally intended to accommodate only a single bather but those in charge have been forced to place three and sometimes four men in the same locker. It is estimated that the number of lockers could be doubled and then there would scarcely be enough to get around. This could not be done, however, unless the building were enlarged for practically every available foot of space is taken up at the present time. On the women's side of the bathhouse conditions are not so bad. The number of the fair sex who patronize the bathhouse is not nearly so large as the number of men and as a result the women's lockers were not crowded to overflowing.

Yesterday's attendance at the bathhouse was by far the greatest of this season. Large crowds of men, women, and children, especially the latter, went to the pool to get a brief respite from the heat. Even the bathers felt the heat, however, and it was noticed that most of them were constantly in the water instead of lying about the beach as many do when the sun is not quite so hot.

Miss Mary E. Farrell, the new woman instructor at the bathhouse, was the centre of attraction yesterday. Clad in a bright green bathing suit, she was easily discernible among the other bathers and she was right on the job when any one of the fair sex requested a pointer or two on the art of swimming. Miss Farrell will map out her schedule of swimming classes for women in the near future and it is expected that a large number of women will take advantage of her skill.

No delay was noticeable yesterday in the system of giving out bathing suits and locker keys as long as the latter lasted. There are plenty of suits and towels and the swimmers would have no complaints to make if there were more lockers.

CLARA SMITH'S PAST HAUNTS HER IN FILMS

By LINTON WELLS
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
LOS ANGELES, July 5.—I asked Clara Smith Hamon why she insisted upon revealing, through forthcoming motion pictures, all the sordid incidents of her tragic career.

Why she persisted in her determination to "show" everything, despite protest and ostracism from the entire screen fraternity, following acquittal in the killing of Jake Hamon, oil king of Oklahoma?

"It is a terrible ordeal," she answered with a show of emotion, which, if assumed, would indicate the finished actress, and if genuine, reveals her haunted by her past.

Nearly Faints
"The man selected to play the part of Mr. Hamon so strikingly resembles him and is so realistic that I have many times been on the verge of fainting as the dreadful events were re-enacted."

In Seclusion
Aside from work on her picture, Clara Smith Hamon has been in seclusion here for months. She sees few people, avoids interviews, and says with apparent sincerity that she wants to be forgotten.

"I have not attempted to conceal anything," she says. "Every event from the time I met Mr. Hamon—at the time I left high school—until Nov. 21, 1920, has been faithfully reproduced. The characters we have used have been absolutely true to type, as far as it has been possible to secure them."

"John Ince has taken the part of Mr. Hamon. He really is wonderful. In his acting of the part and in his resemblance to Mr. Hamon. At times he frightens me."

Wants Obscurity
"When this picture is finished, I want nothing more than to retire and live my life as I wish away from the public gaze. I want people to forget me. I don't care what they are saying about me."

"I never go out except for a ride in my car and to church on Sunday morning. The people at church have been lovely to me. I have been to two movies shows since coming to Los Angeles."

"I would not even say to those who condemn me, 'Let him who is without sin cast the first stone.'"

"Thumbs Down"

to exact incidents that occurred there after Clara Hamon's flight from Oklahoma.

After movie powers had ordered "thumbs down" on the Hamon film, studios and laboratories closed their doors to Weather and Clara Smith Hamon, to Weather's sons, actors, directors, cameramen and "supers" were notified that their services would no longer be required if they took part in the picture. A studio was finally secured after many difficulties.

"Nothing shall discourage me," vows Clara Smith Hamon. "I have a message to give to women, and I will not be deterred."

ARTIFICIAL BLONDES AND BOBBED HEADS BARRED

HARTFORD, July 8.—Extremepopular blondes and girls with bobbed hair have no place in American business life, P. N. Daniels, president of the Aetna Insurance company, employing 3000 women throughout the country, said today.

The company recently issued a mandate that no more artificial blondes or bobbed heads would be employed, and that employees already in either category would have to get back to normal as rapidly as possible.

"Artificial blonde hair is a sign of high character," Daniels declared. "It is a mark of lack of intelligence. If any more bobbed-haired girls or blondes get into our offices they will have to crawl through the keyhole."

"There are some in this office now, but we are going to get rid of them as soon as possible. Of course, we can't make any set rule, but we have advised these girls to drop all artificiality at once."

"Business researches have proved that 90 per cent. of blondes are useless. All women who bob their hair are useless. Some say they have cut their hair to avoid the heat, but I can tell you there is a hotter place waiting for them."

"My ideal of a business woman is one who has had two or three years of college work, does not powder her nose, does not watch the clock, does not rouge her cheeks, and does not smoke cigarettes."

"I can tolerate the woman who lays aside her corset. That is comfort. But it is carrying comfort too far to bare one's self in bobbed hair. I think the movies are responsible or girls doing this."

"I don't wish to give the impression that women should neglect their dress. I believe business girls should be attractively garbed in pure business style, the same as business men."

"When you're dishing out my employees, for God's sake, give me long-haired brunettes."

BLAZING CROW FALLS INTO HAY FIELD

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 8.—A crow alighted on a heavily charged electric wire of the Niagara River Co. near Spencerport today and fell a blazing mass into a field of uncut hay. The ripe grain caught fire and heavy damage was caused before the arrival of fire-fighters. Nearby fields of wheat valued at thousands of dollars were threatened.

DIVER BRINGS UP BOTTLE OF COCKTAILS

BOSTON, July 8.—Charles Snow, a diver of Marblehead, undertook the job yesterday to go down and examine the mooring chains that hold the landing boat on the Marblehead side that serves the little stream ferryboat plying between the town and the Neck.

Snow emerged from the harbor after a short sojourn, and reported that the bottom hereabouts was pretty well covered with bottles. He did not ask anyone to take his unsupported word for it, but produced a bottle which he had picked up during his submarine prowling. The bottle was full, and sealed. The cork was extracted, and the contents subjected to critical examination. Experts declared that well established tests proved the bottle contained Martini cocktails of considerable age.

Maine and Portland are proud to have been the home of the Christian Endeavor society and your faithful members form an army of Christian soldiers who can be relied upon to fight for everything that makes for better citizenship."

TUFTS READY TO GO TO HIGHER COURT

BOSTON, July 8.—Counsel for Dist. Atty. Nathan A. Tufts are prepared to take his case to the United States supreme court, should he be removed by the state supreme court after a hearing on the misconduct charges lodged by Atty. Gen. J. Weston Allen. Assurance of this intention was received yesterday from a source close to Tufts, after the attorney general had announced the taking of depositions of the New York film magnates said to be concerned in the alleged $100,000 "shakedown" in which Tufts and others have been charged with conspiracy.

It was further assured that Mr. Tufts himself will take the stand and account for the disposition of cases cited in the Allen complaint, with reservation of certain details which, he alleges, were received by him in his official capacity and should not be divulged before any tribunal.

Resting on this right to immunity and on the guarantees in the 14th amendment to the federal constitution, his counsel will be ready to appeal to the United States supreme court should the decree of the state body be adverse.

SEEKING NEWS OF MISSING STEAMER

NEW YORK, July 8.—Broadcast radio messages were sent out today by the navy station at Arlington, Va., seeking news of the passenger steamship Calian, which is due here Sunday from Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro with 60 passengers.

Officials of the Munson line, her operating agents reiterated today they had no fears for her safety and suggested that lack of replies to inquiries might be due to a breakdown of her radio equipment.

The wireless apparatus of the Calian has a transmitting range of 500 miles.

WOMAN PRESIDENT OF ASSYRIAN NATION

NEW YORK, July 8.—Lady Surma, the English-educated Mesopotamian, has been formally declared president of the Assyrian (distinguished from Syrian by geographical and racial lines) nation, one of the new group of self-governing countries come out of the war. The capital of the new nation is Mosul, near the walls of old Nineveh, named after the Imperial husband of Semiramis. It is, of course, a British protectorate, and the new ruler will have competent guides to assist her in promoting the destinies of her ancient race.

Confirmation of the report of her appointment to the highest office was made today in a telegram from Gary, Ind., to Joel E. Werda, 86 Park place, publisher of an Assyrian newspaper and one of the leaders of his countrymen in North America. The message follows:

"I am officially informed from Washington that Lady Surma has been appointed president of modern Assyria. Great Britain has allotted us 820 sq. miles of Mesopotamia, including Mosul and Nineveh, and Persian frontier. Inform boys this is assured. Will write in detail."

"J. Y. KAMBER, Assyrian National Association." Lady Surma can claim, her adherents believe, she is the first woman to have the title of president of any country in recent history. Her country people are jubilant over the honor, and the fact that it brings with it a re-establishment of Assyrian nationhood.

Better Homes Crying Need in America Today, Says Woman Baptists' Head

MRS. HELEN BARRETT MONTGOMERY

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 8.—(Better homes!)

"That is the crying need in America today," says Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery, first woman to be elected president of the Northern Baptist association. She was recently named at the Baptist convention at Des Moines, Ia.

In her new capacity Mrs. Montgomery has launched a "back to the Christian home" movement with the idea that it will stem the present wave of "carelessness and looseness in manners, dress and morals."

"I believe," says Mrs. Montgomery, "that we are at present in the backwash of the wave of general laxity of ideas, which came with the war, and which has come with every other war in history."

"It is only since the war that we have seen women painting, powdering and bleaching, but already I believe the tide is swinging back to more normal standards of living."

"Prison officials say that only a small percentage of those who have been brought up in good homes, find their way into the prisons of the country."

De Valera Is Loudly Cheered

Valera, Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein, and four of the southern Irish leaders, Sir Robert Henry Woods and Andrew Jameson.

Mr. De Valera was the first to arrive. He was loudly cheered as he came, by the large crowd which had gathered about the Mansion House, where the conference was held.

Lord Mayor O'Neill welcomed the delegates, who began their deliberations immediately.

Among the distinguished visitors were Bishop Phelan of Sale, 115 miles southeast of Melbourne, Australia, Father Devlin of New York and Countess Plunkett.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon it was announced that the proceedings had been adjourned until 4 p. m. The crowd again loudly cheered as some of the delegates left the Mansion House. Mr. De Valera and Mr. Griffith remained to lunch with the lord mayor.

Fighting in Belfast

BELFAST, July 8.—Union and Kent streets were the scene of wild excitement at midnight last night, when heavy firing was heard for 20 minutes. A constable was mortally wounded and Sinn Féin engaged in the hostilities were reported to have suffered heavily. Many dead bodies were carried into houses nearby.

The trouble started when a police searching party called at a house in the district. Fire was opened upon the party, and in response to a police hurry call, reinforcements were rushed up. A battle ensued, and the police were fired at from street corners as well as from houses which had been picked to guard against surprises from crown forces.

Seek Basis for Peace

LONDON, July 8.—Deliberations of the Sinn Féin and the Unionists of south Ireland, meeting at Dublin today are hoped to develop some basis for peace negotiations which will end the era of bloodshed that has prevailed in Ireland for many months. English political writers in this morning's newspapers seemed to believe the prospects of an agreement should be regarded more with hope than with faith. In many quarters, indeed, the situation was viewed as giving little occasion for optimism.

This view was based largely on the belief that Eamonn de Valera, leader of the Sinn Féin, adhered unalterably to his demand for the establishment of an Irish republic, and that the British government, as well as Hester, took its stand upon the Irish act, recently passed by the British parliament. It was stated that Earl Middleton, a south Irish Unionist leader, who was in London to confer with Prime Minister Lloyd George and others and who returned to Dublin last night, had taken with him an intimation that any settlement must be in harmony with the Irish act, in accordance with which the Belfast parliament was created.

Whether, in the face of such an attitude, Mr. De Valera would accept the prime minister's invitation to London was regarded in many quarters as extremely doubtful. Where the more hopeful view was taken, however, it was believed that Mr. De Valera might reply with a counter proposal. This, according to information received by the Associated Press from Belfast, might take the form of Mr. De Valera insisting that the government "put its cards on the table" before discussing his own hand. It was said he might maintain that, as Mr. Lloyd George had proposed a conference between Ulster, south Ireland and the British government, the onus of the situation was upon him.

Another view held in Ulster was that the Sinn Féin could not stand the financial strain of prolonging the conflict and, therefore, was disposed to come to terms.

Body Riddled With Bullets

DUBLIN, July 8.—The bullet riddled body of Police Sergt. Poody was found yesterday near Ballina, County Mayo. To it was pinned a paper reading: "Revenge for the Dwyers."

Poody was on duty near Ballina a few days ago when two brothers named Dwyer were shot there.

Lord Mayor O'Neill is very active throughout Donegal. Roads have been blocked, wires cut and trains delayed.

Craig Seen King

LONDON, July 8.—King George received Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, this morning in an audience which lasted half an hour.

While nothing was obtainable regarding their talk, it was assumed that the Irish situation was discussed. Sir James refused to make any statement after his audience.

STOLEN AUTO

Machine Stolen Here Found in Portland, Oregon

H. H. Thatcher, lieutenant of police at Portland, Ore., has forwarded a communication to police headquarters here, to the effect that an Oakland car with a Massachusetts registry number has been found there. Investigation shows that the number given belongs to a machine stolen from Angie Speltz, 28 Hillside street, on Nov. 26, 1920. Supt. Welch notified Speltz of the recovery, and informed him also that if the car is insured against loss by theft, the insurance company has the obligation of incurring the expense of returning the car here.

MANY ANIMALS OVERCOME BY HEAT

The offices of the Humana society were deluged today and yesterday with calls from owners of animals which had been overcome by the intense heat. Of the animals affected dogs were in the majority. Agent Richardson of the society said this morning that they are more susceptible to heat than other animals and he advised owners of canines to keep their pets in cool places and to furnish them plenty of fresh water to drink.

A remarkable feature of this hot spell is that no horses have been reported as overcome. The authorities say that this is due to the fact that the number of horses has dwindled since the advent of the motor car until there are very few animals in the city at the present time.

Agent Richardson said that as far as he could determine the watering throughout the city are functioning properly and animals may get water when they need it. He urges moderation and humane treatment on the part of drovers of horses as a preventive of trouble during the hot spell.

STUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Edna Duval, aged 5 years and residing at 59 Hudson street, received injuries to her head and body when she was struck by an automobile in Lawrence street late yesterday afternoon. It seems that the little girl with a companion was running across the street when the machine came in sight. The other girl ran on onto the sidewalk, but the Duval girl stopped short in the path of the machine and was struck. She was taken to St. John's hospital where she is being kept under observation for probable internal injuries.

COMMISSIONER SALMON LEAVES HOSPITAL

Commissioner John P. Salmon left St. John's hospital this morning after being confined there since May 19 as a result of an automobile accident in Tewksbury in which he suffered serious injuries to his hip, thigh and left leg. Mr. Salmon was taken to his home in Coburn street and will remain there several weeks. He is now able to walk short distances with the aid of crutches.

fact, and thrust the bill into his pocket, nodding and saying "Yes." Then he went to the window to look for an officer. The man apparently became alarmed, and suddenly rushed for the door and fled down the street, with Barsarian in pursuit. "Stop or I'll shoot," cried the merchant, putting his hand to his hip pocket as the fugitive paused and looked around. "This failed to bluff the latter, however, who also motioned upwards his hip, whereupon Barsarian gave up the chase, explaining that it occurred to him at that time that there was no one behind to care for the store. He informed Frank Kelly, who drove by in an automobile, of the occurrence, and Kelly trailed the man. Francis Reagan, a sixteen-year-old boy, and another youth, the son of Jeremiah Kelly, was told by Kelly of the occurrence, as were Officer O'Connor, and other officers in the section. Reagan, however, was the first to pick up the scent, and was following Meadows down Worthen street when Officer Spillane observed him.

The boy came over to the officer, who was standing at the corner of Worthen and Merrimack streets, and narrated the circumstances, whereupon both began to walk after Meadows. The latter turned, and seeing them, broke into a run, while they gave chase. The pursuit led through the Corporation section, where for a time they lost track of their prey. Officer Spillane was in plain clothes, as he was waiting to go on the late shift at midnight. He had no weapon on his person at the time.

As the search was continued, a woman put her head from a window in a tenement block on Tilden street, and called that there was a man in the entry. While young Reagan guarded one door, Officer Spillane entered the other and began to look through the hall. Reaching the third landing, he threw open a door. Just as he did so, he heard a slight noise behind him on the stair leading from the second to the third story. He turned back, and in the darkness could just make out the figure of a man crouching against the banister with his hat and coat held in his arms. As the officer had been warned that the fugitive was armed, he did not hesitate to act, but took a flying leap, and sprang upon the figure, which was tumbled by the force of the impact.

Meadows had a small rock in his hand, says the officer, but instead of striking out with it, hit himself on the side of the head, shouting "Let me kill myself!" The officer finally subdued his captive, who was suffering from a wound where he had struck himself with the rock. At police headquarters, it is stated that Meadows besought the officers to give him a revolver. "I have nothing to live for," he cried. An identification disk was found on his person, bearing the inscription of his name and the "K" Co. 15th Cavalry. He had previously begged Officer Spillane to let him go on the grounds that they were both army veterans. The sum of $202 was also found on him. In the room at the Middlesex lodging house where he had been staying for the past two weeks, a white crayon, two green crayons and a lead pencil were found by the police. It is believed that with these the crude work of raising bills was done, by adding a white crayon zero after the "1" on one dollar bills, and the "2" on twentys, and then smoothing the edges with green crayon on one side and with lead pencil on the other. When booked at headquarters last night, Meadows gave his address as Boston. It is stated that the description of the man who passed a bogus twenty dollar bill at a carnival show on the South common corresponds with that of Meadows.

A. N. Chretien and Allan Gould; The tug-of-war contest was won by a team composed of the following: Joseph Lebrun, John Mara, J. Finnerty, Peter Lebrun, Joseph Allard and J. Gaudette.

WORLD'S FATTEST MAN IS DEAD

BOSTON, July 8.—Charles H. Jackson, said at one time to be the world's fattest man, and who for many years traveled with circuses, though his home was in Brockton, died on Wednesday at the Holy Ghost hospital, Cambridge, at the age of 61. Mr. Jackson had been in declining health for about five years, and last March he was obliged to go to the hospital. His maximum weight was 618 pounds, but since his illness he had fallen until he weighed less than 200 when he died. Though he made his home at 53 Crescent street, Brockton, he was well known in Boston, and was frequently the guest of honor at banquets of the Fat Men's club. For some time scientists tried to find what made him so fat. He weighed only 175 pounds when he was married, at the age of 21.

He was past noble grand of Dunster lodge, I.O.O.F., of Cambridge, past chief patriarch of Charles River encampment, Patriarchs Militant of Somerville, and belonged to the Somerville Lodge of Masons. He was vice president of the New England Fat Men's club and a member of the Fat Men's club of the United States.

Besides his wife, he leaves a son, Ralph H. Jackson of Brockton, with whom he made his home, and three daughters. Mrs. Pierre Herbert of Brockton, Mrs. Arthur Wood of Everett and Mrs. Lillian Bacon of Medford. The son is a man of ordinary weight, about 160 pounds, but the daughters weigh about 300 pounds each. The funeral will probably be held in Brockton today.

THEDA BARA WEDS DIRECTOR

NEW YORK, July 8.—Theda Bara, siren of the films, is a bride. Her friends here learned today that she had been secretly married last Saturday at Greenwich, Conn., to C. J. Brabin, director of her pictures.

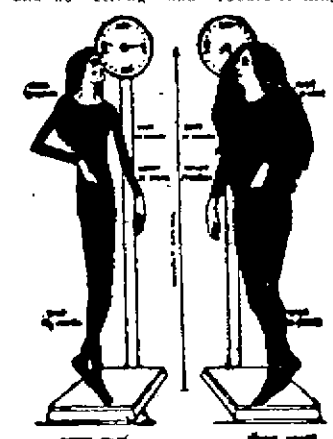

Several weeks ago when she returned from Europe affectionate greetings at the pier aroused curiosity, but she and Mr. Brabin denied then that they intended to marry.

The heaviest bridge in the world is said to be that crossing the East river, N. Y., at Hell Gate.

CONVICTED OF MURDER IN ELEVEN MINUTES

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 8.—After 11 minutes' deliberation a jury before Justice Cronsey in the supreme court last night found Lawrence Kubal guilty of murder in the first degree for the slaying of Mrs. Minnie Bartlett, wealthy widow, in her West Hempstead home on June 22. Kubal, whose admission of the crime to his wife led to his arrest, offered no defense.

Mrs. Bartlett was beaten to death with a chair after Kubal, according to his confession, had obtained entrance to her home under pretense of wanting to purchase the property. Stolen jewelry of small value was recovered from merchants to whom he had sold it.

WHISKEY SOLD IN SHOE REPAIR SHOP

BOSTON, July 8.—How a well kept shoe parlor containing regular boot-blacks and cobblers acted as a camouflage for a busy whiskey establishment was revealed yesterday when Louigi Stellato of Hampden street, Roxbury, was arraigned in the Roxbury district court before Judge Hayden, charged on three counts with violation of the liquor laws.

Stellato was arrested by the police of the Dudley street station in a raid conducted on the premises at 125 Hampden street, Roxbury, where, according to the police, considerable whiskey was sold. In court yesterday, he testified that the store raided was his shoe establishment and repair shop and pleaded not guilty to the charges.

The police allege, instead of Stellato conducting a legitimate shoe store and repair shop, that the store on Hampden street was in reality the factory for home made whiskey. They further alleged that shoes, cobblers and boot blacks were merely hired and kept there to offset any suspicion on the part of the police.

Several barrels of liquor alleged to have been seized by the police in the raid conducted on the store on Hampden street were introduced as evidence in court. A quantity of whiskey alleged to have been made on the premises was also introduced as evidence.

Judge Hayden found the defendant guilty on the three charges preferred by the police and sentenced him to eight months in the House of Correction. He appealed and was held in $2400.

BIG NAVAL BLIMP BLOWS UP IN AIR

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The naval blimp C-3 exploded at the naval air station at Hampton Roads, Virginia, today, burning and injuring the four persons who were aboard, according to reports to the navy department.

None of the persons aboard the C-3 were seriously injured, according to the reports of the department, but two were painfully burned.

The big gas bag had just been released for a photographic flight and was rising slowly when the explosion occurred. Those aboard jumped with parachutes, according to the reports. The blimp was destroyed.

The explosion occurred when the craft was about 75 feet in the air.

SPEAKS WELL OF THE JAP

California Woman Says the Japanese Are An Honest, Law-Abiding People

"I can't conceive why infamous lies are being circulated throughout eastern states against the Japanese who are living in California," declared Mrs. Bertha Leard, a former resident of Worcester, who is now making her home in Oakland, Cal., while speaking at a meeting of Roosevelt council, 45, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, in Highland hall in Branch street last evening. Mrs. Leard is not touring the country in behalf of the Japanese cause, but she came here at the invitation of the officers of the council, being at present the guest of Mrs. Ida Wiley of Worcester, state councillor, but she informed her listeners that nothing pleases her more than to tell what she knows about the Japanese race.

At the beginning of her lecture Mrs. Leard said she has been residing in Oakland for the past six years. She is conducting a large apartment house there and has had occasion to study the manners and customs of the Japanese for she has a number of them in her employ. "There are no more Japanese in Oakland than other nationalities," she said, "but those who are living there are law-abiding, trustworthy, and they attend to their own business. A great many of them are in business, some operating laundries and others maintaining fruit and variety stores. They have an employment agency of their own, where Japanese help can be secured at no cost to the employer or employer. They are a very well-behaved class of people and very seldom cause any disturbance, and much to their credit I will say that they do not make or drink 'booch'."

"In my opinion the Japs are a far less objectionable class of people than some of the people you have here in the east. I have had several of them in my employ during the past six years and those who have worked for me I have found to be exceptionally honest. They can be trusted, and so much so that I would not hesitate in giving them the preference as far as employment is concerned. They are very quick in learning the English language and in getting accustomed to American manners."

"You will never be short-changed if you deal with a Jap, and you are sure to get your money's worth, for they are on the level in all their dealings. Most of the Japs are of the Mohammedan creed, while a few of them are Christians. They have no inclination to marry people of other nationalities, for the men make ideal husbands and the women wonderful wives. They are not inclined to discuss the Japanese situation, which exists in this country. I feel it my duty to speak of the Japanese as I find them and to let the people I come in contact with know the excellent qualities that go to make the Jap an honest, efficient and law-abiding resident of this country."

Mayer Perry D. Thompson also spoke briefly, complimenting the members of the council for the recent success achieved in their recruiting drive, as the council was awarded the prize of $50 offered by the national council to the council that would take in at least 50 new members. The remainder of the program consisted of a telephone solos by Romeo Couture, address by State Councillor Ida Riley, of Worcester; vocal selections by Chester H. Barker, violin selections by Winifred Guild, piano duet by David and Ernest Latham, and an address by National Outside Guard Alice B. Cornhill.

707 SUICIDES IN NEW YORK DURING YEAR

NEW YORK, July 8.—Suicides in New York were more prevalent among married persons than single ones in 1920, it was shown in the report of Chief Medical Examiner Morris, made public today. The total number of suicides for the year was placed at 767, of the victims 352 were married, 185 single, 104 widows; two divorced and 87 whose social status was unknown. Figures for the first six months of this year show that 30 more persons killed themselves than during the corresponding period in 1920.

HARDING NAMES TEMPERANCE ENVOY

NEW YORK, July 8.—President Harding has appointed Rev. Charles Scanlon one of the 10 delegates to represent this country at the 10th annual convention of the International Congress Against Alcoholism, which meets in Lausanne, Switzerland, Aug. 22 to 27. It was announced here last night. Dr. Scanlon, who is secretary of the board of temperance of the Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, has attended four previous sessions of the congress.

WAS MIKADO'S PRISONER

Lived With 8 Men In 10 Foot Room 5 Years—Eighteen Suicides

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Henry Von Riedelstein, who tells the following vivid personal story of experiences which befell the "first white soldiers ever held captive by the brown," is a distinguished Hungarian artist and was lieutenant of the German forces at Tsingtau, China, when captured during the Japanese occupation in the world war. Together with 5000 fellow captives, he was held five years in Japanese military prison camps.

BY HENRY VON RIEDELSTEIN
I cannot but suggest rather than reveal the whole story of my imprisonment in a Japanese war camp, in these brief sentences.

There was some sickness, much drinking in the camp, and eighteen suicides among the 1000 men crowded together, with an exercise ground no

larger than four tennis courts. For five years we stayed there, not permitted to leave the camp, surrounded by poor sanitation and lacking both employment for hand and mind and exercise for our bodies.

Hated Each Other

For five years I slept and ate in a room ten feet square with eight others. We were happy at first in the expectation of a German triumph!

But the months grew, and how we hated each other! Indifference, then despair, then hatred. The only relief came when death took three of the men in our room and we had new persons to get acquainted with, then quarrel with, and to hate bitterly. Knowing no Japanese, we could not even talk with those on the outside.

I must say in behalf of the natives on the prison island that they were kindly, and many offered to become bondsmen for release of captives from close confinement, but everywhere Japan's stern military rule resisted amelioration.

We appealed for labor and pleasant tasks. They were refused. We asked to be allowed to leave the camp for walks in the fields. We were told that the natives objected to our treading their rice fields. Our money, what little we had, was taken from us when liquor was served to the men, scores of whom, with nothing to do, spent their all for alcohol and forgetfulness, only to pay a greater price in sickness and death.

The Japanese guards told us that this was the first time Japanese ever had white men for prisoners, and they had instructions to allow us no liberties.

The natives organized excursions to come out and look at us—the Mikado's prisoners.

Mean, Petty Tricks

The militarism of the army was reflected not in great ways but in mean, petty tricks that annoyed and made the men desperate. Little plants and vines we had planted were torn up; little drawings and toys destroyed with implacable calmness.

For a year I have been slowly regaining my strength in Japan, where, after my release, the Japanese people were very kind. I cannot blame the people.

The first jury trial ever held in the Mackenzie territory will be conducted at Port Providence upon the arrival of the judge and the legal party who recently left Edmonton for the north. It will be the trial of a man for the murder of his wife and infant child.

FOR USE AS PARSONAGE

Residence of Late Deacon Carter Presented As Memorial to First Church

The residence of the late Deacon Albert D. Carter, located at 181 Pawtucket street, has been presented as a memorial to the First Congregational church, for use as a parsonage, by the daughters of the deacon, Mrs. Lillian C. Blanchard, wife of (Hiram R. Blanchard of Tilton, N. H., and Mrs. Bertha C. Hoyt, wife of Walter H. Hoyt, of this city. The late Deacon Carter was all his life an active supporter of the church, and as he was endeavoring to secure a parsonage just prior to his death it was felt that the gift would be most appropriate. At a meeting of the church trustees, announcement of the gift was made, and the appreciation of the congregation expressed.

Rev. Percy Thomas, who recently accepted a call to the pulpit of the First Congregational church, will occupy the house, which since 1905 has been the home of the Carter family. In 1842 it was erected by J. G. Carney, whose daughter, Mrs. Jacob Rogers, was married there. Congressman John Jacob Rogers, together with Mrs. F. A. Flather, and Mrs. F. E. Dunbar were born there.

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE BLEACHES FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents. Shake well and you have a quart of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion whitener.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes bleach out and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes.—Adv.

SCIENCE SERVICE

Calling Attention to the Danger in Potatoes

By WOODS HUTCHINSON, A. M., M.D.

What could be imagined blander and more innocent to both eye and palate than the snowy whiteness of a boiled or mashed potato? Yet danger may lurk in its creamy softness and toothsome texture.

Attention has again been called by food experts in the last few weeks to the fact that the gentle potato domesticated and harmless as it has been for centuries, will occasionally throw back to its wild ancestors and become poisonous enough to be distinctly unwholesome.

Fortunately we know the nature and the name of the poison, solanine, the circumstances under which it appears and the signs of its presence so that we can, in large measure, guard against it.

Where Trouble Starts

The whole trouble rises out of the biologic fact that this solanine is always normally present in the tops, or stalks and leaves of the potato, and may in some circumstances get carried down into the potato itself, which is not a true root but only a modified underground stalk.

The circumstance which chiefly causes this unwholesome change is the turning of the root into a stalk again by bringing it up too near the surface where the light can get at it.

Its warning signal is the well known greening of potatoes which have not been properly hilled up and thus left partly exposed to the light, or which have been dug before they were quite ripe.

Therefore it is well to be sharply on guard when purchasing potatoes, or peeling them for the table, against all that show any greenness of the skin, either cutting away freely down to the white beneath. If the greenness is slight, or rejecting altogether if it covers more than a fourth of the potato.

The sprouts of potatoes which have sprouted in the bins should also be very carefully kept out of the cooking pots as they, being budding stalks, contain solanine.

The difference between the highest and lowest points in the United States is 14,712 feet.

TEWKSBURY NEWS

Street Lighting System Installed—Personal Mention

Several months ago the town voted to expend approximately $21,000 to have the electric wires extended to the town. The job is now complete and the new street lights are functioning, but many are the gloomy predictions as to the burden that the taxpayers will have to bear in order to pay for the lighting service. The people of the village, however, are hastening to take advantage of the electric service. Many of them have had their houses wired and many others are contemplating doing so.

Miss Lillian Miller is spending her vacation at Hampton beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Alpha Norris are spending the summer in Maine. Miss Hannah Chandler is spending a few weeks with them.

Mr. P. W. Cameron, agent of the Tewksbury Centre railroad station, is on a leave of absence for the summer. Mr. Welch will act as agent during Mr. Cameron's absence.

Townpeople are expressing their earnest appreciation of the last band concert which was held recently on the common. The concert was paid for by popular subscription and it is hoped that another will be given in the near future.

Miss Madeline McHugh of James street has accepted a position at the Massachusetts state infirmary.

Mr. Harold J. Patten of North street

is driving a new super six coupe about town.

Mr. Harry L. Mann of North street entertained a company of Springfield friends at his home over the Fourth.

Mr. Alden Haines and his daughter, Miss Gladys Haines, are planning a trip to Franconia, N. H., in the near future.

Mr. William Alexander is raising the grade of the entrance to his home on Pleasant street.

Mrs. Dean Davis of Main street is visiting with her mother in Maine. Miss Mary Billings is visiting at the home of her brother in the Centre village.

A number of young men from the village went on a fishing trip off Plum Island recently and report very good success. Starting from Ipswich, the party spent an entire day on the water and when they returned they carried with them over two barrels of pollock and cod.

Workmen are repairing the roof of the Foster school. Residents of the town do not envy the men as they toil under the broiling sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Gay of North street are rejoicing over the birth of a son.

Tewksbury farmers, noted for their production of fine strawberries, report that the crop this year is unusually light owing to the long delayed rainfall.

SHORT SKETCHES OF CITY HALL DWELLERS

When you want to know anything go to the city clerk's office. That seems to be the slogan of hundreds of people who visit city hall on the hunt for information but have no very definite or distinct idea where they are to find it. That is why the designers of the municipal building put the city clerk's office so near the entrance to the building. It is but a few yards to the right of the big wide doors which give one admittance to city hall. Over it presides one of the wisest officials of the municipal building, City Clerk Stephen Flynn, the subject of the third of The Sun's series of sketches of city hall dwellers.

Municipal procedure is an open book to the energetic city clerk. He is familiar with every section of the city charter but his familiarity with this important document has never allowed him to become careless in applying its sections to actual conditions. Certain though he may be of the correct procedure under specified conditions, nevertheless he never fails to verify his stand in the matter by diligently and carefully reading the sections or sections of the charter which apply to the case. As a consequence, mistakes in the city clerk's office are few and far between because Mr. Flynn has instilled the same desire for accuracy in his assistants.

It is Mr. Flynn who guides members of the city council through the intricacies and technicalities of council meetings during the first few months of their careers at city hall. Every commissioner or mayor who has served under the new charter owes a debt of gratitude to the city clerk for the accurate and never failing guiding hand which has directed him in his work.

Personally, Mr. Flynn is most courteous and obliging. No matter how pressing the duties of the moment may be he has always time to give attention to the most minor request. He is married and lives at 145 Moore street. He is an ardent worker for the Irish cause and during the recent relief campaign here he acted as treasurer for the committee in charge. His greatest hobbies are his family and his work.

CHORAL SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL OUTING

The annual outing of the Lowell Choral society was held yesterday afternoon at the camps of Mrs. Charles S. Scribner and Mrs. Frank Osburn, on the shores of Nahannet pond in West Chelmsford and the affair was very enjoyable. The trip to the resort was made in a special electric car. Upon reaching the grounds a baseball game was played between the contraltos and tenors and sopranos and basses and it is said that a feature of the game was the skill shown by the members of the fair sex. Then there was an egg race, which was won by Miss Phil. Miss Corbin won the palm in the baseball throwing contest. A varied list of other sports was carried out and a basket luncheon was served. In the latter part of the afternoon a brief business session was held during which E. G. Hood of Nashua was re-elected conductor and Wilfrid Kershaw of this city, accompanist. The officers chosen for the ensuing year were as follows: George S. Drew, president; David Bird, vice president; Samuel Kershaw, treasurer; Mark A. Adams, secretary; Noble Charlton, Marion Connors, Arthur Galley, Winifred Haggerty, Mrs. L. J. Hanson, Frank Harrington, George Maguire, Mrs. C. M. McElfira, Marion McKnight, Mary E. Reilly, Annie Russell, Mrs. C. F. Scribner and Etta Thompson, executive committee.

LLOYD GEORGE

At many points in his career Premier Lloyd George surrendered his most strongly held principles, allowed his flag to be taken down from the topmast and one of an opposite type nailed there, whereupon he hailed the new emblem as his own.

It has been said that when he finds the opposition becoming too powerful, he surrenders like the melting of lead and promptly reverses his position. Not only this, but he takes pains to prove that nobody is so loyal to the new standard as he, himself. He is the greatest exponent of the game of political expediency that the world has known in many centuries.

If Machiavelli used base treachery, subtle cunning and unprincipled artifice to maintain his authority as a ruler, he has a worthy imitator in Lloyd George; and it is probable that Machiavelli would have failed utterly in many of the situations in which by artful intrigue, this designing Welshman has succeeded in smashing all political parties in England and from their fragments moulding a party to hold himself in office.

"The safety of the empire" is the slogan by which he holds the people in line and at the same time holds himself in power. Many of the political leaders of England know him thoroughly and dislike him most cordially; but they cannot dislodge him. Even the people acknowledge that while they disapprove of his course in many things, there is no other man on the political horizon who could acceptably fill his place at the present time.

The miners' strike almost proved his undoing and now let the Irish question should encompass his defeat, he is trying to settle that; but in all his political maneuvering, his main purpose is to promote the political power and prestige of Lloyd George. To that aim the people, the miners, the colonies, Ireland and even England, are of secondary importance in the estimation of the present premier.

During the negotiations on the peace treaty, he made a tool of President Wilson, and with his aid was able to dominate the action of the conference. He had Mr. Wilson say and do things that he wanted said and done, but which he himself could not or do without arousing opposition from the premier of the other nations. As a result England got the peace table and this, of course, is a factor in the premier's political power, as the masses admire him for his practical cleverness in winning so much for England. He has succeeded in holding office through one of the most stormy periods in the history of England and his ministry endures when that of the other premier of the allied nations have been retired. Yet Lloyd George is not the type of man who has usually been selected for premier of England. He is an opportunist who made way for himself by forcing others out, and he differs from most, if not all, of his predecessors in the fineness with which he convinces the people that he is striving to promote the glory of the empire, when he is playing the political game, first, last and all the time for the able, unscrupulous, tactful and ambidextrous politician, Lloyd George.

ADVANCE OF TELEGRAPHY

Let us consider the telegraph operator. It is not very long ago since the arrival of a telegram frightened the home-folks as they felt it brought news of the death of some friend. Now, however, telegrams are common. The messenger boys of the telegraph offices shoot about on bicycles delivering special dispatches on business and every phase of human affairs.

Every day in the columns of The Sun, the readers find a vast collection of despatches from all over the civilized world telling of the extraordinary happenings in every land. The telegraph operator must have the qualities of stability, reliability and perseverance. Few trades have produced more unique and useful characters.

Thomas Edison, the inventor, for years was a "knight of the key." So were Frank Munsey, William Gillette, George V. Hobart, and Andrew Carnegie.

A veteran operator was John M. Carnahan, who began handling a key in 1861. In 1876 he was operator at Bismarck, N. D., then the farthest-west wire station. Stopping for only brief intervals, Carnahan sat at his key for nearly 50 hours and "sent" the story of the Custer massacre, a time feat that, it is said, has never since been duplicated.

At the time of the great Galveston flood, wires were down and there was no way to get relief appeals to the outside world. Richard Spillane, a former telegraph operator, now a business writer, was managing editor of a Galveston newspaper. In an old steam launch, assisted by a cotton broker, Spillane defied the hurricane, crossed the bay and reaching land, tramped on through the night into Houston. There he got to a key and for hours wired appeals for help, followed by news stories. He had made the trip in carpet slippers. Their dye soaked out and he was covered with mud. It seems so swollen that when he finished telegraphing he had to be lifted out of his chair.

The details of Spillane's dash for help make the movies seem tame. But it's typical of the men who have given the world its telegraph news and personal wire messages since Samuel Morse invented the telegraph in 1837. Now we have in addition to the Morse telegraph, the wireless telegraph and telephone. The possibilities of this new form of transmitting intelligence are so vast that the imagination fails to comprehend them. It is the reason to believe that these marvelous discoveries will continue until even the wildest flights of imagination will have been surpassed. In this new field the knight of the key will become even a more important functionary and thus will the status of his position be relatively increased.

THE TARIFF CONFLICT

Governor Cox appeals to the congressmen of New England to protest against certain features of the tariff bill which, he says, are opposed to New England interests.

bill which, he says, are opposed to New England interests.

It is certainly a new spectacle to find the governor of Massachusetts appealing against a tariff measure submitted by a republican administration; but the tariff has passed beyond the status of a political issue. The tariff that favors the west may be injurious to the east and vice versa. It is, therefore, largely a local issue.

The governor objects particularly to the proposed tax of 35 cents a barrel on crude oil and 25 cents a barrel on fuel oil. This tax would doubtless increase the price of oil to Massachusetts industries and to that extent be detrimental. There are doubtless other features which will be found equally objectionable and which should be modified before the bill is passed.

The democrats of congress have issued a strong statement against the features of the measure calculated to give some interests a monopoly and to crush out others. It was this process that produced the trusts in the days of Mark Hanna.

The French government enters protest against a provision calling for an examination of the books of French exporters for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the exports for tariff purposes. This request seems very unreasonable and there is no probability that it will be insisted upon. The French tax collectors, it is alleged, cannot always force the exporters to submit their books. That feature for the United States would be non-enforceable.

WET DOWN CROWDED DISTRICTS

The hot weather is here and for the next two months the people who reside in the congested districts, especially the children, will suffer from the intense heat. Many of the poorer tenements are crowded and the walls and pavements get heated up during the day, the suffering of the children and even the adults is intense.

The little ones yearn for a breath of fresh, cool air for an opportunity to roam in a stream of water from the city hydrants. In other years, the fire department wet down many of the streets and houses in the congested districts to the great relief and delight of the people.

This year the tenements are more crowded than ever, and with the coming of the hot spell, it would be a most commendable thing if the fire department should wet down the tenements in the congested districts on warm evenings.

The fire department can readily tell where such relief is most needed, and direct the work accordingly. William street, Fayette, Davidson, Lakeview avenue, Little Canada, upper Market street and one or two others would be among the first to receive attention.

We have no doubt that Commissioner Salmon would readily consent to this method of relieving the suffering of the people in certain localities during the hot spell. Anybody who sees the joy of the children as they come out in bathing suits to romp in the water that floods the streets after a wetting down of the houses, will agree that in such a case the trifling cost should be so considered. That is why The Sun urges that the fire department be ordered to wet down the most congested districts of the city during the very hot weather more liberally than in the past.

TREATY WITH GERMANY

Congress having passed the peace resolution, there is now a state of technical peace with Germany. But technical peace and actual peace are two entirely different things. Next there must be a treaty with Germany, confirming the peace and giving in terms the basis of the future relationship between the two countries.

In the making of this treaty, congress has nothing whatever to do. It is particularly and exclusively President Harding's business, although before the treaty becomes operative it must be ratified by the senate.

There is a drive on to have the United States accept the Versailles treaty without the League of Nations feature; but any such proposition would arouse anew all the old fight over the covenant features which cannot be dissociated from the text. It is hinted that Secretary Hughes with the president and Mr. Hoover is trying to find a way of accepting the treaty in a modified form; but unless the treaty were made over again, which is impossible, it cannot be accepted by the United States.

It seems that a separate treaty with Germany in harmony with the Versailles instrument except on the covenant articles in the most direct solution of the difficulty.

On July 4, say the news despatches, two women fell into the Niagara river. One was fished out, but the other was borne down the stream and mirable dictu was nearing the falls when a man waded in and saved her. Yes, waded!

If Dawes wants the cost of enforcing prohibition cut down, and leaders in congress want beer, it seems that the chances of a more liberal interpretation of the Volstead act are growing.

We would suggest that Admiral Sims be required to make a careful study of the habits of this race, especially in reference to its reticence and its sagacity in opening its office only for a proper rap-rap.

While our representatives in congress wrangle over tariff schedules and other problems, Germany and England are taking over our foreign markets and are even underselling us in the domestic market.

It is time to stop the extravagant modes of living introduced by the war. The war is over and the people must adjust themselves to the new economic conditions.

Agent O'Hare of the health department is to be congratulated upon the drop in the local death rate. If the automobiles would stop killing people, the record would be still better.

Fortunately, Lowell is not numbered with the towns and cities that suffered fatalities from automobile or drowning accidents on the Fourth. Luck was with us for once.

Spilled the Bean

A Lowell man had been struggling with an India rubber stick in a dance restaurant. "Look here, waiter," he finally said. "You'll have to bring me something else. I can't tackle this." The waiter carefully examined the article, then he said firmly: "I can't take it back; you've bent it."

Loved Her Papat

A kindergarten asked of her pupils which they would like to sing of the national songs they had learned the day before. A little girl responded: "Let's sing the one about America where the fathers all took pills and died." The words of the song were: "Land where my fathers died; land of the Pilgrims' pride."

Text for Preacher

A railroad crossing watchman at West Chester, Pa., has worn two deep round holes in the brick pavement where he stands duty, by constant tapping with his heavy walking stick during four years. We think any preacher in Lowell could use this as a text for a sermon on "Habit" habits where the stick tapping the brick. They bore into your character and finally the little holes become great cavities into which you fall.

Just Natural Traits

Many a parent in Lowell has grieved at a seeming delinquency in the conduct of his or her child. These parents can get comfort from Dr. T. B. Birch, of Wittenberg college. He says stealing, and then lying about the theft, are natural traits in children. There is no inherent sense of right and wrong in a child's mind. Parents should bear this in mind and, following the suggestion of Dr. Birch, teach their children, not only that stealing and lying are wrong, but also that they can't "get away with it."

Bill Woods Tells This One

A stranger in a small American town which had gone dry wanted a drink and was told that he could get one from the local druggist. The druggist inquired what the matter was with him. "Was he ill?" "Yes," replied the man. "What is wrong with you?" asked the druggist. "Nothing particular. I am just ill," "Well," said the druggist, "I can't let you have a drink just because you are ill. You must have something specific the matter with you." "Well," replied the man, "You have been bitten by a snake, for example." "I have!" said the man, decidedly. "But that won't do," said the druggist. "You must really have been bitten by a snake. The cobler down the street has got a snake and he might lend him to you." The stranger called on the cobler, who admitted the possession of a snake, but said it was hooked up for three weeks, day and night.

HARDING URGES DELAY ON BONUS

President Breaks Precedent In Surprise Visit To the Capitol

Wants Tax and Tariff First—May Send Special Message

WASHINGTON, July 8.—President Harding paid an unexpected visit to the senate yesterday, and it is understood, interposed the weight of his personal influence to defer action on the soldier bonus bill until a clearer understanding of the government's financial outlook has been made possible by enactment of new tariff and tax laws.

In an hour's conference with senate leaders the president is understood to have laid out his view of Secretary Mellon that bonus legislation now might be a serious embarrassment to the treasury, and even to have suggested that all other legislative business be suspended to permit completion of the tariff and tax revisions as soon as possible.

By those who talked with him, he was quoted as favoring a recess of congress while the committees in charge are mastering perfection of the two measures on account of which the special session was called.

It was indicated that Mr. Harding's views would be set forth at greater length in a special message to congress which may be sent to the capitol today.

The document is expected to deal particularly with the bonus bill and to set forth that while the administration regards itself as committed to some legislation for relief of war veterans, it sees no reason for acting precipitately.

Has Lunch With Senators

It was the first time in recent years, at least, that a president has made such a visit to the capitol. Until the Wilson administration the chief executive remained away from the legislative end of the capitol except when he was called there by official business.

On arrival at the capitol, the president went directly to the senate dining room on the first floor, thus shattering precedent. He was accompanied by Secretary Christian and Senator Frelinghuysen, who had been in conference with him at the White House.

The president took a seat at the same table at which it was his custom to lunch while a member of the senate. It is located in a corner of the portico of the senate dining-room reserved for the use of senators and their guests. With him at the table, in addition to Senator Frelinghuysen, were Senators Lodge, Knox, Watson, Wadsworth, Kellogg, Hale, Moses, Spencer, McKinley, Harold and Brandegee.

Finishing luncheon shortly before 2 o'clock, the president, accompanied by Senator Lodge, went to his private room and sent for Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, in charge of the bonus bill, and Senator Underwood of Alabama, the democratic leader, who spoke at length yesterday in opposition to the measure.

Outlook Certain

While the president was giving his opinion to senator after senator in his room just off the senate chamber, the senate itself was debating the bonus bill, with sponsors for the measure confident of its passage. By an overwhelming vote the bill had been brought to the senate floor as a special order of business and the senators in charge were insisting on the urgency of the situation.

Last night the outlook generally was admitted to be more uncertain. Leaders had not yet made a canvass to ascertain just how much weight the visit of the president might have, and the disposition in most quarters was to await Mr. Harding's message before forcing a showdown.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR PEDESTRIANS

Several people narrowly escaped injury shortly before 8 o'clock last night when an Oakland touring car owned and operated by Arthur J. Mack of Tewksbury Centre ran upon the sidewalk in Bridge street just in front of Dow's drug store. Edward Ward, 24 Webber street, who was on the sidewalk at the time was struck a slight blow by the front part of the machine, but escaped with minor bruises about the knee.

The accident occurred when Mr. Mack attempted to make the turn from East Merrimack street into Bridge street. Witnesses say he seemed to lose control of his car and in order to avoid striking a number of people who were boarding an electric car in the square he guided the automobile to the sidewalk. Officer William Murphy requested Mr. Mack to report to the police station, but he was not detained there.

SAYS IT GAVE HIM NEW LEASE ON LIFE

Auburn Man Often Had to Fight For Breath—Health Restored

Harry E. Mitchell of Bryn Mawr, Pa., widely known as the "Poetry King," is an enthusiastic witness to the merits of Tanlac.

"I was in a pretty bad fix for some time," said Mr. Mitchell, "and at times I was going to faint, but Tanlac has built me up to where I believe I have a new lease on life."

Mr. Mitchell had nervous indigestion and general stomach complaints and just never did feel right. At times he would form and blot me up so that I felt like I was smothering. And there was such an awful pressure against my heart that it seemed sometimes like each beat would be the last and then again my mind would be in a terrible state of confusion. Often I simply had to fight for breath and all this had pulled me down until I was almost a nervous wreck.

"Well, Tanlac is the first real medicine I ever struck. I can say that for it. It didn't take long to get in its good work and today I feel like a new man. My appetite is the finest kind and as for stomach trouble, I can't tell I ever had it. Since my digestion is so good my heart action is strong and my breathing is free and easy. In fact, I'm in the very best of health and take pleasure in giving Tanlac my heartiest endorsement."

Mr. Mitchell is now in Lowell, where he is selling Tanlac by Green's drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, Mr. Wright, Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. H. Hall, Chatham, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggists in every town.—Adv.

EXPECTS RENTS WILL SOON COME DOWN

BOSTON, July 8.—Speculation in tenement house property is apparently over and a reduction in rentals should follow, according to Eugene C. Hultman, chairman of the commission on the necessities of life.

Mr. Hultman bases his belief that rents will drop on figures secured from the register of deeds in Suffolk, Norfolk, Essex and Middlesex counties, which show that during the months of March, April and May of last year there were 16,312 transfers of real estate, while during the corresponding months this year the number of transfers was 12,029, a reduction of 4292 or 26.3 per cent.

Last year complaints were received by the commission on the necessities of life of property being transferred seven times in six months, with an advance in rent after each transfer.

Commissioner Hultman says that the examination of the registries shows that a large number of this year's transfers were to persons who acquired the property for occupancy. Reports received by the commission from other cities in the country show that the rental charges have begun to drop already—the report showing reductions of 10 to 30 per cent.—and Chairman Hultman is confident there will be a like reduction in Massachusetts charges in the near future.

ICE CREAM IN GREAT DEMAND

Some idea of the amount of ice cream being consumed by the public at the present time is evidenced by the fact that it required 28 two-ton trucks, kept continuously busy, to distribute the amount of Jersey ice cream required by the wholesale trade over the Fourth.

Fifteen thousand gallons, or enough ice cream to serve 750,000 persons, were distributed to the 600 wholesale dealers of the Jersey Ice Cream Co. on Saturday, Sunday and Monday from the Lawrence and Lynn plants of this company.

It is evident that more and more people each year, both "kiddies" and grownups, are choosing this method of celebrating a "safe and sane" Fourth.

INVESTIGATING FIRE

The state police have been requested by Chief Barrett of the Billerica fire department to investigate the cause of the fire which occurred at the Y.M.C.A. camp on the banks of the Concord river last night. It is claimed that a few minutes before the blaze was discovered several young men were seen in the vicinity of the camp. The fire was put out, however, before any serious damage was caused.

A woodpecker recently held up an important Southern Pacific train near El Paso when it pecked away the lead wire to the track relay post near the signal. This threw a red "block" causing the engineer to stop the train to investigate.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Magic

Oh, never tell me that life is dull
When up in the arching sky,
Swifter than ever the hawk or Men mount to the clouds—and fly.

And who shall wait for a lost romance
When, high from its towers
lured,
A spark leaps over the blue expanse
And flashes o'er half a world?

Our voices travel on singing
wires,
With speech that is heard
afar;

And we skim the roadways on magic feet
As we drive in a wonder-car.
With the harness strength of a dream,
We turn the great wheels of
trade,
And what was only a dreamer's
dream
Is builded, and shaped and made!

Life's dull, you tell me? And yet you dwell
In a world of marvelous power
Where each moment brings you
a wizard's spell—
And a miracle every hour!

BON MARCHE OPENS*NEW DEPARTMENT

The Bon Marche store has opened a new department known as a "grocery." The enterprise will be able to sell foodstuffs at but little more than wholesale. It is stated, due to the fact that the system eliminates clerks and consequently has no salary list.

The plan of the grocery involves the placing upon shelves of the various articles for sale, with price labels attached. The customer, provided with a basket, selects the goods desired, which are afterwards wrapped and paid for on the spot. This "cash and carry" method, according to P. D. Kuhn, engaged as manager by the Bon Marche for the new department, makes it possible to slash prices greatly.

Located in the basement, the department can be reached from the Kirk street as well as the Merrimack street entrances. A window display demonstrating the method used is now being shown at the Bon Marche.

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, July 8.—No, Rolle, the lady in the straight-lined gown does not suffer.

Yes, son, those really are nail heads, but the dress is not nailed on the pretty lady. Oh, no, indeed!

See, the pretty lady is smiling? There is no nail attached to the nail heads.

She is happy because she has on a new dress with the most up-to-date trimming.

Why do pretty ladies like to wear nail heads on their clothes? Ask me something easy, son.

It's the fashion.

Would pretty ladies wear the dresses really nailed on if fashion said so?

Yes, dear, I think they would. But these nail heads don't hurt a bit.

Nail heads, by the way, are very much in evidence for the late summer, fall and coming winter styles. They are shown in glass, brass, gun metal, all the popular hardware tints.

The gown in the illustration is of white canton crepe with a tiny insert or panel back and front upon which are the two rows of nail heads. These loops have panels of ribbon loops. These loops also trim the sleeves. Its slim-trimmed.

JAMES B. CONNOLLY

Winner of the first Olympic championship of modern times, Athens, 1896; member of the 9th Mass. Inf., U. S. V., 1898, at the siege of Santiago; Progressive candidate for Congress, 1912; author of "Out of Gloucester," "The Crested Seas," "An Olympic Victor," "Head Winds," and other stories.

The distinguished author of "Out of Gloucester," "Open Water" and other popular stories returned to his home in Dorchester only a few days ago after several weeks in Ireland.

Connolly visited Dublin, Belfast and other centres, interviewed the high and the lowly, talked with all manner of Irishmen. He knows his subject, knows it at first hand, knows what you want to know.

These are important articles because they give us, for the first time, the views of a popular and respected AMERICAN on Irish conditions of the moment.

James B. Connolly is a man of courage. No man, no politician, in or out of office, can pull the wool over his eyes. Winner of an Olympic championship, veteran of the Spanish-American War, the popular author is exactly the man to tell other Americans the truth about Ireland; even if that means the truth about England, too.

STRAIGHT TIPS FOR BACHELOR GIRLS

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING

Bachelor girls who live in one room can give to that one room the touch of a real home at the cost of a little thought, a little effort and the expenditure of a small sum of money.

First in importance in making the place comfortable and attractive, is the elimination of all useless ornaments and personal possessions.

Where there is little drawer room, perhaps only a dressing table, substantial boxes of various sizes are a wise addition to the furnishing of the room. The house box may be large, roomy and covered with matting, so that it will serve the purpose of a seat when pushed against the foot of the bed or near the window.

Two more boxes are needed. They can be smaller, so they can be put on the shelves of the clothes closet. One of the boxes should have two compartments, one for shoe blacking materials and the other for things used in cleaning silver, ivory and dressing table appointments.

Cupboard

A wall cupboard in which to keep things for medicinal and toilet purposes—those which are not constantly in use—is a convenience. One shelf of the little cupboard might be reserved for dishes. For the girl who lives in one room will find a very limited supply of glasses, cups, saucers, plates a fine thing for that hour in the evening when Elsie or Edith drops in to gossip. But to keep such things from being exceedingly unsanitary, they should be kept entirely separate from any other of the appointments of the room and in a place of spicsterian neatness.

A "strong box," one of metal which locks securely, is valuable for the keeping of trinkets and documents. The habit of the bachelor girl of leaving her money and jewelry loose is a dangerous one.

Magazines and papers should not be allowed to accumulate. A certain place should be selected for those which are to be kept. A small, stiff brush, with a can of scouring powder are essentials. If wash bowl or bath tub are not an individual matter, a general use of the powder and brush before bath is advisable.

Then, don't forget the pretty touch for the ugly electric light—for the expenditure of not more than 25 cents an attractive crepe paper shade can be purchased. It softens the light and gives the place a more inviting air.

WARNS OF PIRATE SHIP OFF COAST

Ships to Watch Out For
"Low, Rakish Craft"

Callao, of Munson Line Believed to be Latest Victim—
Missing Since June 20.

Speedy Raider of Seas Sighted
By Steamer Now In Boston

BOSTON, July 6.—With her agents making frantic efforts to reach her by wireless and scores of ships endeavoring to get some trace of her, the Munson line steamer Callao, owned by the United States shipping board, which sailed from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, on June 20 for New York with 60 cabin passengers and a crew numbering 100, remains unheard from, although under normal conditions she would be within 500 miles of her destination and in easy reach of radio.

Fears were expressed in shipping circles last night that she had fallen prey to the mysterious ship supposed to be a soviet rover, the presence of which in American waters has long been suspected.

Sighted Strange Ship

The belief that she may have been a victim of the pirates, was strengthened by a report made by the officers of the steamer Munalbro, now in port here and, strangely enough, also owned by the Munson line, that on June 30 encountered a strange steamer 85 miles off Nantucket lightship which surveyed the freighter for a time and shot away into the darkness without revealing her identity after those on board had apparently satisfied themselves that the Munalbro was without cargo and therefore not worth molesting when worth-while prizes were to be had.

Officials of the line admitted yesterday that they had been trying unsuccessfully for two days to establish communication with the Callao. While they scouted the idea that failure to locate her might be attributed to operations of pirates off the coast, stating that atmospheric conditions may be responsible or that the steamer's apparatus may have become disabled, the underlying fear is that something has happened to the vessel. She should be due at New York Sunday and ordinarily would have reported her position and probable hour of arrival yesterday.

But the fact that she has not done so, nor answered the urgent messages directed to her in the past 48 hours, is causing the gravest concern. In fact no word has been received from her since June 20, the day she sailed. Her course is a much frequented one and a vessel could not long avoid being spoken to. With a fleet of vessels seeking the Callao and none able to locate her as yet, tremendous weight is given the belief that she has indeed met trouble, and that sinister deeds are happening that seem scarcely credible in this day.

Believe Pirates Roam Seas

The shipping world has been shocked into a realization that pirates again roam the seas, directing their depredations against peaceful merchant vessels. In the light of the Callao's apparent disappearance, the impression that the loss of the Boston-bound steamer Hewitt and other vessels, as well as the capture of the crew of the five-masted schooner Carroll A. Deering is due to the activities of this raider takes on renewed importance.

Broadcasted radiograms have been sent out, asking all ships for any information possible concerning the missing steamer, but up to a late hour last night no encouraging word had come in reply. The dread silence bodes ill for the Callao and her precious human freight.

If the Callao has actually been intercepted by the marauder, the theory is that she may have been forced to take a course for some remote island in the West Indies, a spot far out of the beaten track of shipping, and here her passengers made captives and herded with prisoners taken from the Deering and the other vessels which have vanished utterly from the ocean's surface during the past few months, in unexplained manner. The Callao would make a desirable prize, together with her valuable cargo. The daring captors would probably not hesitate to send her across the Atlantic to Russia, her identity masked and with a pirate chief in command.

The sailing of the Callao may have been intended as the trump card of the pirates, who are undoubtedly shrewd enough to figure that such a bold stroke must inevitably result in a reckoning with the United States navy.

2 WARNS PIRATES

Want Raider Hunted Down

Washington has been besieged with inquiries from anxious relatives and friends of the Callao's passengers and crew, while families of the men from the Hewitt, the Deering and other vessels, who have been mourned as dead, take renewed hope that their loved ones may yet live, but languish in some desolate spot in the Southern Atlantic, waiting and praying for rescue. They have added their appeals and begged that something be done quickly to hunt down the raider and discover. If possible, the rendezvous of missing men.

News of the Callao's apparent disappearance came soon after a report made here yesterday that Second Officer Elisha Diamond of the steamer Munalbro, also owned by the Munson line, had sighted a strange steamer at 2 o'clock in the morning of June 30, at a point 55 miles east-northeast of Nantucket South Shoal lightship, while on the way from Boston to Baltimore, without cargo. "If the Munalbro had been loaded with coal, we might not now be here to tell the story," said Mr. Diamond last night. "The unknown vessel, evidently a merchantman of 3000 or 4000 tons and scarcely visible in the darkness of early morning and foggy weather, approached us within half a mile and after sizing us up and discovering that we were running light, made off and was quickly swallowed up.

"I was on watch at the time," said Mr. Diamond in telling of the incident. "The weather had been foggy and was beginning to clear, when I heard a peculiar sounding whistle, deep throated and somewhat like the raucous tones of a foghorn. As the fog gradually cleared I could make the outlines of a steamer coming toward us from a southeasterly direction, heading northwest. The Munalbro had the right of way and I supposed the stranger would come around our stern and go by us. Had she done so, I should not have given her a second thought.

"Imagine our surprise, therefore, when she kept coming straight ahead as though intending to cross our bow. Not a light was visible, except the masthead and range lights, the hull being cloaked in darkness so that it was impossible to make much of her. When within half a mile, the phantom ship slowed down while from an inky blackness we were sized up. Then, her wheel put hard a-starboard, the craft swung in a circle on our port bow and travelling at high speed, disappeared in an easterly direction."

Captain Edwin J. Giles, the veteran master of the Munalbro was asleep at the time of the occurrence and when he came on duty, Mr. Diamond related the facts to him. He was so impressed that immediately upon arrival at Baltimore, last Saturday, he made a detailed report to his agents, who in turn relayed the information to Washington for what it was worth. That it made a serious impression on the capital is evident from the fact that warnings were sent to all vessels to be on the watch for the mysterious craft.

Mate Diamond said that the vessel might be a legitimate trader or navy boat, or might be just the opposite. He deemed it his duty to give warning in case that it might prove to be the dreaded raider.

From Washington came a report that T. T. Chamberlain, commissioner of navigation, regarded the Munalbro report as substantial evidence of the Age is no handicap on the stage. In that profession where youth and beauty are supposed to weigh so heavily for success there are probably more really successful elderly women than in most other professions.

Leading the list of women well past their youth, who still have important parts in important productions, is Mrs. Thomas Whiffen. Mrs. Whiffen is 72 years old and has been touring all season in "Just Suppose."

She has been playing "old woman" parts for the past 40 years.

Maud Granger, who last season played the part of the mother in the comedy, "The First Year," confesses being over 65 years old.

Minnie Palmer is over 60 years old, and during her engagement in "Light-in," which closed the season in New York, she played something over 1000 performances without missing any.

FREIGHT CAR RIDERS "PESTS" SAYS JUDGE

"This practice is getting to be a pest," declared Judge Enright in the police court this morning, referring to the prevalence of the habit of riding on freight cars of the Boston & Maine railroad here. Deputy Downey added that "they aren't satisfied with riding, but they do so much damage."

Donald J. Goffroy, charged with riding unlawfully, was then fined $10. Joseph Kiras, unable to speak the English language, and represented through an interpreter, paid a $5 fine on each of two counts, the first charging him with operating a motorcycle without a license, and the second with having no light on the rear of the sidecar attached to the vehicle. The second count marks the first prosecution locally of an offense

HOW I PUT ONE OVER ON MY WOMEN FRIENDS

They Said I Was Showing My Age, That I Dressed Too Young for My Face

They made unkindly remarks about my wrinkles and had complete to men folk. "Catty-like," you know. But one day what I call a real and true friend told me about Kijja, a remarkable beauty secret of old Egypt. That very night I got some and used it on my face, neck and arms, and I kept using it every night and morning for a week. Then I went to a Saturday night dance where most of my women friends go. Well, you should have seen them! First they pretended not to notice me, then when all the gentlemen asked me to dance, some women came around and said: "What have you been doing to yourself, Mary?" "Nothing," I replied, but felt heard them saying behind my back: "Oh, she's had wax injected under her skin, or had her face enameled or some facial operation performed." Just let them talk, because Kijja gives such a natural look and its use cannot be detected; besides it certainly made me look far younger and more beautiful than I ever thought it possible for anything to do. So I glared in the fact that at last I certainly had fooled them all. It did me good to put one over on some of the old dames and I write this hoping that some woman or woman who have suffered as I have on account of slurs about dressing too young for one's face may see it and feel some of the "old cats" as I did. By request the name of the writer of the above is withheld, but you can purchase a bottle of Kijja on an absolute guarantee that it will produce sufficiently successful results in your case in three days' time to prove to you that its continued use for a short time will marvellously enhance your beauty and make you look years younger, or the manufacturers will refund your money. Kijja will positively increase the beauty of any woman any age—girls or grandmothers. By special arrangements the dealers named below will give you with each bottle of Kijja an intensely interesting and extremely valuable booklet entitled "How to increase your beauty—Secrets and Arts of Fascination employed by Cleopatra. The greatest enchantress of all time." If you do not wish to purchase Kijja, a copy of the booklet will be given you with any way after using Kijja we shall be thankful if you will write what it does for you for publication—your name will not be used. Kijja (pronounced Ke-sha) is for sale in this city by all department stores and leading druggists.—Adv.

"DEAD" 45 MINUTES AND BACK TO TELL OF IT

(By Newspaper Enterprise)
EVANSTON, Ill., July 8.—After death what?
"Conscious existence in a state of indescribable bliss," is the way Roland E. Aby, 22-year-old Northwestern University student, described it, after being officially "dead" for 45 minutes.

He was in a canoe that capsized in Lake Michigan. Lifeguards recovered his body with grappling hooks. Resuscitation failed and physicians pronounced him dead.

Then a pulmotor was used and, after close to an hour, his heart started beating.

Then a pulmotor was used and after close to an hour, his heart started beating.

Now Aby says that dying was pleasant.

"After the water closed over my head for the fourth time, a great peace flooded my consciousness," he said.

ROLAND E. ABY

says. "Hunger and thirst vanished. I was in a world peopled with strange beings whose raiment was magnificent."

"Their bodies had most wonderful transparency, and the surroundings of the place—the place of boundless distance where never a sound was heard—seemed adorned in most gorgeous colors."

"It was a rhythmic world pulsating to a 1, 2, 3, 4 measure. If you can depict such a thing."

"The sensation was similar to that of being in a dentist's chair—taking gas."

"I felt myself moving. I could feel the surging of my physical body trying to repel the thing that was snatching myself from the huddled bulk which lay lifeless under the water."

"But the force was stronger, and I went. Then I seemed both noiseless and formless."

"Finally everything began to fade and I seemed to drop immeasurable distance. My spirit passed through something wet and cold. Then I felt the first pain. It was in my lungs."

"I awoke. I was on the beach and breathing."

PAGENTS AND PARADE

1500 Youngsters Take Part In Christian Endeavor Demonstration

NEW YORK, July 8.—Some 1500 youngsters, all under 12 years of age, held the attention of the 15,000 delegates to the sixth world's Christian Endeavor convention today. These youngsters, delegates from junior Christian Endeavor societies in New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, appeared in a pageant called: "The pageant of nations" and in another called "The missionary pageant."

Both these pageants were on the program in the 71st regiment armory, which is the main meeting place for the delegates. The junior delegation will also appear in the big parade up Fifth avenue tomorrow.

Plans for this parade were well under way today, and officials in charge predicted it would be one of the most impressive pageants of its kind ever seen in New York. Including the delegates from all parts of the country, their friends and members of the New York Endeavor societies, it was estimated that there would be 20,000 in the line of march. The Colorado delegation, will have the honor of being at the head of the line, as that state came nearest to filling its quota of delegates. Other state delegations will follow the parade which will be made up of floats representing scenes from Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress.

WANTED TO SELL AUTO FOR $35

A man who gave his name as William Brown of North street, Rochester, N. Y., was attempting yesterday to sell an Oakland car in the streets here for $35. It is stated at police headquarters. Officer Linnane took the name and address, together with the number of the car. Rochester has replied to a wire and states that no such person is recorded in that city. The registry number, however, belongs to a supposed Briggs car, which is the property of C. A. Nester of Albion, N. Y., according to the advice.

OVERTURES BY GREAT BRITAIN

Seeks Conference With U. S., Japan and China on Eastern Situation

Japan and China on Eastern Situation

May Explain Statement Made

In Commons on Anglo-Japanese Treaty

LONDON, July 8 (by the Associated Press).—Great Britain, it was stated here today in a quarter usually possessed of reliable information, is believed to have made overtures to the United States, Japan and China on the possibility of a conference to discuss the whole eastern situation.

If this is correct, it is pointed out, it might explain what Premier Lloyd George meant yesterday when he stated in the house of commons that he was awaiting replies from America and China before making a statement to the house concerning the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

Official circles declined to comment on the nature of any communications with the United States, China or Japan, but it was said in those circles it would be reasonable to assume that these countries would be fully sounded before Great Britain would show her hand.

Announcement of the British policy is expected to be forthcoming next Monday in the statement which Mr. Lloyd George said he was fairly hopeful of being in a position to make. This statement is said to be a "very comprehensive one."

Canada Made Proposal

LONDON, July 8.—(Canadian Press).—Premier Lloyd George's statement in the British house of commons concerning a proposed international conference regarding which replies from Japan and the United States were anxiously awaited confirms the announcement previously made in well informed quarters that such a conference would be held.

In view of the British prime minister's statement there can now be no harm in stating that the original proposal for such a conference came from the Canadian government early in February last. It was then suggested that the Dominion government through the department of external affairs, be empowered to consult with Washington—to sound it out, so to speak—on the possibility of a Pacific conference.

What the replies of Japan and the United States may be nobody here pretends to know. It is felt, however, that insofar as the United States is concerned, there would be a great chance of its response being more favorable to the Anglo-Japanese alliance had been denounced.

Should it be found that the continued existence of the alliance was standing in the way of a conference, then it is certain that some of the Dominion premiers will press for the necessary 12 months' notice of denunciation being given at once.

Meanwhile the British press makes no attempt to disguise the fact that it regards the situation as one of great importance involving as it does the future of armament and the peace of the world.

4 MEN KIDNAPPED BABY FATHER ACCUSED

NEW YORK, July 8.—A nursing baby, Margaret Eloyse Torrens, 9 months old, was snatched from her crib yesterday morning at the summer home of her grandfather, James Simpson, a Paterson silk manufacturer, in the Ramapo mountains, a mile from the town of Paterson, N. J. She was carried off by four men in an automobile.

The baby's mother, Mrs. Margaret Torrens, was knocked down by one of the invaders. With one hand at her throat, he held the other over her mouth to keep her still. She says that she unmistakably recognized the leader of the men as her husband, Alfred Torrens, whom she married two years ago against the will of her parents and whom she left in January last.

The automobile, after the seizure, sped along the Ramapo road in a direction which would take it either to Paterson or further up into the Ramapo range. The notice of all New Jersey cities and towns have descriptions of the men and have been asked to catch them.

The grandfather of the baby, Jas. Simpson, is head of the silk manufacturing firm of James Simpson & Co. and director of the City Trust company. He said last night that if money was demanded for the baby's return he would not pay one cent, but that he would if necessary spend his last cent to capture the kidnapers, whom he described as "murderous bandits."

AUTO STOLEN IN WEST VIRGINIA

Peter Mechakus, arrested here last night by Inspector John J. Walsh, on a felony warrant from West Virginia charging him with larceny of a Dodge automobile, was held for a hearing July 13 in the police court, this morning. Bonds were fixed at $1000. It is stated by Superintendent Raymond Walsh that the local department recently received a wire from the Freedland Schlosser detective agency of Morgantown, W. Va., asking that Mechakus be sought here, as he was wanted for taking an automobile there. The prisoner's parents are said to reside in Lowell. The authorities at Morgantown will be informed of the defendant's apprehension.

ALICE BRADY. HER LATEST PICTURE IS "LITTLE ITALY." IT TELLS OF HUSBAND AND WIFE REUNITED BY THE COMING OF A SON.

RUTH ROLAND. SHE'S QUEEN OF THE SERIALS. HER LAST TWO WERE "THE AVENGING ARROW" AND "WHITE EAGLE."

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, July 8.—A new bill-of-fare is now being furnished those who feast at the cinemas.
The world's largest theatre, the Capitol, is showing a program in which no picture is over three reels long.
The result has been so satisfactory that S. L. Rothafel, the director, will frequently arrange such programs. Exhibitors throughout the country are preparing to follow suit.
If this is done it means that the day of the padded feature film is past. Here is the Capitol program—news reel; "The Northern Trail," a two-reel drama; "Among Those Present," a three-reel comedy; a La Fontaine fable, two-reel animal picture; "Ghost of John Barleycorn," colored picture.
That program filled the 5500 seats of the theatre on the hottest night of the season.
Pathe and Educational, largest distributors of short features, report that the demand for short-length films is greater than at any time in the history of filmdom.
And the producers of big features are reducing production.
The movie stylists have decreed the end of the bustles, "raie" and pads in film creations. The public demand that.
Some Speed
Pathe News showed scenes at the Dempsey-Carpentier fight in 20 theatres in the metropolitan district of New York within six hours of the knockout. By means of airplane Pathe was able to show the pictures in Chicago at one o'clock the next day. These pictures were of scenes at the arena only as the interstate commerce law prohibits shipments of movies of the actual fight.
High-Brow Staff
Most reviews of movies are written by those with a hyper-critical viewpoint. No defect of direction, photography, titling or acting escapes the professional reviewer.
That is because he is looking at the film from an analytical angle, rather than with the view of being entertained.
As a consequence, his conception of what a film should be often appears to be "high-brow" to the casual attendant of the photoplay houses.
When this reviewer saw Alice Brady in "Little Italy" he was made extremely uncomfortable by the subtitles. They were all platitudes.
However, the picture is simple in theme. A woman vows to marry the first man she meets. This, to spite her father.
The man is a member of an Italian family hated by her and her father. She keeps her vow.
Her husband loves her. She hates him—a son is born. Then everything ends happily.
The acting by the leading players is not subtle, nor graphic. The picture needs many subtitles. They are simple, giving to the audience that part of the story which the actors are unable to give.
Thus a story is told, logically.
Reel Realities
Betty Ross Clark admits that she can't sing, doesn't like golf and that the only reason she is in movies is that she can earn more money than on the stage. George Washington had nothing on her.
"Queenie," Shirley Mason's next. Edna Daniels. Now making "The Speed Girl."
Wanda Hawley completes "Her Face Value."
Then why worry about commonplace subtitles?
Dustin Farnum starts work on "The Primal Law."
Rita Jolivet, who played the beggar's daughter in the picture version of "Kismet," has the title role in "Theodora," the Italian spectacle film to be shown in America.
Earle Williams wears his first beard for "Bring Him In."
Lillian Rich plays opposite Frank Mayo in "The Reverend Meddler."
"The Butterfly," Marie Prevost's first starring picture, is about completed.
"Why Girls Leave Home," starring

suspected operations of sea pirates off the coast.
Interest in the Hewitt, Carroll M. Deering and other ships which are believed to have encountered the raiders, is revived and at fever heat in the light of latest developments. The Hewitt sailed from Sabine, Texas, Jan. 20, for Boston, filled with sulphur, her crew of 40 men including many from greater Boston. As completely as it was swallowed up by the ocean, she vanished from a lane always crowded with ships and many theories were advanced as to her probable end. Weeks ago she was posted as missing, the official admission that she has been given up as lost.

Mystery in Deering Case
There was more mystery in the Deering disaster. One day last winter, under full sail and with not a living soul on board, the schooner sailed in toward Diamond Shoals, off North Carolina, and crashed ashore, to leave her bones in the sand. The ship's boat was gone, but if it had been battered to pieces when the crew sought to put off in it, the wreckage would have been found.

Not a stick of wreckage from it has ever been picked up. The only clue to the fate of Captain Willis B. Wormell of Portland and his crew of a dozen men was a scrawled note, picked up off Cape Hatteras some time later in a bottle and purporting to have been written by one of the sailors. The message was brief and evidently written in the stress of great excitement. It stated that the Deering had been captured by a strange craft, an oil burner which resembled a submarine chaser. Members of the crew were hiding, but had no chance of escape and were being rounded up, the note said. The writer evidently had no time to finish the narrative, adding only a request that the Deering's owners be notified. No name was signed, the sailor evidently falling into the pirates' clutches, with barely time to get the fateful message into the sea.

Government Warning
WASHINGTON, July 8.—Theories that practical marauders are at work in the traffic lanes off the Atlantic coast reached a new high level yesterday.
Government wireless stations are sending broadcast to vessels at sea a warning to be on the lookout for "a low, rakish, suspicious-looking craft," sighted by Capt. Giles of the Munson liner Munahiro Thursday.

Here's the new U. S. navy dirigible leaving her hangar at Bedford, England, for her maiden flight. It was held at night. The ZR-2, better known as the R-38, is the biggest airship ever built. U. S. Navy air-men will attempt to fly from England to Lakehurst, N. J., in it early in the fall.

Adventures of The Twins

THE NUISANCE FAIRIES

"SO THIS IS WHERE THEY CAME!" HE EXCLAIMED

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

As Nancy and Nick and Chick Chickaree (the red squirrel) were hiding behind the hazel bush watching Will Woodpecker sneak into Chick's house to eat up his maple sirup sap, there came such a flash and a crash that the whole three of them fell over backward.

At the same instant Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the weatherman, landed beside them with his magic umbrella upon which he had sailed down from the sky. As usual, he looked worried to death. Really, Mr. Sprinkle-Blow was the very worriedest person you ever knew about. If folks only knew the trouble he had with his Nuisance Fairies, and the time he had keeping things in order, I'm sure they never would think of blaming him the way they do for this and that and the other thing.

Well, just now he was looking more worried than ever, and when he saw everybody in a heap it didn't help any.

"So this is where they came!" he exclaimed. "This is the place these awful Nuisance Fairies landed! Now, what's to be done? If they go 'round knocking down my friends and helpers like this, they certainly ought to be punished."

Just then Nancy sat up and rubbed her eyes, then Nick, and last of all, Chick Chickaree. At the same instant something fell with a thump right on top of Mr. Sprinkle-Blow's umbrella, and then rolled off to the ground. It was Will Woodpecker, as limp as a dishrag.

"My goodness!" panted Will, opening one eye. "Just as I went to taste that maple sirup sap, it blew up and hit me. Chick Chickaree fooled me and put in gasoline instead."

"No," said Sprinkle-Blow. "It was Henry Thunder and Jumpy Lightning! They're loose again, jumping around among the clouds, and scaring folks plumb silly with their racket."

DRIVERS COMING

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Several premier French automobile racers and probably drivers representing Italy, Belgium, England and other foreign countries, will participate in the Thanksgiving day automobile races to be held here in November.

The international note was sounded in word received here recently from Barney Oldfield, American racer, who is now in the east. According to present plans, Oldfield will depart shortly for Europe to coach the American drivers entered in the French Grand Prix, and while there will sign up foreign pilots for their first invasion of a Tankra speedway other than that at Indianapolis.

KABER MURDER TRIAL

Witnesses Declare Kaber Accused Wife of Ordering Murder on Death Bed

CLEVELAND, July 5.—Testimony tending to show that Daniel F. Kaber, for whose murder his widow, Eva Catherine Kaber, is on trial for first degree murder, suspected her of having planned his assassination, was introduced yesterday by the state through two witnesses.

"My wife ordered this done," My God, my wife ordered this done," My God, my wife ordered this done,"

These exclamations were uttered by Mr. Kaber to Police Lieutenant D. B. Miller of Lakewood, upon the officer's arrival at the home soon after Mr. Kaber had been stabbed, according to Lieutenant Miller's testimony.

"My God, doctor, my wife must have done this," Dr. W. J. Quigley, who was called to attend the wounded man, said Mr. Kaber exclaimed to him.

Both Lieutenant Miller and Dr. Quigley declared that Mr. Kaber made these statements while yet conscious, and while he lay on the floor by the side of the bed in which he was attacked.

Told of Love For Other Men

This, together with assertions by two women witnesses that Mrs. Kaber had told them that she wanted her husband murdered, were the high points in the state's testimony yesterday.

Mrs. Mary J. Wade, an alleged medium, testified that Mrs. Kaber on the last several visits to her, said:

"I want you to try to get rid of Dan Kaber for me."

Asked by Mrs. Wade how she was to go about it, Mrs. Kaber was alleged to have replied:

"I want you to kill him—any way to get rid of him. The man I love has no money, only brains, and Mr. Kaber has $50,000 life insurance."

Mrs. Bertha Meithe, grandmother of the little Patricia, whom the Kabers had adopted, testified that Mrs. Kaber said to her:

"I hate Dan Kaber and am going to get rid of him within the next six months in some manner or other."

These statements were made to Mrs. Wade in April, 1919, and to Mrs. Meithe in January before the murder, they testified.

The state also, in an effort to substantiate its claim that Mrs. Kaber sought to poison her husband, introduced testimony of Dr. Quigley and Dr. Alfred Maschke along this line.

Both physicians said they had treated Mr. Kaber and made examinations of him during a period of several months before his death. They asserted that he was suffering from pericarditis and secondary anemia.

Enough to Kill Four

Based upon a hypothetical question asserting that an analysis of Mr. Kaber's internal organs after his death disclosed the presence of arsenic in quantity "sufficient to kill four men," both physicians said they would diagnose the cause of the anemia and neuritis as arsenical poisoning.

This hypothetical question was admitted by Judge Maurice Bernon only on the state's promise to show by later testimony that an analysis of Mr. Kaber's organs showed the presence of the poison in the quantity alleged.

Attorney William J. Corrigan, on cross-examination of the physician, sought to establish that the poison might have been absorbed from powders sprinkled over the organs by the undertaker who prepared the body for burial. He based a hypothetical question on this assumption, but Dr. Quigley maintained that the poison could not have been absorbed in this manner in such an amount as claimed by the state.

Attorney Francis W. Poulson, Mrs. Kaber's personal counsel, asserted last evening that the testimony of the undertaker will show that the powder sprinkled over Mr. Kaber's internal organs was arsenic, and according to Mr. Poulson, "enough to kill a whole regiment of men."

Declares Education Is Primarily a Means of Establishing Ideals

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—Science, commerce and social culture could not progress if our educational system dropped the classics of ancient civilization from its curriculum, Vice President Calvin Coolidge today told the American Classical League, in session at the University of Pennsylvania.

Education is primarily a means of establishing ideals, the vice president said, its first duty being the formation of character which is the result of heredity and training. It is the ancient classics, he declared, that inspire the ideals toward which all men and nations are striving today.

"The most pressing requirements of the present hour," the speaker asserted, "is not how we are to solve our economic problems, but: Where are we to find the sustaining influences for the realities of life? How are we to justify the existing form of government in our republic? On what can we rely for a continuation of that service of sacrifice which has made our civilization possible?"

"The progress of the present era gives no new answers to these problems. There are no examples of heroism which out-rival Leonidas at Thermopylae, or Horatius at the bridge. The literature of Greece and Rome is, from beginning to end, an inspiring plea for patriotism.

"The world has recently awakened to the values and the righteousness of democracy. This ideal is not new. It has been the vision which the people of many nations have followed through centuries. Because men knew that that ideal had been partially realized in Greece and Rome, they have had faith that it would be fully realized in Europe and America.

"It is impossible for society to break with its past. It is the product of all which has gone before. We

TO URGE PRESIDENTIAL PEACE RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Some of President Harding's advisers are expected to recommend that a peace proclamation be issued to supplement the congressional resolution ending the state of war with Germany and Austria.

These advisers are understood to hold that such a proclamation would tend to create a better feeling between the two countries and have a psychological effect, at least, upon the resumption of trade. They also are said to believe that the general importance of the action of the American government would be better emphasized by a proclamation.

The president is understood, however, to have reached no decision pending receipt of a legal opinion from Attorney General Daugherty.

PRES. HARDING

BREAKS PRECEDENT

WASHINGTON, July 7.—President Harding broke a 'presidential precedent today by motoring to the capitol and taking lunch with some of his old associates in the senate.

The president left the White House at 1 p. m., without announcing his destination and dropped in unexpectedly on the senators in the midst of their luncheon hour. To all appearances,

Mr. Harding's trip was purely social in character, although it was taken for granted that pressing questions of legislation undoubtedly would come up for discussion.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—President Harding was initiated today into the Improved Order of Red Men, national officers of the order administering all three degrees at a special ceremony in the president's office at the White House.

RUSH TROOPS TO TAMPICO

Mexican Government Acts to "Give Guarantees to Nationals and Foreigners"

Foreign Office Refuses to Comment on Dispatch of U. S. Warship to Scene

MEXICO CITY, July 8.—Additional federal troops have been despatched to the region of Tampico by the Mexican government for the announced purpose of "giving guarantees to nationals and foreigners." This action was taken although the forces regularly maintained around Tampico, where there is a serious situation arising because of unemployment, are deemed sufficient to deal with any emergency, said a statement issued last night by Fernando Torreblanca, private secretary to President Obregon.

Cesar Lopez de Lara, governor of the state of Tamaulipas, yesterday was en route to Mexico City, but it was officially reported he had conferred by telegraph with President Obregon, who ordered him immediately to return to Tampico to aid in the adjustment of the labor situation. So far as despatches received here last night from Tampico indicated, there have been no untoward incidents in the oil regions there. Senor Torreblanca's statement said nothing had been received in official circles to cause apprehension, inasmuch as "Mexican workmen who were thrown out of work were acting with prudence and decorum."

The foreign office declined to comment on any phase of the situation which has arisen through the arrival of United States warships at Tampico, and it was learned late last night that nothing in the way of communications has passed between Mexican officials and the American consular officials here relative to the presence of United States ships in Mexican waters. The action of the United States government in despatching the Sacramento and the Cleveland to Tampico has occasioned little excitement in Mexico City. The public apparently accepts the government's opinion that warships of a friendly nation are privileged to call at Mexican ports and to remain, so long as they do not transgress international law.

BOOTLEGGERS KILL SHERIFF

Officer Who Held Up Truck Met With Fusillade of Bullets at Utica

Gun Battle Follows—Bootleggers Wounded—Arrested and Taken to Hospital

UTICA, N. Y., July 8.—Deputy Sheriff Charles Kammerlohr was shot and instantly killed by two bootleggers here early today. The bootleggers were wounded before they killed the deputy. They were arrested and taken to a hospital.

Deputy Sheriff Kammerlohr and Ireland had been watching for bootleggers several nights. About 10 o'clock this morning they observed a suspicious looking truck and commanded the driver to stop. Kammerlohr stepped on the running board and was met by a fusillade of bullets. He replied with several shots before falling on the truck and wounded both bootleggers. Ireland dashed up just as Kammerlohr fell and in the face of his revolver the truck was stopped. Three other deputies in the vicinity were soon on the scene and the wounded bootleggers were taken to the hospital. They said their names were Isidore Comisky and Nathan Denmark.

Comisky had four wounds, one near the heart, two in the stomach and one in the hip. Denmark had a wound in the arm, one in the thigh and two on the lower part of the leg.

500 FOREST AND PRAIRIE FIRES RAGING

THREE RIVERS, Que., July 8.—Five hundred small forest and prairie fires were raging today in the vicinity of Grand Marais. Considerable damage was done at Lake Le Peche. Some hydroplanes have on account of fire scouting service on coast of the times.

FREDERICKTON, N. B., July 8.—More than 2000 men were fighting 18 forest fires in various parts of New Brunswick today. Some fires blazed anew after they were supposed to be under control. Chief Forester G. H. Prince said practically all the fires were traceable to fishermen or careless smokers.

EXTENDED DEBATE ON BONUS BILL IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, July 8.—In expectation of a message soon from President Harding, temporary postponement of the bonus bill and greater speed with tariff and tax legislation, senate leaders today believed they already had mustered sufficient votes to lay aside the bonus measure.

No effort to recommit the bonus bill to the finance committee, as proposed by President Harding in his capitol conference yesterday, was planned until receipt of the expected message. In the meantime the bonus bill remained before the senate as its unfinished business with extended debate in prospect today prior to the usual week-end adjournment.

Miss Dagmar Perkins Starts Campaign To Rescue the English Language

MISS DAGMAR PERKINS

(By Newspaper Enterprise)
NEW YORK, July 8.—The English language of today is an American disease which plays no favorites and recognizes no class distinction.

That is the contention of Miss Dagmar Perkins, president of the National Association for the Improvement of American Speech. And it is why she has set about to right the defects of our language.

"New York would much rather say 'world' instead of 'world,'" says Miss Perkins, "and Kentucky prefers to be known as 'Kentucky' instead of 'Kaintucky'."

"Slovenly speech is as bad as slovenly dress. The person whose speech is slovenly, no matter how able or how well dressed he may be, does not demand the respect and attention given to a distinguished speaker."

"The street is not the only place where one hears 'wastchasties,' 'kimmies' and so on. The business man and the debutante, the woman who stands for culture and the college graduate use English which is quite as faulty and speak as incorrectly as folk who have had little or no education."

"In these days of toddle and twaddle it behooves the American public to develop seriously some art which is 100 per cent American and of which they need not be ashamed. Other arts may be imported but the art of American speech is entirely a home product.

"There is a real melody of speech which soothes tired nerves, kindles enthusiasm and wins friends," says Miss Perkins.

"The woman who whines through her nose and speaks as though she has not a friend in the world, probably hasn't, and the reason is obvious."

"The person who mumbles 'I'm glatio see yu' need not expect anyone to believe it."

For the teacher who realizes the value of concerning herself with the speech of her pupils the National Association for the Improvement of American Speech offers opportunity for getting practical information that will be of value to her in checking up her own enunciation and instituting methods of improving the enunciation of the students.

The headquarters of the organization are at 945 West End avenue, New York city. The council of the organization includes James M. Beck, Mrs. Paul Cravath, Mrs. Daniel Guggenheim, Mrs. Oliver Harriman, Otto L. Kahn, Mrs. Edward McKelcar, W. Forbes Morgan, Mrs. William B. Perkins and Mrs. William Belknap.

RENEWS PLEA FOR SEPARATE TRIAL

Jury Retires While Attorney McAnarney Argues the Motion

DEDHAM, July 8.—A motion for a separate trial for Bartholomew Vanzetti was renewed today at the conclusion of the testimony of Nicola Sacco, his codefendant on charges of a double murder for which they are on trial here. Sacco had been on the stand under direct and cross-examination since Wednesday, when he succeeded Vanzetti.

As Sacco stepped from the stand, J. J. McAnarney, counsel for Vanzetti, arose and asked that the jury be excused while he argued a motion, which he said was a renewal of one he had made at the opening of the trial. Judge Thayer instructed the jurors to retire.

Attorney McAnarney in opening said he felt it would be absolutely impossible to eliminate from the minds of jurors what had transpired at the present time and he felt that it was in the interests of his client that he ask for the severance of the cases. The court informed him at that time, he said, that if the trial developed a proper reason for the severance of the cases the motion might be renewed.

"Now," Mr. McAnarney said, "I think the time has come when in the interests of Vanzetti I should move again for a severance of his case from that of Sacco."

A conference of counsel with the court at the bench followed.

HIGH SCHOOL CROWDED

Biggest Enrollment In School's History—Will Use Portable School

So crowded will conditions at the Lowell high school be next September, when the school reopens, that a portable school will have to be brought into play and the hall of the present building will be utilized to take care of the overflow.

The largest enrollment in the history of the school has been registered for next year, according to Headmaster Henry H. Harris. At the present time 1950 young men and women are planning to enter or return to the school in September. At this time last year, there was a registration of 1525. Usually there is a decrease of 10 or 50 before the school year opens.

Industrial conditions may change sufficiently before next September to make a number of the young people who now plan to enter the high school change their minds and this will relieve the pressure somewhat.

So serious had the prospects of overcrowding become that Mr. Harris was forced to bring the matter to the attention of the school committee and a conference in city hall last evening at which the members of the committee, Supt. Molly, Mr. Harris and Business Agent Henry Williams were present, it was decided to ask the buildings department to transfer one of the portable schools now at the Moreau school to the high school yard next September. In addition, Mr. Harris says he feels that he will have to establish two additional classes in the school hall beside the two that were there last year.

The school committee also instructed Business Agent Williams to get in touch with the high school building commission and ask that it loan the high school building commission sufficient equipment to furnish the portable school and the hall classrooms. It is understood that the commission has bought considerable furniture for the new high school building, part of which could be used temporarily in the portable structure. Otherwise, the school department will have to expend several thousands of dollars, Chairman Thomas B. Delaney says.

In the fall of 1922 it is hoped to have the new high school building ready for occupancy and thus do away with worries about crowded conditions.

REPORT JAPAN TO FOREGO PACT AND CUT NAVY

TOKIO, July 5. (By the Associated Press.) According to information obtained here, the Japanese government is preparing for formal negotiations with the United States and Great Britain regarding naval limitation.

Indirect conversations, considered of the most important nature, are in progress, and recent special meetings of the elder statesmen in Tokyo have led to the impression that they were preparing in deliberation on naval questions and other matters having to do with the relations between Japan and the United States.

The Nichi Nichi Shimbun yesterday insists that negotiations are going on between Japan and Great Britain concerning the abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, and it expresses belief that the abrogation will be announced shortly.

The underlying reasons for this predicted action, says the newspaper, grow out of the likelihood of a naval arrangement with the United States, Great Britain and Japan as parties, and the undesirability of arousing the hostility of Americans by revising the alliance.

The foreign office declined yesterday to discuss the subject. Former Premier Kato, who is closely and officially connected with the history of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, is quoted by the newspapers today as saying that Japan need not continue the alliance if there is objection on the part of Great Britain, but that its renewal is desirable so long as there is no strong objection.

In Japan there are five Japanese for every acre cultivated.

In 1920 almost six million barrels of Chinese flour were shipped to Europe. New mills are to be built in the wheat-growing sections.

No Let Up In Heat Wave Here

the intense heat and the lack of clear air.

If the city had only the high temperature to contend with, conditions would be at least tolerable, but with a damp, soaking humidity sapping the energy and vitality of everybody, it was almost an impossibility to keep cool or even comfortable either today or last night.

At 10 o'clock this morning the thermometer in Merrimack Square had passed the 90 mark and was well on the way to 95. Shortly after noon it reached that figure and gave indications of soaring even higher.

The municipal bath house on Pawtucket boulevard was the haven of hundreds last evening and today and the staff of attendants there were kept busy every minute. No serious accidents have been reported although Life Guards Brennan and Liston had a little excitement yesterday afternoon when a little girl got beyond her depth. She was rescued, however, before her plight became serious.

The heat wave has brought with it, thick air that contains a lot of humidity. People who rarely perspire say that their bodies were soaked with perspiration yesterday and today.

Employees of the local mills and factories found their labors especially arduous today and many of them were forced to leave for their homes. In the stores and offices men worked in their shirt sleeves and women wore the lightest sort of dresses.

Those who were able to get away made a bee-line for the beaches and amusement parks and commons around the city.

Boards of health officials recently published in the local papers a set of rules for the care of babies in the warm weather and if these are followed out, they say, mothers will find little difficulty in keeping their little ones in good health during the warm spell.

The city's water supply is holding out well, but unless more rain is soon forthcoming it is feared that the Cook wells will have to be re-opened to meet the drain made on the supply during the heated spell.

On the Commons
Many people gathered on Lowell's commons this morning to get a breath of air and possibly a brief respite from the intense heat. All classes and degrees of people were represented on the benches which are placed in the shade of the big elms.

There was the tired insurance agent who stopped briefly on his rounds to rest and to mop his forehead with a big handkerchief. "Gosh," he wheezed, "this is the hottest day I've ever struck in all my long and checkered career." That is what a good many people say, but of course one must make allowance for the fact that each succeeding hot spell is claimed by many as "the hottest ever."

The psychological reason is that past discomforts are soon forgotten and those of the present loom large in the minds of the sufferers.

Fond parents brought their children down to the pond and placed them in the water, wishing all the while that they were children too and could disport in the water.

Many of the people gathered on the commons this morning were men who were out of work and as one walked by he almost invariably found that the "Help Wanted" pages of the newspapers were the ones that were being

WAS OVERCOME BY THE HEAT

Walter Farrell of Chelmsford street was overcome by the heat in Middle street near the Grand theatre shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon. The ambulance removed him to St. John's hospital, where it was stated later that his condition is not considered serious.

The patient had stopped breathing after a major operation and heart and pulse beats became weaker. Physicians and nurses had tried for an hour to revive respiration without success when the fire department was called upon to send a pulmonologist.

The patient was so weak that pure oxygen could not be pumped safely into the lungs at first and clear air was alternated with a dash of oxygen. After seven minutes' breathing was begun and in half an hour the patient's respiration was normal.

Dr. S. L. Strong, the physician in charge, said yesterday that the pulmonologist proved effective and he praised highly Captain William Swan and the fire department squad in charge of it.

FIREMEN SAVE GIRL ON OPERATING TABLE

BOSTON, July 8.—A case in which the fire department was called to save the life of a young woman who was on the operating table at a hospital and succeeded, became known yesterday.

The patient had stopped breathing after a major operation and heart and pulse beats became weaker. Physicians and nurses had tried for an hour to revive respiration without success when the fire department was called upon to send a pulmonologist.

The patient was so weak that pure oxygen could not be pumped safely into the lungs at first and clear air was alternated with a dash of oxygen. After seven minutes' breathing was begun and in half an hour the patient's respiration was normal.

Dr. S. L. Strong, the physician in charge, said yesterday that the pulmonologist proved effective and he praised highly Captain William Swan and the fire department squad in charge of it.

$4,593,933,248 TOTAL TAX IN YEAR

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Total tax receipts by the government for the fiscal year ended June 30, were $4,593,933,248, of this $3,212,713,493 was derived from income and profit taxes, the bureau of internal revenue announced yesterday. The statement was based on collectors' telegrams of June 30, it was said, and it was explained it might be necessary to make some slight changes.

The statement showed that of the total collected, New York with $1,124,351,705 paid about one-fourth and all other states. Of New York's total $804,253,604 came from income and profits tax. Pennsylvania came second with $487,711,269, of which $351,393,599 was from income and profits taxes. Illinois with a total of $357,763,982, of which $260,800,251 was collected from income and profits, ranked third in the list.

Other states in the order of which their payments ranked, with the total collected and the amount from income and profit taxes, were Ohio, $284,532,296 and $203,208,385; Michigan, $273,997,771 and $193,862,453; Massachusetts, $263,902,844 and $214,062,847; California, $181,313,732 and $127,429,323; New Jersey, $112,500,951 and $91,356,691; Missouri, $125,451,231 and $56,121,143; North Carolina, $124,510,451 and $33,869,057.

North Carolina, in addition to ranking tenth according to the amount collected, led all southern states.

HAD NOTHING TO LIVE FOR

Arraigned in Police Court This Morning and Held In $2500 For Hearing

The police believe that in Clyde Meadows, alias Nicholas Kistoff, captured by Officer Spillane after a thrilling midnight chase they have the man who has passed raised bills here with success. Meadows was held in bonds of $2500 this morning by Judge Enright, for a hearing July 26. In default of surety, he was taken to the house of correction. In the interim the federal authorities will be notified.

Mihras Barsarian, a storekeeper occupying premises on South street, identifies Meadows as the man who entered his establishment at about 10:40 o'clock last evening and inquired as to the prices of oranges. Barsarian told him that the price was 45 cents a dozen. The ostensible customer argued that this was excessive, and said that he wanted a half dozen for 20 cents. The storekeeper told him he could not oblige him, whereupon the man said he would buy at the regular purchase price. He pulled from his pocket a bill and passed it to Barsarian, saying "Ten." The latter, glancing at it perceived that it was a one dollar bill raised to a ten. However, he pretended that he had not noticed this.

FLANDERS POPPIES NOT WANTED HERE

BOSTON, July 8.—The bright red poppies which grew in Flanders field are not welcome in this state. Commissioner of Agriculture, Arthur W. Gilbert, in urging that no more seeds or plants be brought to Massachusetts for propagation purposes asserted today that the growing of the poppies here might result in tremendous loss in agricultural districts. The Flanders poppy spreads very rapidly, the seeds being carried considerable distances by the winds, and there would be great danger of damage to crops, according to the commissioner.

NO LET UP TO HEAT WAVE HERE

Hundreds Seek Relief In Parks and Commons—One Prostration Reported

With the thermometer hitting the 90 mark in Merrimack square early this afternoon and the humidity even more oppressive than yesterday, Lowell people were again in the throes of one of the most uncomfortable days of the season and were looking forward to relief promised for tomorrow by the weather man in the form of cooling showers.

Until then, however, it looks as though the city would have to remain in the same parched condition that made sleep almost out of the question last evening and caused more or less suffering in the congested districts.

The fire department will again wade down the thickly settled districts this evening as it did last night in an effort to bring some measure of relief from the heat. Such places as Fayette street, Aiken street and other thickly populated sections throughout the city were the scene of the firemen's work last evening, and their efforts were more than appreciated.

Police officers who have been on night duty for many years have stated that last night was one of the worst in their experience because of

Group of Happy Kiddos Snapped By The Sun Photographer at the Municipal Swimming Pool

The locker equipment at the municipal bathhouse proved to be woefully inadequate to cope with the crowds which flocked to the river to get relief from yesterday's insufferable humidity. After the authorities at the pool had crowded the lockers to overflowing, three or four persons being assigned to each, there was still a large number of people who clamored for admittance to the bathhouse but these had to be content with open racks in which to place their clothes or forego the pleasure of a swim.

At the present time there are 75 lockers on the men's side of the bathhouse. Each locker was originally intended to accommodate only a single bather but those in charge have been forced to place three and sometimes four men in the same locker. It is estimated that the number of lockers could be doubled and then there would scarcely be enough to get around. This could not be done, however, unless the building were enlarged for practically every available foot of space is taken up at the present time.

On the women's side of the bathhouse conditions are not so bad. The number of the fair sex who patronize the bathhouse is not nearly so large as the number of men and as a result the women's lockers were not crowded to overflowing.

Yesterday's attendance at the bathhouse was by far the greatest of this season. Large crowds of men, women, and children, especially the latter, went to the pool to get a brief respite from the heat. Even the bathers felt the heat, however, and it was noticed that most of them were constantly in the water instead of lying about the beach

as many do when the sun is not quite so hot.

Miss Mary E. Farrell, the new woman instructor at the bathhouse, was the center of attraction yesterday. Clad in a bright green bathing suit, she was easily discernible among the other bathers and she was right on the job when any one of the fair sex requested a pointer or two on the art of swimming. Miss Farrell will map out her schedule of swimming classes for women in the near future and it is expected that a large number of women will take advantage of her skill.

No delay was noticeable yesterday in the system of giving out bathing suits and locker keys as long as the latter lasted. There are plenty of suits and towels and the swimmers would have no complaints to make if there were more lockers.

"ALL MEN ARE CREATED EQUAL"

—but do you believe this well worn saying to be true? Certain it is that some have greater opportunities, responsibilities and temptations in life than others. If we have "started something" in your Thinkery, consider and answer this question:

What is the Secret of Man's or Woman's Success in Life? It has been said that three great fundamentals of success are ability to SAVE MONEY, loyalty to employment and willingness to assume responsibility. To the man who practices these cardinal virtues, Fate is kind, for it brings him sure promotion. But it is equally true some men meet only the agreeable attributes of Fate; others are crushed by it. Can you then truthfully say that all (every one) men are created equal?

BOSTON, July 8.—The fishing yawl Active, of Provincetown, was sunk today in a harbor collision with the Nantasket Line steamer Old Colony.

Captain John Silva and his crew of five men were picked up by the excursion steamer's crew. William Silva, a brother of the captain, sustained a fractured rib, but others were uninjured.

The accident which occurred on Nix's Mate, a sand spit, was due to a heavy fog pall. The Old Colony, bound from the city for shore beaches, was undamaged and continued on her run.

TURCOTTE WANTS LIQUOR BACK

Home in Fletcher Street Was Raided By Federal Officer O'Dea

Officer Had No Authority to Search Defendant's Home Without Warrant

Turcotte Will File Petition For Return of $13,000 Worth of Liquor

Henry L. Turcotte, a local business man, who was charged with illegal keeping of liquor as a result of a raid at his home in Fletcher street last January by Federal Officer O'Dea, was found not guilty and discharged by Commissioner Hayes at Boston Wednesday. Mr. Turcotte will now file a petition with the federal authorities for the return of the liquor taken at his home. The finding of Commissioner Hayes was given on the ground that the officer had no authority to enter the home as he did not have a search warrant.

It will be remembered that on the night of Jan. 11 last, Officer O'Dea seized 10 barrels of whiskey and several jugs of alcohol and a quantity of brandy, valued at $13,000, at the home of Henry L. Turcotte, 553 Fletcher street, and later issued a warrant for the arrest of the owner. The case was called in court at Boston and was continued, the defendant being held in the sum of $10,000. When the case went to trial last Wednesday, Mr. Turcotte entered a plea of not guilty and after hearing the evidence Commissioner Hayes ordered the defendant discharged.

CLARA SMITH'S PAST HAUNTS HER IN FILMS

By LINTON WELLS
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
LOS ANGELES, July 8.—I asked Clara Smith Hamon why she insisted upon revealing, through forthcoming motion pictures, all the sordid incidents of her tragic career.

Why she persisted in her determination to "show everything," despite protest and ostracism from the entire screen fraternity, following acquittal in the killing of Jake Hamon, oil king of Oklahoma?

"It is a terrible ordeal," she answered with a show of emotion, which, if assumed, would indicate the finished actress, and if genuine, reveals her haunted by her past.

Nearly Faints

"The man selected to play the part of Mr. Hamon so strikingly resembles him and is so realistic that I have many times been on the verge of fainting as the dreadful events were re-enacted."

"I am not a moralist. But I believe the effect of my picture will be far-reaching. I want to prove, to visualize for every girl, this: The price she must pay for temporary pleasure is not worth what she gets out of it."

In Seclusion

Aside from work on her picture, Clara Smith Hamon has been in seclusion here for months. She sees few people, avoids interviewers, and says with apparent sincerity that she wants to be forgotten.

"I have not attempted to conceal anything," she says. "Every event from the time I met Mr. Hamon—at the time I left high school—until Nov. 21, 1920, has been faithfully reproduced. The characters we have used have been absolutely true to type, as far as it has been possible to secure them."

"John Ince has taken the part of Mr. Hamon. He really is wonderful. In his acting of the part and in his resemblance to Mr. Hamon. At times he frightens me."

Wants Obscurity

"When this picture is finished, I want nothing more than to retire and live my life as I wish away from the public gaze. I want people to forget me. I don't care what they are saying about me."

"I never go out except for a ride in my car and to church on Sunday morning. The people at church have been lovely to me. I have been to but two movie shows since coming to Los Angeles."

"I would not even say to those who condemn me. Let him who is without sin cast the first stone."

"Thumbs Down"

W. E. Weathers, an Oklahoma millionaire, is financing the picture. The company is scheduled to go to Mexico to enact incidents that occurred there after Clara Hamon's flight from Oklahoma.

After movie powers had ordered "thumbs down" on the Hamon film, studios and laboratories closed their doors to Weathers and Clara Smith Hamon, so Weathers says; actors, directors, cameramen and "supers" were notified that their services would no longer be required if they took part in the picture. A studio was finally secured after many difficulties.

"Nothing shall discourage me," vows Clara Smith Hamon. "I have a message to give to women, and I will not be deterred."

ARTIFICIAL BLONDES AND BOBBED HEADS BARRED

HARTFORD, July 8.—Extemporaneous blondes and girls with bobbed hair have no place in American business life, F. K. Daniels, president of the Aetna Insurance company, employing 3000 women throughout the country, said today.

The company recently issued a mandate that no more artificial blondes or bobbed heads would be employed, and that employees already in either category would have to get back to normal as rapidly as possible.

"Artificial blonde hair is a sign of light-headedness," Daniels declared. "Blondism is a mark of lack of intelligence. If any more bobbed-haired girls or blondes get into our offices they will have to crawl through the keyhole."

"There are some in this office now, but we are going to get rid of them as soon as possible. Of course, we can't make any set rule, but we have advised these girls to drop all artificiality at once."

"Business researches have proved that 90 per cent. of blondes are useless. All women who bob their hair are useless. Some say they have cut their hair to avoid the heat, but I can tell you there is a hotter place waiting for them."

"My ideal of a business woman is one who has had two or three years of college work, does not powder her nose, does not watch the clock, does not rouge her cheeks, and does not smoke cigarettes."

"I can tolerate the woman who lays aside her corset. That is comfort. But it is carrying comfort too far to bare one's self in bobbed hair. I think the movies are responsible or girls doing this."

"I don't wish to give the impression that women should neglect their dress. I believe business girls should be attractively garbed in pure business style, the same as business men."

BLAZING CROW FALLS INTO HAY FIELD

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 8.—A crow alighted on a heavily charged electric wire of the Niagara River Co. near Spencerport today and fell, a blazing mass into a field of uncultivated hay. The fire was caused by the crow's feet touching the wire and the hay. The fire was caused before the arrival of fire-fighters. Nearby fields of wheat valued at thousands of dollars were threatened.

DIVER BRINGS UP BOTTLE OF COCKTAILS

BOSTON, July 8.—Charles Snow, a diver of Marblehead, undertook the job yesterday to go down and examine the floating chains that hold the landing float on the Marblehead side that serves the little steam ferryboat plying between the town and the Neck.

Snow emerged from the harbor after a short sojourn, and reported that the bottom hereabouts was pretty well covered with bottles. He did not ask anyone to take his unsupported word for it, but produced a bottle which he had fished up during his submarine prowling. The bottle was full and sealed. The cork was extracted and the contents subjected to critical examination. Experts declared that well established tests proved the bottle contained Martini cocktails of considerable age.

TUFTS READY TO GO TO HIGHER COURT

BOSTON, July 8.—Counsel for Dist. Atty. Nathan A. Tufts are prepared to take his case to the United States supreme court, should he be removed by the state supreme court after a ruling on the misconduct charges lodged by Atty. Gen. J. Weston Allen. Assurances of this intention were received yesterday from a source close to Tufts, after the attorney general had announced the taking of depositions of the New York film magazines said to be concerned in the alleged $100,000 "shakedown" in which Tufts and others have been charged with conspiracy.

It was further assured that Mr. Tufts himself will take the stand and account for the disposition of cases cited in the Allen complaint, with reservation of certain details which, he alleges, were received by him in his official capacity and should not be divulged before any tribunal.

Resting on this right to immunity and on the guarantees in the 14th amendment to the federal constitution, his counsel will be ready to appeal to the United States supreme court should the decree of the state body be adverse.

SEEKING NEWS OF MISSING STEAMER

NEW YORK, July 8.—Broadcast radio messages were sent out today by the navy station at Arlington, Va., seeking news of the passenger steamship Caliao, which is due here Sunday from Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro with 60 passengers.

Officials of the Munson line, her operating agents reiterated today they had no fears for her safety and suggested that lack of replies to inquiries might be due to a breakdown of her radio equipment.

The wireless apparatus of the Caliao has a transmitting range of 600 miles.

WOMAN PRESIDENT OF ASSYRIAN NATION

NEW YORK, July 8.—Lady Surma, the English-educated Mesopotamian, has been formally declared president of the Assyrian (distinguished from Syrian by geographical and racial lines) nation, one of the new group of self-governing countries come out of the war. The capital of the new nation is Mosul, near the walls of old Nineveh, named after the imperial husband of Semiramis. It is, of course, a British protectorate, and the new ruler will have competent guides to assist her in promoting the destinies of her ancient race.

Confirmation of the report of her appointment to the highest office was made today in a telegram from Gary, Ind., to Joe E. Werda, 38 Park place, publisher of an Assyrian newspaper, and one of the leaders of his countrymen in North America. The message follows:

"I am officially informed from Washington that Lady Surma has been appointed president of modern Assyria. Great Britain has allotted us 800 sq. miles of Mesopotamia, including Mosul and North Armenia and Persian frontier. Inform boys this is assured. Will write in detail."

"J. Y. KAMBER."

Lady Surma can claim, her adherents believe, she is the first woman to have the title of president of any country in recent history. Her country people are jubilant over the honor, and the fact that it brings with it a re-establishment of Assyrian nationhood.

Better Homes Crying Need in America Today, Says Woman Baptists' Head

MRS. HELEN BARRETT MONTGOMERY

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 8.—(Better homes)

"That is the crying need in America today," says Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery, first woman to be elected president of the Northern Baptist association. She was recently named at the Baptist convention at Des Moines, Ia.

In her new capacity Mrs. Montgomery has launched a "back to the Christian home" movement with the idea that it will stem the present wave of "carelessness and looseness in manners, dress and morals."

"I believe," says Mrs. Montgomery, "that we are at present in the backwash of the wave of general laxity of ideas, which came with the war, and which has come with every other war in history."

"It is only since the war that we have seen women painting, powdering and bleaching. But already I believe the tide is swinging back to more normal standards of living."

"Prison officials say that only a small percentage of those who have been brought up in good homes, and their way into the prisons of the country."

"No boy or girl should be allowed to work before the age of 16, and every girl should have education in the science of home making and in the care of children. With this knowledge, even though she may later work in a factory, she will eventually come into her own home with the knowledge of how to make it a real home."

"Extraneous style in dress, exaggerated desires for amusement and the laxity of ideas, have been prominent. But they are merely passing phenomena which lie on the surface of the real life of the nation."

Mrs. Montgomery calls her election a tribute to all the women in the Baptist denomination and to the work movement of the church. It began in 1912. The chief work of the organization, she says, will be to carry forward the new world movement. A campaign for a fund of $100,000,000 will be launched in 1924. Three cents of every dollar will be used for education.

Mrs. Montgomery made her first public appearance as a speaker, 35 years ago. Since then she has devoted her time to Baptist work. She was pastor of the Lake Avenue Baptist church of Rochester, in 1890, succeeding her father.

that the Sinn Fein could not stand
the financial strain of prolonging the conflict and, therefore, was disposed to come to terms.

Body Riddled With Bullets

DUBLIN, July 8.—The bullet riddled body of Police Sgt. Foody was found yesterday near Ballina, County Mayo.
To it was printed a paper reading:
"Barrage for the Dwyers."

Foody was on duty near Ballina a few days ago when two brothers named Dwyer were shot there.

The republicans are very active throughout Donegal. Roads have been blocked, wires cut and trains delayed.

Craig Seen King

LONDON, July 8.—King George received Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, this morning in an audience which lasted half an hour.

While nothing was obtainable regarding their talk, it was assumed that the Irish situation was discussed. Sir James refused to make any statement after his audience.

BELFAST, July 8.—Union and Kent streets were the scene of wild excitement at midnight last night, when heavy firing was heard for 20 minutes.
A constable was mortally wounded and Sinn Feiners engaged in the hostilities were reported to have suffered heavily.
Many dead bodies were carried into houses nearby.

The trouble started when a police searching party called at a house in the district. Fire was opened upon the party, and in response to a police hurry call, reinforcements were rushed up. A battle ensued, and the police were fired at from street corners as well as from houses which had been planted to guard against surprises from crown forces.

Seek Basis for Peace

LONDON, July 8.—Deliberations of the Sinn Fein and the Unionists today are hoped to develop some basis for peace negotiations which will end the era of bloodshed that has prevailed in Ireland for many months. English political writers in this morning's newspapers seemed to believe the prospects of an agreement should be regarded more with hope than with faith.
In many quarters, indeed, the situation was viewed as giving little occasion for optimism.

This view was based largely on the belief that Edmund de Valera, leader of the Sinn Fein, adhered unalterably to his demand for the establishment of an Irish republic, and that the British government, as well as Ulster, took its stand upon the Irish act, recently passed by the British parliament. It was stated that Earl Middleton, a fourth Irish Unionist leader, who was in London to confer with Prime Minister Lloyd George and others and who returned to Dublin last night, had taken with him an intimation that any settlement must be in harmony with the Irish act, in accordance with which the Belfast parliament was created.

Whether, in the face of such an attitude, Mr. de Valera would accept the prime minister's invitation to London was regarded in many quarters as extremely doubtful. Where the more hopeful view was taken, however, it was believed that Mr. de Valera might reply with a counter proposal. This, according to information received by the Associated Press from Belfast, might take the form of Mr. de Valera insisting that the government "put its cards on the table" before disclosing his own hand. It was said he might maintain that, as Mr.
Lloyd George had proposed a conference between Ulster, south Ireland and the British government, the onus of the situation was upon him.

Another view held in Ulster was that the Sinn Fein could not stand

the financial strain of prolonging the conflict and, therefore, was disposed
to come to terms.

Machine Stolen Here Found in Portland, Oregon

If H. Thatcher, lieutenant of police at Portland, Ore., has forwarded a communication to police headquarters here, to the effect that an Oakland car with a Massachusetts registry number has been found there. Investigation shows that the number given belongs to a machine stolen from Angie Spelley, 25 Hillside street, on Nov. 26, 1920. Supl. Welch notified Spelley of the recovery, and informed him also that if the car is insured against loss by theft, the insurance company has the obligation of insuring the expense of returning the car here.

MANY ANIMALS OVERCOME BY HEAT

The offices of the Humane society were deluged today and yesterday with calls from owners of animals which had been overcome by the intense heat. Of the animals affected dogs were in the majority. Agent Richardson of the society said this morning that they are more susceptible to heat than other animals and he advised owners of canines to keep their pets in cool places and to furnish them plenty of fresh water to drink.
A remarkable feature of this hot spell is that no horses have been reported as overcome. The authorities say that this is due to the fact that the number of horses has dwindled since the advent of the motor car until there are very few animals in the city at the present time.

Agent Richardson said that as far as he could determine the watering throughout the city are functioning properly and animals may get water when they need it. He urges moderation and humane treatment on the part of drovers of horses as a preventive of trouble during the hot spell.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Edna Duval, aged 5 years and residing at 52 Hudson street, received injuries to her head and body when she was struck by an automobile in Lawrence street late yesterday afternoon.
It seems that the little girl with a companion was running across the street when the machine came in sight. The other girl ran out onto the sidewalk, but the Duval girl stopped short in the path of the machine and was struck. She was taken to St.
John's hospital, where she is being kept under observation for probable internal injuries.

Commissioner John F. Salmon left St. John's hospital this morning after being confined there since May 19 as a result of an automobile accident in Tewksbury in which he suffered serious injuries to his hip, thigh and left leg. Mr. Salmon was taken to his home in Coburn street and will remain there several weeks. He is now able to walk short distances with the aid of crutches.

fact, and thrust the bill into his pocket, nodding and saying "Yes." Then he went to the window to look for an officer. The man apparently became alarmed, and suddenly rushed for the door and fled down the street with Barraslan in pursuit. "Stop or I'll shoot," cried the merchant, putting his hand to his hip pocket as the fugitive paused and looked around. This failed to bluff the latter, however, who also motioned towards his hip, whereupon Barraslan gave up the chase, explaining that it occurred to him at that time that there was no one behind to care for the store. He informed Frank Kelly, who drove by in an automobile, of the occurrence, and Kelly trailed the man. Francis Reagan, a sixteen-year-old boy, and another youth, the son of Jeremiah Kelly, was told by Kelly of the occurrence, as were Officer O'Connor, and other officers in the section.
Reagan, however, was the first to pick up the scent, and was following Meadows down Worthen street when Officer Spillane observed him.

The boy came over to the officer, who was standing at the corner of Worthen and Merrimack streets, and narrated the circumstances whereupon both began to walk after Meadows.
The latter turned, and, seeing them, broke into a run, while they gave chase. The pursuit led through the Corporation section, where for a time they lost track of their prey. Officer Spillane was in plain clothes, as he was waiting to go on the late shift at midnight. He had no weapon on his person at the time.

As the search was continued, a woman put her head from a window in a tenement block on Tilden street, and called that there was a man in the entry. While young Reagan guarded the door, Officer Spillane entered the other and began to look through the hall. Reaching the third landing, he threw open a door. Just as he did so, he heard a slight noise behind him on the stair leading from the second to the third story. He turned back, and in the darkness could just make out the
banister with his hat and coat held in his arms. As the officer had been warned that the fugitive was armed, he did not hesitate to act, but took a flying leap, and sprang upon the figure, which was tumbled by the force of the impact.

Meadows had a small rock in his hand, says the officer, but instead of striking out with it, he himself on the side of the head, shouting "Let me kill myself!" The officer finally subdued his captive, who was suffering from a wound where he had struck himself with the rock. At police headquarters, it is stated that Meadows brought the officers to give him a revolver. "I have nothing to live for," he cried. An identification disk was found on his person, bearing the inscription of his name and the "K" Co. 15th Cavalry. He had previously begged Officer Spillane to let him go on the grounds that they were both army veterans. The sum of $2.02 was also found on him. In the room at the Midwestern lodging house where he had been staying for the past two weeks, a white crayon, two green crayons and a lead pencil were found by the police.
It is believed that with these the crime work of raising bills was done, by adding a white crayon zero after the "1" on one dollar bills, and the "2" on twenties, and then something the edges with green crayon on one side and with lead pencil on the other.
When booked at headquarters last night, Meadows gave his address as Boston. It is stated that the description of the man who passed a bogus twenty dollar bill at a carnival show on the South common corresponds with that of Meadows.

"HE AIN'T GETTIN'

Street cars of Glasgow stop only at stipulated stations. At other places the motorman merely reduces the speed of the vehicle, the passenger making the ascent to the platform on the fly.
This practice saves considerable current in the course of a year.

RESULT OF GAMES AT POLLARD OUTING

The ball game between the married and single men at the outing of the employees of the A. G. Pollard Co., which was held at the home of Mr. A. G. Pollard in Chelmsford yesterday afternoon, the general story of which appeared in The Sun last evening, was won by the bachelors, the score being 6 to 4. The other events and the winners were as follows: 100-yard dash for men, Joseph Allard, first, and Joseph Finnerty, second; 100-yard dash for women, Grace Deane, first, and Lillian Blaine, second; wheelbarrow race, Alfred Achin and Romeo Loxe, first; three-legged race, Miss R. Moushegan and Miss H. Moushegan, first, and Misses Anita Marquis and Helen Rogers, second; egg race, Misses Bennett and Ogasapian; pie eating contest, J. Kludgian, first, and Thomas Row, second; race on hands and feet, Alfred Achin, first, and Peter Lobrun, second; clothespin race, Miss Bennett, Miss Jennie Dunn and Miss Mary Kilroy; race for men 30 years old and over, J. A. N. Chretien and Allan Gould. The tug-of-war contest was won by a team composed of the following: Joseph Lebrun, John Mara, J. Finnerty, Peter Lebrun, Joseph Allard and J. Gaudette.

WORLD'S FATTEST MAN IS DEAD

BOSTON, July 8.—Charles H. Jackson, said at one time to be the world's fattest man, and who for many years traveled with circuses, though his home was in Brockton, died on Wednesday at the Holy Ghost hospital, Cambridge, at the age of 41. Mr. Jackson had been in declining health for about five years, and last March he was obliged to go to the hospital. His maximum weight was 648 pounds, but since his illness he had lost weight until he weighed less than 200 when he died. Though he made his home at 852 Crescent street, Brockton, he was well known in Boston, and was frequently the guest of honor at banquets of the Fat Men's club. For some time he had been tried to find what made him so fat. He weighed only 176 pounds when he was married, at the age of 21. He was past noble grand of Dunster Lodge, I.O.O.F., of Cambridge; past chief patriarch of Charles River encampment, Patriarchs' Millant of Somerville, and belonged to the Somerville Lodge of Masons. He was vice president of the New England Fat Men's club, a member of the Fat Men's club of the United States. Besides his wife, he leaves a son, Ralph H. Jackson of Brockton, with whom he made his home, and three daughters, Mrs. Pierre Hebert of Brockton, Mrs. Arthur Wood of Everett and Mrs. Lillian Bacon of Medford. The son is a man of ordinary weight, about 160 pounds, but the daughters weigh about 400 pounds each. The funeral will probably be held in Brockton today.

THEDA BARA

WEDS DIRECTOR

NEW YORK, July 8.—Theda Bara, star of the films, is a bride. Her friends here learned today that she had been secretly married last Saturday at Greenwich, Conn., to C. J. Brabin, director of her pictures. Several weeks ago when she returned from Europe affectionate greetings at the pier aroused curiosity, but she and Mr. Brabin denied then that they intended to marry.

The heaviest bridge in the world is said to be that crossing the East river, N. Y., at Hell Gate.

TO PUT ON SOLID FLESH

What to eat to put vitamins in your system, increase your weight and make you strong. Scientists tell how vitamin-containing vegetables, such as lettuce, spinach and apples build weight and strength.

You cannot possess a fine figure, elegant appearance, have good color and be strong and robust-looking without plenty of vitamins in your system and blood. Thousands of people are thin, skinny, scrawny and worn out looking in spite of their fine clothes, without suspecting the real cause of their trouble. IN YOUR SYSTEM THERE ARE 30,000,000,000,000 RED BLOOD CORPUSCLES AND EACH ONE MUST HAVE VITAMINS BEFORE YOU CAN HOPE TO WEIGH NORMALLY. If you are not willing to eat the skins and peels of fruit and vegetables and the bits of grain so as to get a sufficient quantity of vitamins in your blood and system as nature intended you should do, then you should get plenty of vitamin-containing foods, such as lettuce, spinach and apples and assist them from time to time with your meals with a little harmless, palatable "MEDIC-VEEST," which is rich in arm flesh-building vitamins like the vitamins in your blood itself and like the vitamins the cow, ox and horse get in the green grass and clover. You know what the little blade of grass with its vitamins means to one of these creatures. In flesh and strength, just so much as the vitamins in MEDIC-VEEST means to you. When you find yourself thin, pale, skinny and ugly-looking, do not wait, but take some MEDIC-VEEST regularly. Increase your weight to normal with solid, firm, stay-there tissue and flesh, which you will feed the shrunken tissues and aid nature in making you strong, well and fully developed. You owe it to yourself to make this simple test: Weigh and measure yourself. Next take MEDIC-VEEST with every meal. Then weigh and measure yourself again each week. The scales, mirror and tape measure won't deceive you. When you are satisfied with your gain in weight, energy and strength, tell your friends about MEDIC-VEEST. Tonic Tablets and what they will do for them. MEDIC-VEEST should not be taken by anyone who objects to having their weight increase to normal. Fred Howard and A. W. Dowd carry MEDIC-VEEST. Your own druggist has it or can quickly procure it for you. For many reasons no other yeast can take its place. Results absolutely guaranteed or money refunded by the manufacturers.—Adv.

CONVICTED OF MURDER IN ELEVEN MINUTES

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 8.—After 11 minutes' deliberation a jury before Justice Cropsey in the supreme court last night found Lawrence Kubal guilty of murder in the first degree for the slaying of Mrs. Minnie Bartlett, wealthy widow, in her West Hempstead home on June 22. Kubal, whose admission of the crime to his wife led to his arrest, offered no defense.

Mrs. Bartlett was beaten to death with a chisel after Kubal, according to his confession, had obtained entrance to her home under pretense of wanting to purchase the property. Stolen jewelry of small value was recovered from merchants to whom he had sold it.

WHISKEY SOLD IN SHOE REPAIR SHOP

BOSTON, July 8.—How a well kept shoe parlor containing regular boot-blacks and cobblers acted as a camouflage for a busy whiskey establishment was revealed yesterday when Louie Stellato of Hampden street, Roxbury, was arraigned in the Roxbury district court before Judge Hayden, charged on three counts with violation of the liquor laws.

Stellato was arrested by the police of the Dudley street station in a raid conducted on the premises at 123 Hampden street, Roxbury, where, according to the police, considerable whiskey was sold. In court yesterday, he testified that the store raided was his shoe establishment and repair shop and pleaded not guilty to the charges.

BIG NAVAL BLIMP BLOWS UP IN AIR

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The naval blimp C-3 exploded at the naval air station at Hampton Roads, Virginia, yesterday, burning and injuring the four persons who were aboard, according to reports to the navy department.

None of the persons aboard the C-3 was seriously injured, according to the reports of the department, but two were painfully burned.

The big gas bag had just been released for a photographic flight and was rising slowly when the explosion occurred. Those aboard jumped with parachutes, according to the reports. The blimp was destroyed when the explosion occurred, when the craft was about 75 feet in the air.

SPEAKS WELL OF THE JAPANESE

California Woman Says the Japanese Are An Honest, Law-Abiding People

"I can't conceive why infamous lies are being circulated throughout the eastern states against the Japanese who are living in California," declared Mrs. Bertha Leard, a former resident of Worcester, who is now making her home in Oakland, Cal., while speaking at a meeting of Roosevelt council, 15, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, in Highland hall in Branch street last evening. Mrs. Leard is not touring the country in behalf of the Japanese cause, but she came here at the invitation of the officers of the council, being at present the guest of Mrs. Ida Riley of Worcester, state councillor, but she informed her listeners that nothing pleased her more than to tell what she knows about the Japanese race.

At the beginning of her lecture Mrs. Leard said she has been residing in Oakland for the past six years. She is conducting a large apartment house there and has had occasion to study the manners and customs of the Japs, for she has a number of them in her employ. "There are no more Japanese in Oakland than other nationalities," she said, "but those who are living there are law-abiding, trustworthy, and they attend to their own business. A great many of them are in business, some operating laundries and others maintaining fruit and variety stores. They have an employment agency of their own, where Japanese help can be secured at no cost to the employer or employer. They are a very well-behaved class of people and very seldom cause any disturbance, and much to their credit I will say that they do not make or drink 'moon'."

"In my opinion the Japs are a far less objectionable class of people than some of the people you have here in the east. I have had several of them in my employ during the past six years and those who have worked for me I have found to be exceptionally honest. They can be trusted, and so much so that I would not hesitate in giving them the preference as far as employment is concerned. They are very quick in learning the English language and in getting accustomed to American manners."

"You will never be short-changed if you deal with a Jap, and you are sure to get your money's worth, for they are on the level in all their dealings. Most of the Japs are of the Mohammedan creed, while a few of them are Christians. They have no inclination to marry people of other nationalities, for the men make excellent husbands and the women wonderful wives. They are not inclined to discuss the Japanese situation, which exists in this country. I feel it my duty to speak of the Japanese as I find them and to let the people I come in contact with know the excellent qualities that go to make the Jap, an honest, efficient and law-abiding resident of this country."

Mayor Perry D. Thompson also spoke briefly, complimenting the members of the council for the recent success achieved in their recruiting drive, as the council was awarded the prize of $50 offered by the national council to the council that would take in at least 50 new members. The remainder of the program consisted of telephone solos by Romeo Couture, address by State Councillor Ida Riley, of Worcester; vocal selections by Chester H. Barker, violin selections by Winifred Guild, piano duet by David and Ernest Latham, and an address by National Outside Guard Alice H. Courbin.

707 SUICIDES IN NEW YORK DURING YEAR

NEW YORK, July 8.—Suicides in New York were more prevalent among married persons than single ones in 1920, it was shown in the report of Chief Medical Examiner Morris, made public today. The total number of suicides for the year was placed at 737. Of the victims 352 were married, 155 single, 160 widows; two divorced and 65 whose social status was unknown. Figures for the first six months of this year show that 30 more persons killed themselves than during the corresponding period in 1919.

HARDING NAMES TEMPERANCE ENVOY

NEW YORK, July 8.—President Harding has appointed Rev. Charles Scanlon one of the 10 delegates to represent this country at the 10th annual convention of the International Congress Against Alcoholism, which meets in Lausanne, Switzerland, Aug. 22 to 27. It was announced here last night. Dr. Scanlon, who is secretary of the board of temperance of the Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, has attended four previous sessions of the congress.

WAS MIKADO'S PRISONER

Lived With 8 Men In 10 Foot Room, 5 Years—Eighteen 'Suicides

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Henry Von Riedelstein, who tells the following vivid personal story of experiences which befell the "first white soldier ever held captive by the brown," is a distinguished Hungarian artist and was lieutenant of the German forces at Tsingtau, China, when captured during the Japanese occupation in the world war. Together with 5000 fellow captives, he was held five years in Japanese military prison camps.

BY HENRY VON RIEDELSTEIN
I cannot but suggest rather than reveal the whole story of my imprisonment in a Japanese war camp. In these brief sentences.

There was some sickness, much drinking in the camp, and eighteen suicides among the 1000 men crowded together, with an exercise ground no

larger than four tennis courts. For five years we stayed there, not permitted to leave the camp, surrounded by poor sanitation and lacking both employment for hand and mind and exercise for our bodies.

Hated Each Other

For five years I slept and ate in a room ten feet square with eight others. We were happy at first in the expectation of a German triumph.

But the months grew, and how we hated each other! Indifference, then despair, then hatred. The only relief came when death took three of the men in our room and we had new persons to get acquainted with, then quarrel with and to hate bitterly. Knowing no Japanese, we could not even talk with those on the outside.

I must say in behalf of the natives on the prison island that they were kindly, and many offered to become bondsmen for release of captives from close confinement, but everywhere Japan's stern military rule resisted amelioration.

We appealed for labor and pleasant tasks. They were refused. We asked to be allowed to leave the camp for walks in the fields. We were told that the natives objected for our treading their rice fields. Our money, what little we had, was taken from us when liquor was served to the men, scores of whom, with nothing to do, spent their all for alcohol and forgetfulness, only to pay a greater price in sickness and death.

The Japanese guards told us that this was the first time Japanese ever had white men for prisoners, and they had instructions to allow us no liberties.

The natives organized excursions to come out and look at us—the Mikado's prisoners.

Mean, Petty Tricks

The militarism of the army was reflected not in great ways but in mean, petty tricks that annoyed and made the men desperate. Little plants and vines we had planted were torn up; little drawings and toys destroyed with implacable calmness.

For a year I have been slowly regaining my strength in Japan, where, after my release, the Japanese people were very kind. I cannot blame the people.

The first jury trial ever held in the Mackenzie territory will be conducted at Port Providence upon the arrival of the judge and the legal party who recently left Edmonton for the north. It will be the trial of a man for the murder of his wife and infant child.

FOR USE AS PARSONAGE

Residence of Late Deacon Carter Presented As Memorial to First Church

The residence of the late Deacon Albert D. Carter, located at 187 Pawtucket street, has been presented as a memorial to the First Congregational church, for use as a parsonage, by the daughters of the deacon, Mrs. Lillian C. Blanchard, wife of Hiram H. Blanchard of Tilton, N. H., and Mrs. Bertha C. Hoyt, wife of Walter H. Hoyt, of this city. The late Deacon Carter was his life an active supporter of the church, and as he was endeavoring to secure a parsonage just prior to his death it was felt that the gift would be most appropriate. At a meeting of the church trustees, announcement of the gift was made, and the appreciation of the congregation expressed.

Rev. Percy Thomas, who recently accepted a call to the pulpit of the First Congregational church, will occupy the house, which since 1905 has been the home of the Carter family. In 1912 it was erected by T. C. Carney, whose daughter, Mrs. Jacob Rogers, was married there. Congressman John Jacob Rogers, together with Mrs. P. A. Plathner, and Mrs. F. E. Dunbar were born there.

SCIENCE SERVICE

Calling Attention to the Danger in Potatoes

By WOODS HUTCHINSON, A. M., M.D.

What could be imagined blander and more innocent to both eye and palate than the snowy whiteness of a boiled or mashed potato? Yet danger may lurk in its creamy softness and toothsome.

Attention has again been called by food experts in the last few weeks to the fact that the potato domesticated and harmless as it has been for centuries, will occasionally throw back to its wild ancestors and become poisonous enough to be distinctly unwholesome.

Fortunately we know the nature and the name of the poison, solanin, the circumstances under which it appears and the signs of its presence so that we can, in large measure, guard against it.

Where Trouble Starts

The whole trouble rises out of the biologic fact that this solanin is always normally present in the tops, or stalks and leaves of the potato, and may in some circumstances get carried down into the potato itself, which is not a true root but only a modified underground stalk.

The circumstance which chiefly causes this unwholesome change is the turning of the root into a stalk again by bringing it up too near the surface where the light can get at it.

Its warning signal is the well known greening of potatoes which have not been properly hilled up and thus left partly exposed to the light, or which have been dug before they were quite ripe.

Therefore it is well to be sharply on guard when purchasing potatoes, or peeling them for the table, against all that show any greenness of the skin, either cutting away freely down to the white beneath. If the greenness is slight, or rejecting altogether if it covers more than a fourth of the potato.

The sprouts of potatoes which have sprouted in the bins should also be very carefully kept out of the cooking pots as they, being budding stalks, contain solanin.

The difference between the highest and lowest points in the United States is 34,177 feet.

TEWKSBURY NEWS

Street Lighting System Installed—Personal Mention

Several months ago the town voted to expend approximately $21,000 to have the electric wires extended to the town. The job is now complete and the new street lights are functioning, but many are the gloomy predictions as to the burden that the taxpayers will have to bear in order to pay for the lighting service. The people of the village, however, are hastening to take advantage of the electric service. Many of them have had their houses wired and many others are contemplating doing so.

Miss Lillian Miller is spending her vacation at Hampton beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Alpha Norris are spending the summer in Maine. Miss Hannah Chandler is spending a few weeks with them.

Mr. F. W. Cameron, agent of the Tewksbury Centre railroad station, is on a leave of absence for the summer. Mr. Welch will act as agent during Mr. Cameron's absence.

Townpeople are expressing their earnest appreciation of the last band concert which was held recently on the common. The concert was paid for by popular subscription and it is hoped that another will be given in the near future.

Miss Madeline McHugh of James street has accepted a position at the Massachusetts state infirmary.

Mr. Harold J. Patten of North street

is driving a new super six coupe about town.

Mr. Harry L. Mann of North street entertained a company of Springfield friends at his home over the Fourth.

Mr. Alden Haines and his daughter, Miss Gladys Haines, are planning a trip to Franconia, N. H., in the near future.

Mr. William Alexander is raising the grade of the entrance to his home on Pleasant street.

Mrs. Dean Davis of Main street is visiting with her mother in Maine. Miss Mary Billings is visiting at the home of her brother in the Centre village.

A number of young men from the village went on a fishing trip off Plum Island recently and report very good success. Starting from Ipswich, the party spent an entire day on the water and when they returned they carried with them over two barrels of pollock and cod.

Workmen are repairing the roof of the Foster school. Residents of the town do not envy the men as they toil under the broiling sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Gay of North street are rejoicing over the birth of a son.

Tewksbury farmers, noted for their production of fine strawberries, report that the crop this year is unusually light owing to the long delayed rainfall.

French history records as uncrowned two "kings"—Louis XVII and Napoleon II.

SHORT SKETCHES OF CITY HALL DWELLERS

When you want to know anything go to the city clerk's office. That seems to be the slogan of hundreds of people who visit city hall on the hunt for information but have no very definite or distinct idea where they are to find it. That is why the designers of the municipal building put the city clerk's office so near the entrance to the building. It is but a few yards to the right of the big wide doors which give one admittance to city hall. Over it presides one of the busiest officials of the municipal building, City Clerk Stephen Flynn, the subject of the third of The Sun's series of sketches of city hall dwellers.

Municipal procedure is an open book to the energetic city clerk. He is familiar with every section of the city charter but his familiarity with this important document has never allowed him to become careless in applying its sections to actual conditions. Certain though he may be of the correct procedure under specified conditions, nevertheless he never fails to verify his stand in the matter by diligently and carefully reading the section or sections of the charter which apply to the case. As a consequence, mistakes in the city clerk's office are few and far between because Mr. Flynn has instilled the same desire for accuracy in his assistants.

It is Mr. Flynn who guides members of the city council through the intricacies and technicalities of council meetings during the first few months of their careers at city hall. Every commissioner or mayor who has served under the new charter owes a debt of gratitude to the city clerk for the accurate and never tiring guiding hand which has directed him in his work. Personally, Mr. Flynn is most courteous and obliging. No matter how pressing the duties of the moment may be he has always time to give attention to the most minor request. He is married and lives at 145 Moore street. He is an ardent worker for the Irish cause and during the recent relief campaign here he acted as treasurer for the committee in charge. His greatest hobbies are his family and his work.

CHORAL SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL OUTING

The annual outing of the Lowell Choral society was held yesterday afternoon at the camps of Mrs. Charles S. Scribner and Mrs. Frank Osburn, on the shores of Nabassat pond in West Chelmsford and the affair was very enjoyable. The trip to the resort was made in a special electric car. Upon reaching the grounds a baseball game was played between the contraltos and tenors and sopranos and basses and it is said that a feature of the game was the skill shown by the members of the fair sex. Then there was an egg race, which was won by Miss Phil. Miss Corbin won the palm in the baseball throwing contest. A varied list of other sports was carried out and a basket luncheon was served. In the latter part of the afternoon a brief business session was held during which E. G. Hood of Nashua was re-elected conductor and Wilfrid Kershaw of this city, accompanist. The officers chosen for the ensuing year were as follows: George S. Drew, president; David Hird, vice president; Samuel Kershaw, treasurer; Mark A. Adams, secretary; Noble Charlton, Marion Connors, Arthur Galley, Winifred Haggerty, Mrs. L. J. Hanson, Frank Harrington, George Maguire, Mrs. C. M. McIntire, Marion McKnight, Mary E. Reilly, Annie Russell, Mrs. C. F. Scribner and Etta Thompson, executive committee.

LOYD GEORGE

At many points in his career Premier Lloyd George surrendered his most strongly held principles, allowed his flag to be taken down from the topmast and one of the opposite type landed there, whereupon he hailed the new emblem as his own.

It has been said that when he finds the opposition becoming too powerful, he surrenders like the melting of lead and promptly reverses his position. Not only this, but he takes pains to prove that nobody is so loyal to the new standard as he, himself. He is the greatest exponent of the game of political expediency that the world has known in many centuries.

If Machiavelli used base treachery, subtle cunning and unprincipled artifice to maintain his authority as a ruler, he has a worthy imitator in Lloyd George; and it is probable that Machiavelli would have failed utterly in many of the situations in which the English premier has succeeded. In conquering all political parties in England and from their fragments founding a party to hold himself aloof, is the slogan by which he holds the people in line and at the same time holds himself in power. Many of the political leaders of England know him thoroughly and dislike him most cordially; but they cannot dislodge him. Even the people acknowledge that while they disapprove of his course in many things, there is no other man on the political horizon who could acceptably fill his place at the present time.

The miners' strike almost proved his undoing and now lest the Irish question should encompass his defeat, he is trying to settle that; but in all his political maneuvering, his main purpose is to promote the political power and prestige of Lloyd George. To that aim the people, the miners, the colonies, Ireland and even England, are of secondary importance in the estimation of the present premier.

During the negotiations on the peace treaty, he made a tool of President Wilson, and with his aid was able to dominate the action of the conference. He had Mr. Wilson say and do things that he wanted said and done, but which he himself could not say or do without arousing opposition from the premiers of the other nations. As a result England got about everything she wanted from the peace table and this, of course, is a factor in the premier's political power, as the masses admire him for his practical cleverness. In winning so much for England, he has succeeded in holding office through one of the most stormy periods in the history of England and his ministry endures when that of the other premiers of the allied nations have been retired. Yet Lloyd George is not the type of man who has usually been selected for premier of England. He is an opportunist who made way for himself by forcing others out, and he differs from most, if not all, of his predecessors in the fineness with which he convinces the people that he is striving to promote the glory of the empire, when he is playing the political game, first, last and all the time for the able, unscrupulous, tactful and ambidextrous politician, Lloyd George.

ADVANCE OF TELEGRAPHY

Let us consider the telegraph operator. It is not very long ago since the arrival of a telegram frightened the home folks as they felt it brought news of the death of some friend. Now, however, telegrams are common. The messenger boys of the telegraph offices shout about on bicycles delivering special dispatches on business and every phase of human affairs.

Every day in the columns of 'The Sun' the readers find a vast collection of despatches from all over the civilized world telling of the extraordinary happenings in every land. The telegraph operator must have the qualities of stability, reliability and perseverance. Few trades have produced more unique and useful characters.

Thomas Edison, the inventor, for years was a "knight of the key." So were Frank Munsey, William Gillette, George V. Hobart, and Andrew Carnegie. A veteran operator was John M. Carnahan, who began handling a key in 1861. In 1876 he was operator at Bismarck, N. D., then the farthest-west wire station. Stopping for only brief intervals, Carnahan sat at his key for nearly 50 hours and "sent" the story of the Custer massacre, a time feat that, it is said, has never since been duplicated.

At the time of the great Galveston flood, wires were down and there was no way to get relief appeals to the outside world. Richard Spillane, a former telegraph operator, now a business writer, was managing editor of a Galveston newspaper. In an old steam launch, assisted by a cotton broker, Spillane defied the hurricane, crossed the bay and, reaching land, tramped on through the night into Houston. There he got to a key and for hours wired appeals for help, followed by news stories. He had made the trip in carpet slippers. Their dye soaked out and poisoned his feet, which were so swollen that when he finished telegraphing he had to be lifted out of his chair.

The details of Spillane's dash for help make the movie scene tame. But it's typical of the men who have given the world its telegraph news and personal wire messages since Samuel Morse invented the telegraph in 1837. Now we have in addition to the Morse telegraph, the wireless telegraph and telephone, the discovery of Marconi. The possibilities of this new form of transmitting intelligence are so vast that the imagination fails to comprehend more than the mere marvel of what may be realized in the next generation. It is a wonderful world we live in and there is reason to believe that these marvelous discoveries will continue until even the wildest flights of imagination will have been surpassed. In this new field the knight of the key will become even a more important functionary and thus will the status of his position be relatively increased.

THE TARIFF CONFLICT

Governor Cox appeals to the congressmen of New England to protest against certain features of the tariff bill which, he says, are opposed to New England interests.

SEEN AND HEARD

Glancing from the sidewalk to the buildings a fellow sometimes feels like suggesting a "paint transfer."

Spelled the Steak

A Lowell man had been struggling with an India rubber steak in a Lawrence restaurant. "Look here, waiter," he finally said. "You'll have to bring me something else. I can't tackle this." The waiter carefully examined the article, then he said firmly: "I can't take it back; you've bent it."

Loved Her Papal

A kindergarten asked of her pupils which they would like to sing of the national songs they had learned the day before. A little girl responded: "Let's sing the one about America where the fathers all took pills and died." The words of the song were: "Land where my fathers died; land of the Pilgrims' pride."

Text for Preacher

A railroad crossing watchman at West Chester, Pa., has worn two deep round holes in the brick pavement where he stands duty, by constantly applying with his heavy walking stick during four years. We think any preacher in Lowell could use this as a text for a sermon on "Habits." Habits are like the stick tapping the brick. They bore into your character and finally the little holes become great cavities into which you fall.

Just Natural Traits

Many a parent in Lowell has grieved at a seeming delinquency in the conduct of his or her child. These parents can get comfort from Dr. T. B. Birch, of Witterburg College. He says stealing, and then lying about the thefts, are natural traits in children. There is no inherent sense of right and wrong in a child's mind. Parents should bear this in mind and following the suggestion of Dr. Birch, teach their children not only that stealing and lying are wrong, but also that they can't "get away with it."

Bill Woods Tells This One

A stranger in a small American town which had gone dry, wanted a drink and was told that he could get one from the local druggist. The druggist inquired what was the matter with him. "Was he ill?" "Yes," replied the man. "What is wrong with you?" asked the druggist. "Nothing particular. I am just ill." "Well," said the druggist, "I can't let you have a drink just because you are ill. You must have something specific the matter with you." "Well," inquired the man, "what do you suggest?" The druggist: "You have been bitten by a snake, for example." "I have!" said the man, decidedly. "But that won't do," said the druggist. "You must really have been bitten by a snake. The cobra down the street has got a snake and he might lend him to you." The stranger called on the cobra, who admitted the possession of a snake, but said it was booked up for three weeks, day and night.

HARDING URGES DELAY ON BONUS

Wants Tax and Tariff First—May Send Special Message

WASHINGTON, July 8.—President Harding paid an unexpected visit to the senate yesterday, and it is understood, interposed the weight of his personal influence to defer action on the soldier bonus bill until a clearer understanding of the government's financial outlook has been made possible by enactment of new tariff and tax laws.

In an hour's conference with senate leaders the president is understood to have endorsed the view of Secretary Mellon that bonus legislation now might be a serious embarrassment to the treasury, and even to have suggested that all other legislative business be suspended to permit completion of the tariff and tax revisions as soon as possible.

By those who talked with him, he was quoted as favoring a recess of congress while the committees in charge are hastening perfection of the two measures on account of which the special session was called.

It was indicated that Mr. Harding's views would be set forth at greater length in a special message to congress which may be sent to the capitol today.

The document is expected to deal particularly with the bonus bill and to set forth that while the administration regards itself as committed to some legislation for relief of war veterans, it sees no reason for acting precipitately.

Has Lunch With Senators

It was the first time in recent years, at least, that a president has made such a visit to the capitol. Until the Wilson administration the chief executive remained away from the legislative end of the capitol except when he was called there by official business.

On arrival at the capitol, the president went directly to the senate dining room on the first floor, thus shattering precedent. He was accompanied by Secretary Christian and Senator Frelinghuysen, who had been in conference with him at the White House.

The president took a seat at the same table at which it was his custom to lunch while a member of the senate. It is located in a corner of the portion of the senate dining-room reserved for the senators and their guests.

With him at the table, in addition to Senator Frelinghuysen, were Senators Lodge, Knox, Watson, Wadsworth, Kelllogg, Hale, Moses, Spencer, McKinley, Harold and Brandegee.

Finishing luncheon shortly before 2 o'clock, the president, accompanied by Senator Lodge, went to his private room and sent for Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota. In charge of the bonus bill, and Senator Underwood of Alabama, the democratic leader, who spoke at length yesterday in opposition to the measure.

Outlook Certain

While the president was giving his opinion to senator after senator in his room just off the senate chamber, the senate itself was debating the bonus bill, with speakers for the measure confident of its passage. By an overwhelming vote the bill had been brought to the senate floor as a special order of business and the senators in charge were inclined to predict that even the opposition of Secretary Mellon would not be sufficient to delay it.

Last night the outlook generally was admitted to be more uncertain. Leaders had not yet made a canvass to ascertain just how much weight the visit of the president might have, and the disposition in most quarters was to await Mr. Harding's message before forcing a showdown.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR PEDESTRIANS

Several people narrowly escaped injury shortly before 8 o'clock last night when an Oakland touring car, owned by Arthur J. Mack, of Mac of Tewksbury Centre ran upon the sidewalk in Bridge street just in front of New's drug store. Edward Ward, 24 Webster street, who was on the sidewalk at the time, was struck a slight blow by the front part of the machine, but escaped with minor bruises about the knee.

The accident occurred when Mr. Mack attempted to make a left turn from Bridge street into Bridge street. Witnesses say he seemed to lose control of his car and in order to avoid striking a number of people who were boarding an electric car in the square he guided the automobile to the sidewalk. Officer William Murphy requested Mr. Mack to report at the police station, but he was not detained there.

SAYS IT GAVE HIM NEW LEASE ON LIFE

Auburn Man Often Had to Fight For Breath—Health Restored

Harry E. Mitchell of Bryn Mawr av. Auburn, Mass., widely known as the "Poultry King," is now an enthusiastic witness to the merits of Tanlac.

"I was in a pretty bad fix for some two years," said Mr. Mitchell, "and at times would give completely out and feel like I was going to faint. But Tanlac has built me up to where I believe I have a new lease on life."

"I had nervous indigestion and general stomach complaints and just never did feel right. At times gas would form and build me up so that I felt like I was smothering. And there was such an awful pressure against my heart that it seemed sometimes like each beat would be the last and then again my heart would start beating something terrific. Often I simply had to fight for breath and all this had pulled me down until I was almost a nervous wreck."

"Well, Tanlac is the first real medicine I ever struck. I can say that for it. It didn't take it long to get in its good work. I feel like a new man. My appetite is the best, and as for stomach trouble, I can't tell I ever had it. Since my digestion is responsible for this feeling, it is normal and my breathing is free and easy. In fact, I'm in the very best of health and take pleasure in giving Tanlac my heartiest endorsement."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Falls, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggists in every town.—Adv.

EXPECTS RENTS WILL SOON COME DOWN

BOSTON, July 8.—Speculation in tenement house property is apparently over and a reduction in rentals should follow, according to Eugene C. Hultman, chairman of the commission on the necessities of life.

Mr. Hultman bases his belief that rents will drop on figures obtained from the register of deaths in Suffolk, Norfolk, Essex and Middlesex counties, which show that during the months of March, April and May of last year there were 18,312 transfers of real estate, while during the corresponding months this year the number of transfers was 12,020, a reduction of 4292 or 23.3 per cent.

Last year complaints were received by the commission on the necessities of life of property being transferred seven times in six months, with an advance in rent after each transfer. Commissioner Hultman says that the examination of the register's shows that a large number of this year's transfers were to persons who acquired the property for occupancy. Reports received by the commission from other cities in the country show that the rental charges have begun to drop already—the report showing reductions of 10 to 30 per cent.—and Chairman Hultman is confident there will be a like reduction in Massachusetts charges in the near future.

ICE CREAM IN GREAT DEMAND

Some idea of the amount of ice cream being consumed by the public at the present time is evidenced by the fact that it required 28 two-ton trucks, kept continuously busy, to distribute the amount of Jersey ice cream required by the wholesale trade over the Fourth.

Fifteen thousand gallons, or enough ice cream to serve 750,000 persons, were distributed to the 600 wholesale customers of the Jersey Ice Cream Co. on Saturday, Sunday and Monday from the Lawrence and Lynn plants of this company.

It is evident that more and more people each year are choosing this method of celebrating a "safe and sane" Fourth.

INVESTIGATING FIRE

The state police have been requested by Chief Bartlett of the Billerica fire department to investigate the cause of the fire which occurred at the M.C.A. camp on the banks of the Concord river last Monday. It is claimed that a few minutes before the blaze was discovered several young men were seen in the vicinity of the camp. The fire was put out, however, before any serious damage was caused.

A woodpecker recently held up an important Southern Pacific train near El Paso when it pecked away the lead wire to the track-relay post near the signal. This threw a red "block" causing the engineer to stop the train to investigate.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Magic

Oh, never tell me that life is dull
When up in the arching sky,
Swifter than ever the hawk or Men mount to the clouds—and 27.
And who shall wait for a lost
romance
When, high from its towers
burled,
And flashes o'er half a world:
Our voices travel on singing
wires,
With speech that is heard
afar;
And we skim the roadways on
magic tires,
As we drive in a wonder-car.
With the harness strength of a roaring stream
We turn the great wheels of
trade,
And what was only a dreamer's
dream
Is builded, and shaped and
made!
Life's dull, you tell me? And
yet you dwell
In a world of marvelous power
Where each moment brings you
a wizard's spell—
And a miracle every hour!

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents.)

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Drop into the Merrimack Square theatre any of these warm days, and note the instant change in the atmosphere which you experience the minute you step into the cosy amusement house. A scientific system of ventilation is responsible for this cooling effect. Manager Nelson has arranged an exceptionally attractive program for the week-end, the chief features of which are "Shattered Daughters," starring Justine Johnston, former beauty of the Folies, and "The Cabin of Dr. Caligari," a weird and absorbing story of a most entertaining nature. Then there is the usual comedy and the International News complete the bill.

THE STRAND

Jack Pickford called "The Man Who Had Everything," one of his lucky pictures and before its issue predicted a great success. The reason for it is that the number "18" figures in it. The picture is a comedy, and it has been received, it will surely run well with his biggest successes of the film. It is everything that goes in the making of a commendable success offering. Shirley Mason in "Wing Vator."

POSTOFFICE CAT KILLED

PORTLAND, Me., July 8.—Elizabeth, the postoffice cat, distinguished because she was the first to be called into service by the federal government to prevent damage by mice to parcel post matters, is dead. All children are invited to attend the classes. Meanwhile, Lakeview continues the recrea for thousands who seek relief from city life, particularly in the muggy days now upon us. Lakeview is a real tonic, an invigorator. Recreation, diversion and a general good time are always assured at this popular resort.

BON MARCHE OPENS*NEW DEPARTMENT

The Bon Marche store has opened a new department known as a "grocery." The enterprise will be able to sell foodstuffs at but little more than wholesale, it is stated, due to the fact that the system eliminates clerks and consequently has no salary list.

The plan of the grocery involves the placing upon shelves of the various articles for sale, with price labels attached. The customer, provided with a basket, selects the goods desired, which are afterwards wrapped and packed for on the spot. This "cash and carry" method, according to F. D. Munn, engaged as manager by the Bon Marche for the new department, makes it possible to slash prices greatly.

Located in the basement, the department can be reached from the Kirk street as well as the Merrimack street entrances. A window display demonstrating the method used is now being shown at the Bon Marche.

TRIM 'EM WITH NAIL HEADS

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, July 8.—No. Rollo, the lady in the straight-lined gown does not suffer.

Yes, son, those really are nail heads, but the dress is not nailed on the pretty lady. Oh, no, indeed!

See, the pretty lady is smiling? There is no nail attached to the nail heads.

She is happy because she has on a new dress with the most up-to-date trimming.

Why do pretty ladies like to wear nail heads on their clothes? Ask me something easy, son. It's the fashion.

Would pretty ladies wear the dresses really nailed on if Fashion said so?

Yes, dear, I think they would. But these nail heads don't hurt a bit.

Nail heads, by the way, are very much in evidence for the late summer, fall and coming winter styles. They are shown in glass, brass, gun metal, all the popular hardware tints.

The gown in the illustration is of white canton crepe with a tiny insert or panel back and front upon which are the two rows of nail heads. The dress has panels of ribbon loops. These loops also trim the sleeves. Its simple novel trimming.

Famous Boston Author, on

"Ireland Today Tomorrow"

JAMES B. CONNOLLY

Winner of the first Olympic championship of modern times, Athens, 1896; member of the 9th Mass. Inf., U. S. V., 1898, at the siege of Santiago; Progressive candidate for Congress, 1912; author of "Out of Gloucester," "The Crested Seas," "An Olympic Victor," "Head Winds," and other stories.

The distinguished author of "Out of Gloucester," "Open Water" and other popular stories returned to his home in Dorchester only a few days ago after several weeks in Ireland.

Connolly visited Dublin, Belfast and other centres, interviewed the high and the lowly, talked with all manner of Irishmen. He knows his subject, knows it at first hand, knows what you want to know.

These are important articles because they give us, for the first time, the views of a popular and respected AMERICAN on Irish conditions of the moment.

James B. Connolly is a man of courage. No man, no politician, in or out of office, can pull the wool over his eyes. Winner of an Olympic championship, veteran of the Spanish-American War, the popular author is exactly the man to tell other Americans the truth about Ireland; even if that means the truth about England, too.

The FIRST of Mr. Connolly's Reports on

BY RUTH AGNES ABELE

Bachelor girls who live in one room can give to that one room the touch of a real home at the cost of a little thought, a little effort and the expenditure of a small sum of money.

First in importance in making the place comfortable and attractive, is the elimination of all useless ornaments and personal possessions.

Where there is little drawer room, perhaps only a dressing table, substantial boxes of various sizes are a wise addition to the furnishing of the room. The house box may be large, roomy and covered with matting so that it will serve the purpose of a seat when pushed against the foot of the bed or near the window.

Two more boxes are needed. They can be smaller, so they can be put on the shelves of the clothes closet. One of the boxes should have two compartments, one for shoe blacking materials and the other for things used in cleaning silver, ivory and dressing table appointments.

Cupboard

A wall cupboard in which to keep things for medicinal and toilet purposes—those which are not constantly in use—is a convenience. One shelf of the little cupboard might be reserved for dishes. For the girl who lives in one room will find a very limited supply of glasses, cups, saucers, plates a fine thing for that hour in the evening when Elsie or Edith drop in to gossip. But to keep such things from being exceedingly unattractive, they should be kept entirely separate from any other of the appointments of the room and in a place of spinsterlike neatness.

A "strong box," one of metal which locks securely, is valuable for the keeping of trinkets and documents. The habit of the bachelor girl of leaving her money and jewelry loose is a dangerous one.

Magazines and papers should not be allowed to accumulate. A certain place should be selected for those which are to be kept. A small, stiff brush, with a can of scouring powder are essentials. It wash bowl or bath tub are not an individual matter, a general ous use of the powder and brush before bath is advisable.

Then, don't forget the pretty touch for the ugly electric light—for the expenditure of not more than 25 cents an attractive crepe paper shade can be purchased. It softens the light and gives the place a more inviting air.

INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

George Kelly, a resident of this city, received a fracture of the leg when he was struck by an automobile on the Pawtucket boulevard last evening. It is claimed that the driver of the car did not stop after the accident to make himself known. The injured man was taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital by three young men.

WARNS OF PIRATE SHIP OFF COAST

Government Wireless Tells Ships to Watch Out For
"Low, Rakiah Craft"

Callao, of Munson Line Believed to be Latest Victim—
Missing Since June 20.

Speedy Raider of Seas Sighted
By Steamer Now In Boston

BOSTON, July 6.—With her agents making frantic efforts to reach her by wireless and scores of ships endeavoring to get some trace of her, the Munson line steamer Callao, owned by the United States Shipping board, which sailed from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, on June 20 for New York with 60 cabin passengers and a crew numbering 100, remains unheard from, although under normal conditions she would be within 500 miles of her destination and in easy reach of radio.

Fears were expressed in shipping circles last night that she had fallen prey to the mysterious ship supposed to be a soviet rover, the presence of which in American waters has long been suspected.

Sighted Strange Ship

The belief that she may have been a victim of the pirates was strengthened by a report made by the officers of the steamer Munabro, now in port here and, strangely enough, also owned by the Munson line, that on June 30 encountered a strange steamer 35 miles off Nantucket lightship which surveyed the freighter for a time and shot away into the darkness without revealing her identity after those on board had apparently satisfied themselves that the Munabro was without cargo and therefore not worth molesting when worth-while prizes were to be had.

Officials of the line admitted yesterday that they had been trying unsuccessfully for two days to establish communication with the Callao. While they scouted the idea that failure to locate her might be attributed to operations of pirates off the coast, stating that atmospheric conditions may be responsible or that the steamer's apparatus may have become disabled, the underlying fear is that something has happened to the vessel. She should be due at New York Sunday and ordinarily would have reported her position and probable hour of arrival yesterday.

But the fact that she has not done so, nor answered the urgent messages directed to her in the past 48 hours, is causing the gravest concern. In fact no word has been received from her since June 20, the day she sailed. Her course is a much frequented one and a vessel could not long avoid being spoken to. With a fleet of vessels seeking the Callao and none able to locate her as yet, tremendous weight is given the belief that she has indeed met trouble, and that sinister deeds are happening that seem scarcely credible in this day.

Believe Pirates Roam Seas

The shipping world has been shocked into a realization that pirates again roam the seas, directing their depredations against peaceful merchant vessels. In the light of the Callao's apparent disappearance, the impression that the loss of the Boston-bound steamer Hewitt and other vessels, as well as the capture of the crew of the five-masted schooner Carroll A. Deering is due to the activities of this raider takes on renewed importance.

Broadcasted radiograms have been sent out, asking for any information possible concerning the missing steamer, but up to a late hour last night no encouraging word had come in reply. The dread silence bodes ill for the Callao and her precious human freight.

If the Callao has actually been intercepted by the marauder, the theory is that she may have been forced to take a course for some remote island in the West Indies, a spot far out of the beaten track of shipping, and here her passengers made captives and herded with prisoners taken from the Deering and the other vessels which have vanished utterly from the ocean's surface during the past few months. In unexplained manner, the Callao would make a desirable prize, together with her valuable cargo. The daring captors would probably not hesitate to send her across the Atlantic to Russia, her identity masked and with a pirate chief in command.

The seizing of the Callao may have been intended as the trump card of the pirates, who are undoubtedly shrewd enough to figure that such a bold stroke must inevitably result in a reckoning with the United States navy.

WANT PIRATES

Want Raider Hunted Down

Washington has been besieged with inquiries from anxious relatives and friends of the Callao's passengers and crew, while families of the men from the Hewitt, the Deering and other vessels, who have been mourned as dead, take renewed hope that their loved ones may yet live, but languish in some desolate spot in the Southern Atlantic, waiting and praying for rescue. They have added their appeals and begged that something be done quickly to hunt down the raider and discover, if possible, the rendezvous of ruling men.

News of the Callao's apparent disappearance came soon after a report made here yesterday that Second Officer Elisha Diamond of the steamer Munabro, also owned by the Munson line, had sighted a strange steamer at 3 o'clock in the morning of June 20, at a point 35 miles east-northeast of Nantucket South Shoal lightship, while on the way from Boston to Baltimore, without cargo. "If the Munabro had been loaded with coal, we might not now be here to tell the story," said Mr. Diamond last night.
"The unknown vessel, evidently a we were running light, made off and was quickly swallowed up.

"I was on watch at the time," said
Mr. Diamond in telling of the incident.
"The weather had been foggy and was beginning to clear, when I heard a peculiar sounding whistle, deep throated and somewhat like the raucous tones of a foghorn. As the fog gradually cleared I could make the outlines of a steamer coming toward us from a southeasterly direction, heading northwest. The Munabro had the right of way and I supposed the stranger would come around our stern and go by us. Had she done so, I should not have given her a second thought.

"Imagine our surprise, therefore,
when she kept coming straight ahead
as though intending to cross our bow.
Not a light was visible except the masthead and range lights, the hull being cloaked in darkness so that it was impossible to make much of her.

When within half a mile, the phantom ship slowed down while from an inky blackness we were alized up.
Then, her wheel put hard a-starboard, the craft swung in a circle on our port bow and travelling at high speed, disappeared in an easterly direction."

Captain Edwin J. Giles, the veteran master of the Munabro was asleep at the time of the occurrence and when he came on duty, Mr. Diamond related the facts to him. He was so impressed that immediately upon arrival at Baltimore, last Saturday, he made a detailed report to his agents, who in turn relayed the information to Washington for what it was worth.

That it made a serious impression at the capital, is evident from the fact that warnings were sent to all vessels to be on the watch for the mysterious craft.

Mate Diamond said that the vessel might be a legitimate trader or navy boat, or might be just the opposite.
He deemed it his duty to give warning in case that it might prove to be the dreaded raider.

From Washington came a report that T. T. Chamberlain, commissioner of navigation, regarded the Munabro report as substantial evidence of the

RUTH ROLAND. SHE'S QUEEN OF THE SERIALS. HER LAST TWO WERE "THE AVENGING ARROW" AND "WHITE RAGLE."

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, July 8.—A new bill-of-fare is now being furnished those who feast at the cinemas.

The world's largest theatre, the Capitol, is showing a program in which no picture is over three reels long.

The result has been so satisfactory that S. L. Rothafel, the director, will frequently arrange such programs. Exhibitors throughout the country are preparing to follow suit.

If this is done it means that the day of the padded feature film is past. Here is the Capitol program—news reel; "The Northern Trail," a two-reel drama; "Among Those Present," a three-reel Lloyd comedy; a La Fontaine Fable, two-reel animal picture; "Ghost of John Barleycorn," colored picture.

That program filled the 5300 seats of the theatre on the hottest night of the season. Pathé and Educational, largest distributors of short features, report that the demand for short-length films is greater than at any time in the history of filmdom.

And the producers of big features are reducing production. The movie stylists have decreed the end of the bustles, "rats" and pads in film creations. The public demanded that.

Some Speed
Pathe News showed scenes at the Dempsey-Carpentier fight in 60 theatres in the metropolitan district of New York within six hours of the knockout. By means of airplane Pathe was able to show the pictures in Chicago at one o'clock the next day. These pictures were of scenes at the arena only as the interstate commerce law prohibits shipments of movies of the actual fight.

High-Brow Stuff
Most reviews of movies are written by those with a hyper-critical viewpoint. No defect of direction, photography, titling or acting escapes the professional reviewer.

That is because he is looking at the film from an analytical angle, rather than with the view of being entertained.

As a consequence, his conception of what a film should be often appears to be "high-brow" to the casual attendant of the photoplay houses.

When this reviewer saw Alice Brady in "Little Italy" he was made extremely uncomfortable by the subtleties. They were all platitudes.

However, the picture is simple in theme. A woman vows to marry the first man she meets. This, to spite her father.

The man is a member of an Italian family, hated by her and her father. She keeps her vow.

Her husband loves her. She hates him—a son is born. Then everything ends happily.

The acting by the leading players is not subtle, nor graphic. The picture needs many subtleties. They are simple, giving to the audience that part of the story which the actors are unable to give.

Thus a story is told, logically.

Reel Realisms

Betty Ross Clark admits that she can't sing, doesn't like golf and that the only reason she is in movies is that she can earn more money than on the stage. George Washington had nothing on her.

"Queenie," Shirley Mason's next. Bebe Daniels. Now making "The Speed Girl."

Wanda Hawley completes "Her Face Value."

Then why worry about commonplace subtitles?

Dustin Farnum starts work on "The Primal Law."

Rita Jolivet, who played the beggar's daughter in the picture version of "Kismet," has the title role in "Theodora," the Italian spectacle film to be shown in America.

"The Butterfly," Marie Prevost's first starring picture, is about completed.

Warns of Pirate Ships

suspected operations of sea pirates off the coast.

Interest in the Hawitt, Carroll M. Deering and other ships which are believed to have encountered the raiders, is revived and at fever heat in the light of latest developments. The Hawitt sailed from Sabine, Texas, Jan. 20, for Boston, filled with sulphur, her crew of 49 men including many from greater Boston, as completely as if swallowed up by the ocean, she vanished from a lane always crowded with ships and many theories were advanced as to her probable end. Weeks ago she was posted as missing, the official admission that she has been given up as lost.

Mystery in Deering Case

There was more mystery in the Deering disaster. One day last winter, under full sail and with not a living soul on board, the schooner sailed in toward Diamond Shoals, off North Carolina, and crashed ashore, to leave her bones in the sand. The ship's boat was gone, but if it had been battered to pieces when the crew sought to put off in it, the wreckage would have been found.

Not a stick of wreckage from it has ever been picked up. The only clue to the fate of Captain Willis B. Wormell of Portland and his crew of a dozen men was a scrawled note, picked up off Cape Hatteras some time later in a bottle and purporting to have been written by one of the sailors. The message was brief and evidently written in the stress of great excitement. It stated that the Deering had been captured by a strange craft, an old hunker which resembled a submarine chaser. Members of the crew were hiding, but had no chance of escape and were being rounded up, the note said. The writer evidently had no time to finish the narrative, adding only a request that the Deering's owners be notified. No name was signed, the sailor evidently falling into the pirates' clutches, with barely time to get the fateful message into the sea.

Government Warning

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Theories that piratical marauders are at work in the traffic lanes of the Atlantic coast reached a new high level yesterday.

Government wireless stations are sending broadcast messages at sea, warning to be on the lookout for "a low, rakish, suspicious-looking craft," sighted by Capt. Giles of the Munson liner Munahbro Thursday.

"SO THIS IS WHERE THEY CAME!" HE EXCLAIMED

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
As Nancy and Nick and Chick Chick-aree (the red squirrel) were hiding behind the hazel bush watching Will Woodpecker sneak into Chick's house to eat up his maple sirup sap, there came such a dash and a crash that the whole three of them fell over backward.

At the same instant Mr. Sprinkle-Blow, the weatherman, landed beside them with his magic umbrella upon which he had sailed down from the sky. As usual, he looked worried to death. Really, Mr. Sprinkle-Blow was the very worriedest person you ever knew about. If folks only knew the trouble he had with his Nuisance Fairies, and the time he had keeping things in order, I'm sure they never would think of blaming him the way they do for this and that and the other thing.

Well, just now he was looking more worried than ever, and when he saw everybody in a heap it didn't help any.

"So this is where they came!" he exclaimed. This is the place these awful Nuisance Fairies landed! Now, what's to be done? If they go round knocking down my friends and help-

At the same instant something fell with a thump right on top of Mr. Sprinkle-Blow's umbrella, and then rolled off to the ground. It was Will Woodpecker, as limp as a dishrag.

"My goodness!" panted Will, opening one eye. "Just as I went to fasten that maple sirup sap, it blew up and hit me. Chick Chickaree fooled me and put in gasoline instead."

KABER MURDER TRIAL

Witnesses Declare Kaber Accused Wife of Ordering Murder on Death Bed

CLEVELAND, July 8.—Testimony tending to show that Daniel H. Kaber, for whose murder his widow, Eva Catherine Kaber, is on trial for first degree murder, suspected her of having planned his assassination, was introduced yesterday by the state through two witnesses.

"My wife ordered this done," My wife ordered this done," My God, my wife ordered this done."

These exclamations were uttered by Mr. Kaber to Police Lieutenant D. B. Miller of Lakewood, upon the officer's arrival at the home soon after Mr. Kaber had been stabbed, according to Lieutenant Miller's testimony.

"My God, my wife must have done this," Dr. W. J. Quigley, who was called to attend the wounded man, said Mr. Kaber exclaimed to him.

Both Lieutenant Miller and Dr. Quigley declared that Mr. Kaber made these statements while yet conscious, and while he lay on the floor by the side of the bed in which he was attacked.

Told of Love For Other Men

This, together with assertions by two women witnesses that Mrs. Kaber had told them that she wanted her husband murdered, were the high points in the state's testimony yesterday.

Mrs. Mary J. Wade, an alleged medium, testified that Mrs. Kaber on the last several visits to her, said:

"I want you to try to get rid of Dan Kaber for me."

Asked by Mrs. Wade how she was to go about it, Mrs. Kaber was alleged to have replied:

"I want you to kill him—any way to get rid of him. The man I love has no money, only brains, and Mr. Kaber has $50,000 life insurance."

Mrs. Bertha M. Mieske, grandmother of the little Patricia, whom the Kabers had adopted, testified that Mrs. Kaber said to her:

"I hate Dan Kaber and am going to get rid of him within the next six months in some manner or other."

These statements were made to Mrs. Mieske in April, 1919, and to Mrs. Mieske in January before the murder, they testified.

The state also, in an effort to substantiate its claim that Mrs. Kaber sought to poison her husband, introduced testimony of Dr. Quigley and Dr. Alfred Maschke along this line.

Both physicians said they had treated Mr. Kaber and made examinations of him during a period of several months before his death. They asserted that he was suffering from neuritis and secondary anemia.

Enough to Kill Four

Based upon a hypothetical question asserting that an analysis of Mr. Kaber's internal organs after his death disclosed the presence of arsenic in quantity "sufficient to kill four men," two physicians said they would diagnose the cause of the anemia and neuritis as arsenical poisoning.

This hypothetical question was admitted by Judge Maurice Bernon only on the state's promise to show by later testimony that an analysis of Mr. Kaber's organs showed the presence of the poison in the quantity alleged.

Attorney William J. Corrigan, on cross-examination of the physician, sought to establish that the poison might have been absorbed from powder sprinkled over the organs by the undertaker who prepared the body for burial. He based a hypothetical question on this assumption, but Dr. Quigley maintained that the poison could not have been absorbed in this manner in such an amount as claimed by the state.

Attorney Francis W. Poulson, Mrs. Kaber's personal counsel, asserted last evening that the testimony of the undertaker will show that the powder sprinkled over Mr. Kaber's internal organs was arsenic, and according to Mr. Poulson, "enough to kill a whole regiment of men."

RUSH TROOPS TO TAMPICO

Foreign Office Refuses to Comment on Dispatch of U. S. Warship to Scene

MEXICO CITY, July 8.—Additional federal troops have been despatched to the region of Tampico by the Mexican government for the announced purpose of "giving guarantees to nationals and foreigners." This action was taken although the forces regularly maintained around Tampico, where there is a serious situation arising because of unemployment, are deemed sufficient to deal with any emergency, said a statement issued last night by Fernando Torreblanca, private secretary to President Obregon.

Cesar Lopez de Lara, governor of the state of Tamaulipas, yesterday was en route to Mexico City, but it was officially reported he had conferred by telegraph with President Obregon, who ordered him immediately to return to Tampico to aid in the adjustment of the labor situation. So far as despatches received here last night from Tampico indicated, there have been no untoward incidents in the oil regions there. Senor Torreblanca's statement said nothing had been received in official circles to cause apprehension, inasmuch as "Mexican workers who were thrown out of work were acting with prudence and decorum."

The foreign office declined to comment on any phase of the situation which has arisen through the arrival of United States warships at Tampico, and it was learned last night that nothing in the way of communication has passed between Mexican officials and the American charge d'affaires here relative to the presence of United States ships in Mexican waters. The action of the United States government in despatching the Sacramento and the Cleveland to Tampico has occasioned little excitement in Mexico City. The public apparently accepts the government's opinion that warships of a friendly nation are privileged to call at Mexican ports and to remain, so long as they do not transgress international law.

BOOTLEGGERS KILL SHERIFF

Officer Who Held Up Truck Met With Fusillade of Bullets at Utica

UTICA, N. Y., July 8.—Deputy Sheriff Charles Kammerlohr was shot and instantly killed by two bootleggers here early today. The bootleggers were wounded before they killed the deputy. They were arrested and taken to a hospital.

Deputy Sheriff Kammerlohr and Ireland had been watching for bootleggers several nights. About 1 o'clock this morning they observed a suspicious looking truck and commanded the driver to stop. Kammerlohr stepped on the running board and was met by a fusillade of bullets. He replied with several shots before falling off the truck and wounded both bootleggers. Ireland dashed up just as Kammerlohr fell, and in the face of his revolver the truck was stopped. Three other deputies in the vicinity were soon on the scene and the wounded bootleggers were taken to the hospital. They said their names were Isidore Comisky and Nathan Denmark.

Comisky had four wounds, one near the heart, two in the stomach and one in the hip. Denmark had a wound in the arm, one in the thigh and two on the lower part of the leg.

THREE RIVERS, Que., July 8.—Five hundred small forest and prairie fires were raging today in the vicinity of Grand Mere. Considerable damage was done at Lake Le Peche. Some hydroplanes had to cease forest fire scouting service on account of the fumes.

FREDERICTON, N. B., July 8.—More than 2000 men were fighting 15 forest fires in various parts of New Brunswick today. Some fires blazed anew after they were supposed to be under control. Chief Forester G. H. Prince said practically all the fires were traceable to fishermen or careless smokers.

In the meantime the bonus bill remained before the senate as its unfinished business with extended debate in prospect today prior to the usual week-end adjournment.

Miss Dagmar Perkins Starts Campaign To Rescue the English Language

(By Newspaper Enterprise)
NEW YORK, July 8.—The English language of today is an American dialect which plays no favorites and recognizes no class distinction.

That is the contention of Miss Dagmar Perkins, president of the National Association for the Improvement of American Speech. And it is why she has set about to right the defects of our language.

"New York would much rather say 'world' instead of 'world,'" says Miss Perkins, "and Kentucky prefers to be known as 'Kentucky' instead of 'Kaintucky'."

"Slovenly speech is as bad as slovenly dress. The person whose speech is slovenly, no matter how able or how well dressed he may be, does not demand the respect and attention given to a distinguished speaker."

"The street is not the only place where one hears 'watchastep,' 'gimme' and so on. The business man and the debutante, the woman who stands for culture and the college graduate use English which is quite as faulty and speak as incorrectly as folk who have had little or no education."

"In these days of toddle and twaddle it behooves the American public to develop seriously some art which is 100 per cent American and of which they need not be ashamed. Other arts may be imported but the art of American speech is entirely a home product.

"There is a real melody of speech which soothes tired nerves, kindles enthusiasm and wins friends," says Miss Perkins.

"The woman who whines through her nose and speaks as though she has not a friend in the world, probably hasn't, and the reason is obvious."

"The person who mumbles 'I'm glad to see you' need not expect anyone to believe it."

For the teacher who realizes the value of concerning herself with the speech of her pupils the National Association for the Improvement of American Speech offers opportunity for getting practical information that will be of value to her in checking up her own enunciation and instituting methods of improving the enunciation of the students.

The headquarters of the organization are at 915 West End avenue, New York city. The council of the organization includes James M. Beck, Mrs. Paul Cravath, Mrs. Daniel Guggenheim, Mrs. Oliver Harriman, Otto H. Kahn, Mrs. Edward McClellan, W. Forbes Morgan, Mrs. William B. Perkins and Mrs. William Belknap.

RENEWS PLEA FOR SEPARATE TRIAL

Jury Retires While Attorney McAnarney Argues the Motion

DEDHAM, July 8.—A motion for a separate trial for Bartholomew Vanzetti was renewed today at the conclusion of the testimony of Nicola Sacco, his codefendant on charges of a double murder for which they are on trial here. Sacco had been on the stand under direct and cross-examination since Wednesday, when he succeeded Vanzetti.

As Sacco stepped from the stand, J. J. McAnarney, counsel for Vanzetti, arose and asked that the jury be excused while he argued a motion, which he said was a renewal of one he had made at the opening of the trial. Judge Thayer instructed the jurors to retire.

Attorney McAnarney in opening said he felt it would be absolutely impossible to eliminate from the minds of jurors what had transpired at the present time and he felt that it was in the interests of his client that he ask for the severance of the cases. The court informed him at that time, he said, that if the trial developed a proper reason for the severance of the cases the motion might be renewed.

"Now," Mr. McAnarney said, "I think the time has come when in the interests of Vanzetti I should move again for a severance of his case from that of Sacco."

A conference of counsel with the court at the bench followed.

HIGH SCHOOL CROWDED

Biggest Enrollment in School's History—Will Use Portable

So crowded will conditions at the Lowell high school be next September, when the school reopens, that a portable school will have to be brought in to play and the hall of the present building will be utilized to take care of the overflow.

The largest enrollment in the history of the school has been registered for next year, according to Headmaster Henry H. Harris. At the present time 1980 young men and women are planning to enter or return to the school in September. It was almost an impossibility to keep cool or even comfortable either today or last night.

Industrial conditions may change sufficiently before next September to make a number of the young people who now plan to enter the high school change their minds and this will relieve the pressure somewhat.

So serious had the prospects of overcrowding become that Mr. Harris was forced to bring the matter to the attention of the school committee and at a conference in city hall last evening at which the members of the committee, Supl. Molly, Mr. Harris and Business Agent Henry Williams were present, it was decided to ask the buildings department to transfer one of the portable schools now at the Morey school to the high school yard next September. In addition, Mr. Harris says he fears that he will have to establish two additional classes in the school hall beside the two that were there last year.

The school committee also instructed Business Agent Williams to get in touch with the high school buildings commission and ask that it loan the high school building commission and ask that it loan the committee sufficient equipment to furnish the portable school and the hall classrooms. It is understood that the commission has bought considerable furniture for the new high school building, part of which could be used temporarily in the portable school. As a result of the school department will have to expend several thousands of dollars, Chairman Thomas B. Delaney says.

In the fall of 1922 it is hoped to have the new high school building ready for occupancy and thus do away with worries about crowded conditions.

REPORT JAPAN TO FOREGO PACT AND CUT NAVY

TOKIO, July 8. (By the Associated Press).—According to information obtained here the ground is being prepared for formal negotiations later with the United States and Great Britain regarding naval limitation.

Indirect conversations, considered of the most confidential nature, are in progress, and recent special meetings of the elder statesmen in Tokyo have led to the impression that they were participating in deliberations on naval questions and other matters having to do with the relations between Japan and the United States.

The Nishi Shimbun yesterday insists that negotiations are going on between Japan and Great Britain concerning the abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, and it expresses belief that the abrogation will be announced shortly.

The underlying reasons for this predicted action, says the newspaper, grow out of the likelihood of a naval arrangement with the United States, Great Britain and Japan as parties, and the undesirability of arousing the hostility of Americans by revising the alliance.

The foreign office declined yesterday to discuss the subject.

Former Premier Kato, who is closely and officially connected with the history of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, is quoted by the newspaper today as saying that Japan need not continue the alliance if there is objection on the part of Great Britain, but that its renewal is desirable so long as there is no strong objection.

In Japan there are five Japanese for every acre cultivated.

No Let Up In Heat Wave Here

the intense heat and the lack of clear air.

If the city had only the high temperature to contend with, conditions would be at least tolerable, but with a damp, soaking humidity sapping the energy and vitality of everybody, it was almost an impossibility to keep cool or even comfortable either today or last night.

At 10 o'clock this morning the thermometer in Merrimack Square had passed the 80 mark and was well on the way to 90. Shortly after noon it reached that figure and gave indications of soaring even higher.

The municipal bath house off the Pawtucket boulevard was the haven of hundreds last evening and today and the staff of attendants there were kept busy every minute. No serious accidents have been reported although lifeguards Brennan and Lison had a little excitement yesterday afternoon when a little girl got beyond her depth. She was rescued, however, before her plight became serious.

The heat wave has brought with it heavy, thick air that contains a lot of humidity. People who rarely perspire say that their bodies were soaked with perspiration yesterday and today.

Employees of the local mills and factories found their labors especially arduous today and many of them were forced to leave for their homes. In the stores and offices men worked in their shirt sleeves and women wore the lightest sort of dresses.

Those who were able to get away made a bee-line for the beaches and amusement parks and commons around the city.

Board of health officials recently published in the city papers a set of rules for the care of babies in the warm weather and if these are followed, they say, mothers will find little difficulty in keeping their little ones in good health during the warm spell.

The city's water supply is holding out well, but unless more rain is soon forthcoming it is feared that the Cook wells will have to be re-opened to meet the drain made on the supply during the heated spell.

On the Commons

Many people gathered on Lowell's commons this morning to get a breath of air and possibly a brief respite from the intense heat. All classes and degrees of people were represented on the benches which are placed in the shade of the big elms.

There was the tired insurance agent who stopped briefly on his rounds to rest and to mop his forehead with a big handkerchief. "Gosh," he wheezed, "this is the hottest day I've ever struck in all my long and checkered career." That is what a good many people say, but of course one must make allowance for the fact that each succeeding hot spell is classed by many as "the hottest ever."

The psychological reason is that past discomforts are soon forgotten and those of the present loom large in the minds of the sufferers.

Fond parents brought their children down to the pond and placed them in the water, wishing all the while that they were children too and could disappear in the water.

Many of the people gathered on the commons this morning were men who were out of work and as one walked by he almost invariably found that the "Help Wanted" pages of the newspapers were the ones that were being

WAS OVERCOME BY THE HEAT

Walter Farrell of Chelmsford street was overcome by the heat in Middlesex street near the Crown theatre shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon. The ambulance removed him to St. John's hospital, where it was stated later that his condition is not considered serious.

FIREMEN SAVE GIRL ON OPERATING TABLE

BOSTON, July 8.—A case in which the fire department was called to save the life of a young woman who was on the operating table at a hospital and succeeded, became known yesterday.

The patient had stopped breathing after a major operation and heart and pulse beats became weaker. Physicians and nurses had tried for an hour to revive respiration without success when the fire department was called upon to send a pump.

The patient was so weak that pure oxygen could not be pumped safely into the lungs at first and clear air was alternated with a dash of oxygen. After seven minutes' breathing was begun and in half an hour the patient's respiration was normal.

Dr. S. L. Strong, the physician in charge, said yesterday that the pump method proved effective and he praised highly Captain William Swan and the fire department squad in charge of it.

$4,593,933,248 TOTAL TAX IN YEAR

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Total tax receipts by the government for the fiscal year ended June 30, were $4,593,933,248, of this $3,212,713,482 derived from income and profit taxes, the bureau of internal revenue announced yesterday. The statement was based on collectors' telegrams of June 30, it was said, and it was explained it might be necessary to make some slight changes.

The statement showed that of the total collected, New York with $1,124,351,428 paid about one-fourth and led all other states. Of New York's total $304,355,604 came from income and profits tax. Pennsylvania came second with $487,711,265, of which $351,352,599 was from income and profits taxes. Illinois with a total of $387,763,982 of which $260,300,251 was collected from income and profits, ranked third in the list.

Other states in the order of which their payments ranked, with the total collected and the amount from income and profit taxes, were Ohio, $234,832,396 and $203,208,365; Michigan, $271,997,771 and $195,562,453; Massachusetts, $258,902,844 and $214,062,347; California, $131,313,732 and $127,423,352; New Jersey, $112,500,951 and $91,356,694; Missouri, $125,451,231 and $86,121,143; North Carolina, $124,510,431 and $38,659,057.

North Carolina, in addition to ranking tenth according to the amount collected, led all southern states.

"Good Fighters, Poor Lovers"

Mrs. Herb Brodie

"Few men who are good fighters make good lovers." So wails Mrs. Herb Brodie from the divorce court ringside in San Francisco, where she sued for separation from the welter-weight champion of the Pacific fleet during the war, and western ring celebrity.

"They hit their life partners without gloves," she specifies in charging that Brodie used her as a "punching bag."

"And their 'love-taps' are often knockouts."

"The next man I marry, if there is a next, will be gentle. I'd rather have a hen-pecked hubby than one with a mighty wallop."

UNITED FRONT AGAINST PRIZE FIGHTS URGED

NEW YORK, July 8.—The value of bible reading was emphasized by speakers at yesterday's session of the world's Christian Endeavor convention.

The Rev. Dr. A. B. Kentall of Washington, D. C., said that the sacredness and perpetuity of the home were being assailed from many sides and urged that it be safeguarded with the bible. The greatest need of the day, he said, was trained teachers of the bible.

"We are shocked, horrified, day after day," he continued, "at the terrible breakdown of character as revealed in the columns of the daily pressmen and women falling under the stress of the temptations of modern times like pins before the ball of the skilled bowler."

The Rev. Dr. Amos R. Wells of Boston deplored certain tendencies in literature, saying: "No literary style is beautiful that panders to lust or fosters crime or argues indelicacy or teaches treason." He said the bible was the crown of all books.

Urging that the church put forth a united front against prize fights, the Rev. Dr. A. E. Cory said: "It is foolish to talk of arresting Dempsey. I tell you we all ought to be arrested if such things continue."

"BABE" MAKES HOME RUN ON "RABBIT"

PITTSBURGH, July 8.—Babe Ruth playing here yesterday with the New York Americans in an exhibition game with the Pittsburgh Pirates, kept a promise to P. B. Doyle, prefect of the St. Paul's orphanage, at Idlewood, and visited the institution. Doyle, formerly with the Yankees, had been in the city for a few days. The famous ball player was accompanied by "Rabbit" Maranville and Charley Grimm of the Pittsburgh team.

Ruth went to bat before the 500 children at the orphanage and was fanned the first time up by Mike Randall, aged 12, crack pitcher of St. Paul's. Then Maranville took Mike's place and the home run king smashed the ball all over the lot to the delight of the fans.

WORLD SERIES PRELIM

PITTSBURGH, July 8.—The Pittsburgh Nationals defeated the New York Americans here yesterday in an exhibition game, 5 to 3. Babe Ruth exhibited out on strikes on his first time up. Fled to right field the second time, to center the third time up and struck out on his fourth trip to the plate. Robertson knocked a homer in the third.

Pittsburgh 5, New York 3.
 Batteries—Quinn, Ferguson and Hofmann, Devor, Carlson and Wilson.

WRIGHT LOSES TITLE IN FIRST ROUND

WORCESTER, July 8.—Francis D. Outimet, former Massachusetts and national amateur golf champion, who is picked to win the state title, will meet George Gillespie of Worcester in the third round of the championship at the Worcester Country club.

The second round yesterday saw the defeat of Stanley Brennan of Worcester, who eliminated J. Wright, present champion, yesterday morning. Brennan went down before Durham Jones of Brae Burn, 8 and 7.

Most of the matches yesterday afternoon were easy for the winners. The only stiff fights were put up between Gillespie and H. E. Kenworthy, former Rhode Island champion, and Aubach-Brown, match won by Aubach when Brown, former state champion, dubbed his approach on the 20th, 20th.

The matches today follow:
 Quinlan vs. Guilford; Outimet vs. Gillespie; Aubach vs. Whitcomb, and Jones vs. Chase.

The feature of the first round was the defeat of Wright, who gained international notice recently as the last survivor of the American golf team in the British amateur tournament.

In another thrilling match, A. M. Hovle, Wollaston, defeated F. G. Thayer of the same club, 1 up in 20 holes. Hovle was 5 down with five holes to go and staged a sensational comeback, evening the score.

The 15th, having the 19th and winning the match on the second extra hole.

Ray Gorton of Brae Burn won the first extra hole match of the tourney from Clark Hodder of Commonwealth.

 Chase defeated Hovle, 3-1.

SALARIES OF INDICTED WHITE SOX PLAYERS

CHICAGO, July 8.—Statements by defense attorneys during examination of the indicted White Sox players yesterday that the indicted White Sox players were not high salaried men, as had been supposed, resulted in the disclosure of a list of salaries, which include figures as low as $3000 a season for some of the men and as high as $7350 for others.

Back Highest Paid
 Buck Weaver's contract for $7350 per season was the highest of any of the players in 1919, and Claude Williams, with a contract for $5000 a season, received the lowest salary.

Bonuses, however, increased the total salary of several men and most of the list were increased in 1920.

The list as given out by the state and on which the defense refused to comment follows:
 "Chicago" $6666.66 a month for the playing season, six months in 1919. Not with club in 1920.

Charles Risher—$2350 for the 1919 season, plus $185.76 for the extra time required for a world series. Same contract for 1920.

Buck Weaver—$7250 for 1919, plus $1450 for extra time. Signed three-year contract in 1915.

Fred McMullin—$500 a month for season of about six months, plus $119.94 for extra time. Signed six-month contract for 1920.

Joe Jackson—$1000 a playing season month in 1919, plus $235.71 for extra time. Signed three-year contract for 1920.

Oscar Felch—$714.50 per month in 1919 plus $214.35 for world's series. Signed three-year contract in 1915.

Claude Williams—$500 a month in 1919 plus a bonus of $175 in accordance with his contract and another bonus of $500. Contract for 1920 season $6000. Received a bonus of $1390 at the time of his suspension in the fall of 1920.

FAST GAME TOMORROW SCOWLER NOT SMILER

Knights of Columbus to Present Strongest Lineup Against St. Ambrose Nine

With the Twilight league suspending operations for nearly the past two weeks, Lowell fans are hungry for good baseball and the most likely place to find it is at the Twilight game tomorrow afternoon when the Lowell Knights of Columbus and the St. Ambrose club of Dorchester will line up in what is expected to be one of the most hotly contested games of the season.

Manager "Nixey" Coughlin, who have been going along at a great stride all season and they don't intend to let up any tomorrow. In fact, to do so would be disastrous for the St. Ambrose club.

Dorchester outfit, boasting such stars as Paul Howard, the old Lowell New England league outfielder, Otto Deninger, another local favorite, and utility men, is easily one of the most dangerous nines in the state and the local "casies" will have to extend themselves to the limit to win.

The St. Ambrose club has beaten many of the best teams of Greater Boston, among their recent victims being the Colonial, which the celebrated O'Brien on the mound.

However, the K. of C. team will probably give the visitors the stiffest fight of their career. Manager Coughlin will introduce his best talent and there will be no substitutes. "Josko" Conlon will be back in his old place in the infield and will contribute his strength to the team.

Once more twice across the plate with Walter Foye on the receiving end, Ripel, Knowles and all the other local favorites will be in the lineup. Bob Keeler will umpire.

The game will be called promptly at 3:15 and remember one punch of the bat takes you directly to the park entrance of your journey by electric.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES

Jeanette Rankin, in Maiden Start, Wins $5000 Tavern "Steak"

NORTH RANDALL, Cleveland, Ohio, July 8.—Making her initial start on the Grand Circuit, Jeanette Rankin raced like a veteran and won the $5000 "Steak" for the trotters yesterday's feature of the harness race at North Randall.

The filly, which is owned by George E. Judson of Youngstown, O., captured the event in two straight heats. She was an overwhelming favorite in the betting.

Gallie Currel, the mare for which Fred Cline of Indiana is reputed to have paid $25,000, was never prominent. She also was a first starter and raced green, finishing sixth in the first heat, eighth in the second and sixth in the third.

Only two favorites, Jeanette Rankin and Johnny Quirk, won. The 206 pace went to Johnny Quirk. After finishing last in the first heat, he captured the second and third.

The bettors received a bad jolt when Brooke Worthy, Tom Murphy's horse, was defeated in the 2:10 trot, which went to the Indian in straight heats. Brooke Worthy sold for $1000 in a $1700 auction pool.

It required four heats to decide the first division of the 2:20 pace, which event easily went to Worthy. He won the second and fourth heats.

TODAY'S CARD
 CLEVELAND, July 8.—Single G, Hal Mahon, Red Lancelot and Louie Gratton, some of the greatest pacers in training, were named overnight to the field to start in the free-for-all pace, the feature of today's Grand Circuit harness race program at North Randall.

Because of his recent record in the world's fastest mile, Single G was expected to carry the bulk of the public's money.

Three other races are on the card. In the half-mile division of the 2:20 pace, the first division of which was decided yesterday. Ten probable starters were named in this event.

Eleven were expected to take the word of the 2:20 trot and the final event of the week, the 2:14 pace, closed with eight entered.

BASEBALL TO TRAIN AT PALMER STADIUM

CAMBRIDGE, July 8.—The athletes of Oxford and Cambridge universities, now at rest on the way to this country for a dual track meeting with the Yale-Harvard team at the Harvard stadium on July 23, will spend a week at the Palmer stadium in Princeton in preparing for the races. This word was received today from G. A. Trowbridge, a former Princeton hurdler, who will run for the Englishmen. He is now at Princeton on training under his former coach, Keene Fitzpatrick, for the games.

No Championships Are Inherited

Athletic prowess is not inherited. Sons of famous fathers, though they often try to excel past family records, but too low to qualify as big leaguers.

So far we have had no son of a world's champion boxer, baseball star, tennis wizard, or golf super who has been able to twinkle as brightly in the athletic world as his father has done before him.

There are many sons of famous fathers striving to climb up the ladder in the same game. They usually succeed in the same ratio that they apply themselves just like any other boy whose parents are not ethetically inclined.

There are several good examples of youngsters trying to follow in their father's footsteps.

Bernie Weffers, Sr., is trying to outdo his son, Junior, who is a fast runner. He has a good running body. But he has a long way to go to equal his father's speed. He has diligently applied himself.

So far he has never shown the speed which his father possessed. Young Bob Fitzsimmons has tried unsuccessfully to make a name in the ring similar to his father, the great "Rube" Bahl. But Young Bob is still in the "try" stage.

Johnny Evers is encouraging his son, who is a fast runner, to follow in his father's footsteps.

Christy Mathewson has a boy who will try to follow Big Six's great diamond career.

Tom Cobb has a couple of boys who will be trying to show up their daddy when they get a little bigger. However, they have other plans for them besides baseball. He wants his boys to be doctors or lawyers.

While Honpe is grooming his little boy in billiards in the hope that it will be his son and not an outsider who will some day strip him of his billiard crown.

Some of these youngsters may improve the century old adage that but one member of a family ever becomes a champion.

But so far it hasn't been done. Sons may inherit the inclination to become champions. They may inherit healthy bodies. But all of this could be easily discounted by numerous examples of failures of sons to copy their fathers.

It is environment—training and application—that makes new champions.

WILSON AGREES TO BOX ROBINSON

BOSTON, July 8.—Champion Johnny Wilson of the middleweights has been dragged out of his shell at last and has agreed to battle George Robinson of New York.

Yes, Johnny is actually going to put up his hands in the city where he won his title from Mike O'Dowd, May 6, 1920, and surprising of all surprises, it is to be a decision, and not a draw.

Wilson has had two or three soft ones, but his last battle with O'Dowd in New York showed the world that he was a contender for the title. He has been in a number of humongous exhibitions of the word "contract." The defense told the venturers the players were not under contract to the club during the health of the state object.

Just what is a contract then if these men were not under contract during the series? asked Edward Prindle, special prosecuting attorney employed by the American defense.

"Judging from the ones these men had, it's a piece of paper telling them where to head in," said Michael Ahearn of the defense.

"It's a piece of paper with a dotted line at the bottom where you mark an 'X' interspersed James C. O'Brien, another defense attorney.

"Wrong, both of you," said Ben Short of the defense. "It's your night prayer—that you say at night and forget in the morning."

RACES AT WINDSOR

Silver King Drives Mary O'Connor Into 2:10 List

WINDSOR, Ont. July 8.—Rain called a halt in the horse racing at Sage park yesterday afternoon just as the 2:10 trot had reached its most interesting stage with the contest narrowed down to two horses, Admiral Harris and Pennington.

The 2:13 pace was won by the New York entry, Mary O'Connor, that had to enter the 2:10 list to dispose of her health in the second mile. This was her hardest test and she was not in danger in the third and fourth miles, although her margin of safety was not large.

Silver King was a strong favorite to win, and when he won the first heat in 2:14 with something to spare, his supporters followed him safely away.

He was not quite up to the pace set by Queen Abbess and Mary O'Connor in the second mile and after being laid away in the third could not reach in the fourth.

JOHN D. PLAYS GOLF

Celebrates His 82nd Birthday Anniversary

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., July 8.—John D. Rockefeller today celebrated his 82d birthday anniversary by playing golf during the morning hours, and a rifle was on the program for the afternoon. His son and family were invited to dinner tonight to formally celebrate the event.

Despite the heat, Mr. Rockefeller is on the golf links most days, and his health appears to be excellent.

WILL PLAY GLOUCESTER

Lowell Firemen's Second Shift Team Will Play in Gloucester Tuesday

Next Tuesday the second shift baseball team of the Lowell fire department will journey to Gloucester where it will engage in a game with the firefighters of that city. The local players will make the trip in an automobile truck and are scheduled to leave the Central fire station in Palmer street at 9:15 a. m. On July 16 players of the Lynn fire department will play the Lowell aggregation in this city and on July 18 the Lowell players will match their skill with the fast Boston team in the Hub. On July 30 the local team and that of Cambridge will meet in Cambridge.

The next game of the local team will be on August 5 when it will be matched with the Manchester, N. H., team, the game to be played on Textile field in the Queen city. The Manchester team is looked upon as one of the best baseball organizations in New England, its members being John F. Smith, who played ball with the New England league when "Gramps" Lake and Pete Regan were in their glory. A return game will be played in this city in the latter part of August. The Lowell team is also scheduled to play the Somerville and Revere fire teams in the course of the summer.

Pitcher Hart Mullen of the local team, who was injured at a fire in Howe street last May, was taken to St. John's hospital yesterday for an X-ray picture of his hip and later was returned to his home. It is believed it will be several weeks before he is able to resume his duties with the Protective company.

Napoleon Grandchamp of the Protective company, a prominent member of the second shift baseball team, will be married next month to Miss Marion Mullen, a popular employee of the A. G. Pollard Co. He has given notice, however, that although he wishes to become a husband, he wishes to remain on the team.

BOY DROWNED IN MERRIMACK RIVER

Seven-year-old Felix Balduc was swept to his death by the current in the Merrimack river last evening, while his horrified mother helplessly watched his death struggles and listened to his cries for assistance. The tragedy took place within a stone's throw of the Balduc home, on Wall street. The first intimation of the happening which came to the mother of the unfortunate lad, was the shouts of some nearby children who had in turn heard the victim's appeals for help.

Mrs. Balduc, who was in her kitchen at the time, reached one of the front windows at the moment when her boy was about to sink from view. Driven temporarily insane by the sight, she ran to the river bank, but was stayed from entering the water by some men who saw her condition and leaped from the high stone wall to the shore, 15 feet below, to restrain her.

The boy was alone when he decided to go in swimming last evening, it is stated. He placed his clothing on the bank and went in at a spot where there are a number of pools which only fill with water when the river is high. But apparently he became allured by the deep water, where the current seized him, and relentlessly bore him towards the middle of the stream. Although children playing on Wall street heard his shrieks and aroused the neighbors, young Balduc had sunk beneath the surface. His parents are Felix and Amelia Balduc.

The lowest point of land on earth is the shore of the Dead sea, 1290 feet below sea level.

LLOYD GEORGE AND LORD ROBERT CLASH

LONDON, July 8.—(By the Associated Press)—A sharp and unusual passage of arms occurred in the house of commons yesterday afternoon between Premier Lloyd George and Lord Robert Cecil. It arose out of the premier's complaint that Lord Robert had accused him unjustly of having attacked the workmen of the country at a critical moment, namely, the eve of the coal strike.

A heated altercation ensued, Lord Robert declining to give way. He continued his speech and when he had finished, the premier, who in the meantime had sent for a copy of the speech in question, read a quotation and justified his remarks as an attack, not on workmen generally, but on socialism. He demanded that Lord Robert withdraw his imputations. Loud cries of "withdraw" were directed at Lord Robert, but he ignored them, and as the speaker did not interfere, the subject was dropped.

SEN. LODGE TO VOTE FOR BONUS

BOSTON, July 8.—Announcement of his intention to vote for the bonus bill in its present form was made by Senator Lodge in a letter received last night by John H. Holland, executive chairman of the Massachusetts department of the American Legion. The senator wrote:

"I regard the veteran's five-fold adjusted compensation bill reported by Senator McChesney as a very great improvement over the house bill of last year, and it is my intention to vote for it as it now stands."

BILLY RITCHIE DEAD

Actor Succumbs to Attack By Ostriches

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 8.—William (Billy) Ritchie, 42, motion picture comedian and for 20 years on the American vaudeville stage, died yesterday from injuries suffered two years ago, when he was attacked by ostriches at a motion picture studio here.

DEATHS

DAY—Harry Brooks Day, who received his early musical education at St. Anne's Protestant Episcopal church in this city and who for several years has been well known as Brooklyn, N. Y., organist and choir-master, died at his summer home in Peterboro, N. H., July 3. He was in his 63rd year. Mr. Day, after serving some time at St. Anne's, accepted a position as organist in Grace Protestant Episcopal church at Newton. He then studied at Munich and upon his return to America became organist and choir-master at St. Michael's Protestant Episcopal church in Brooklyn. Later he accepted a similar position at St. Luke's Protestant Episcopal church in the same city.

DESILETS—Olivia Desilets died last evening at her home, 173 Riverside st., aged 71 years. He is survived by three sons, Henry of Lynn and Thomas and Joseph Desilets of this city and two daughters, Rev. Sister Vladislav of the Sisters of Providence of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Edouard Audette of this city; also two nephews, Horace and Paul Desilets of this city. He was an attendant of St. Jean Baptiste church and was a member of the Holy Family sodality.

KRYGOSKI—Frank Krygoski, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Krygoski, died yesterday afternoon at St. John's hospital. The body was removed to his parents' home, 103 Hill st., by Undertaker Joseph Urbanek.

FUNERALS

SHEA—The funeral of Margaret Shea took place this morning from her home, 529 Broadway street at 8:30 o'clock and was largely attended by relatives and friends. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church where a high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. Francis Keenan. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. Miss Frances Shea and Frederick Cummings, sustaining the soles. Mr. Michael Johnson presided at the organ. There were many floral tributes and spiritual benedictions. The bearers were George Shea, Daniel Regan, John E. Regan, Patrick H. Harrington, Walter C. Shea and Edward J. Shea. Interment was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Rev. Francis Keenan read the committal prayer. Undertaker Peter H. Savage in charge of funeral arrangements.

FUNERAL NOTICES

RILEY—Died July 6 at his home, 61 Bodwell ave., Michael J. Riley. The funeral will take place Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from the chapel of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons. A funeral high mass will be sung at St. Columba's church at 9 o'clock. The burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

WIDOW—Died July 6 at her summer home, Surfside, Old Orchard, Me., Mrs. Ellen M. Wholey of Providence, R. I., widow of Denis Wholey and formerly of this city. The funeral will take place Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from the chapel of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons. A funeral high mass will be sung at St. Margaret's church, Old Orchard, at 9 o'clock. Burial in St. Patrick's cemetery. Rev. Francis Keenan at the grave at 2:30 p. m. Arrangements in charge of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

REEDY—Died July 5th at the home of her parents, Chelmsford Centre road, North Chelmsford, Ruth Irene Reedy, beloved daughter of John J. and Elizabeth Reedy. The funeral will take place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home and the burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

SCARLET FEVER KILLS

ALL CHILDREN IN FAMILY

WAKEFIELD, July 8.—Scarlet fever has caused the death of all the children of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gannons of 25 Park street, two having died last night in the Maiden Contagious hospital and the other having died Wednesday at the same hospital. The children are Lois May, 7; Myrtle E., 4, and Erna, 5.

There are six other cases of scarlet fever in town, two of the patients being in a dangerous condition.

AWARD TO PEGGY JOYCE

$1350 a Month, $27,500 Solicitor's Fees and $12,500 for Suit Expenses

CHICAGO, July 8.—Peggy Hopkins Joyce was awarded $1350 a month alimony, $27,500 solicitor's fees and $12,500 for suit expenses today by Judge Sabbath in her cross bill for separate maintenance, filed in reply to the suit of James Stanley Joyce for an annulment of their marriage.

The alimony granted is temporary as Judge Sabbath already had decided that he would not go into the merits of the case itself until it comes up for final adjudication in September.

Mrs. Joyce in her cross bill for separate maintenance asked temporary alimony of $10,000 a month and attorney's fees of $100,000 with which to prosecute her case.

In her bill she alleged that Joyce was worth at least $10,000,000 but her husband in his statement to the court maintained that his fortune was of not more than $3,000,000.

BOYS TORMENT CAT TO DEATH

A crowd of boys had a great time tormenting a cat in the pond of the South common last night and their "sport" was kept up until Assistant Agent Duncan of the Lowell Humane society made his appearance. It seems that the little fellows captured the cat on the common and after throwing it into the pond, enjoyed themselves in throwing stones and other missiles at the animal. After being notified by telephone Mr. Duncan rushed to the common and found the cat in such a condition that he deemed it most merciful to put it out of the way, via the gas box route.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. William John Silcox and Miss Edith Katherine Dawe were married July 6 at the home of the groom, 19 Robert street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Appleton Grant, rector of St. Anne's church. The bride was Miss Amelia Dawe, while the best man was Mr. Arthur Silcox. After July 13 the couple will be at home to their friends at 95 Pine street.

Reardon—Rogers The marriage of Mr. James T. Reardon of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Miss Jeanette H. Rogers, formerly of this city, but now of Brandon, Vt., took place July 6 at the Sacred Heart rectory of this city, the officiating clergyman being the pastor, Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I. The mother of the bride was Mrs. William M. Pearson, a sister of the bride, while the best man was Mr. William M. Pearson. The couple will make their home in Brooklyn, N. Y.

JUVENILE COURT A lengthy juvenile session was held amid sweltering heat this morning at the local police court. Two boys, Mitchell Matyka and Henry Sass, were sent away after breaking and entering charges were heard against them. Young Sass was returned to the Lyman school while Matyka was taken to the industrial school. Six youngsters who tore lead from the roof of a stable and bore it away in bags for the alleged purpose of purchasing fireworks for the glorious Fourth, were charged with being delinquent children. They ranged in age from seven to 12 years. Their parents will have the pleasure of each contributing $40 to the repair of the roof which their sons severely damaged.

UNION LEADERS JAILED

Howat and Dorchy, Who Called Strike, Sentenced to Server 6 Months and Fined

COLUMBUS, Kas., July 3.—Alexander Howat and August Dorchy, president and vice president of the Kansas Miners' union, were sentenced to serve six months in jail and to pay a fine of $500, by Judge Frank W. Boss in the Cherokee county district court here today. Howat and Dorchy were convicted last week of violation of the Kansas industrial law by calling a strike.

OLD STREET CAR BARN TO BE TORN DOWN

The old street car barn in Dracut, a building which housed the first street railway ever operated in this city, is to be torn down next week, according to an announcement made this morning by Manager Thomas Lees of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway company.

The old building which is situated in Lakeview avenue, near the corner of Pleasant street, contains a lot of valuable timber which is to be taken to Chelsea and used in building an addition to the car shop in that city. Any timber not taken to Chelsea will be sold locally as will the land on which the barn is situated, and a two-tenement house located in the rear of the structure.

The barn was built in 1856 when the Lowell and Dracut street car company was organized. At that time electric cars were unknown and the motive power was furnished by horses. The structure was abandoned as an active centre of street railway work in 1891 when the headquarters of the company were moved to their present location in Middlesex street. Since that time it has been used as a store house for old cars and as a shelter for the help car which carries the street railway men who live in Dracut to and from their work.

TESTIMONIAL TO FRED S. HARVEY

Fred S. Harvey, well known young lawyer of this city, who was recently appointed assistant United States attorney, will be tendered a testimonial banquet by the members of the Lowell Bar association next Thursday afternoon. The affair will be held at the Villa Lorraine at Pepperell and it is expected that every local lawyer will attend the festivities.

The Lowell Bar association will take this occasion to hold a meeting and hear the report of the special committee appointed recently to consider proposals for the association, such as the establishment of a branch of the registry of probate in this city, and better facilities for lawyers at the police court. It is probable also that the annual election of officers will be held.

SUMMER SERVICES AT ALL SOULS CHURCH

Special services for the community at large will be held at All Souls' church during the summer months. The first service will be held next Sunday, July 10, at 10:30 a. m. The preacher will be Rev. Frank A. Powell and there will be special music by the Apollo Male quartet of Boston. The services, as heretofore announced, in The Sun, will be continued during the month of July. A 15-minute organ recital will precede each service. Mrs. Helen C. Taylor will be the organist.

AT SPALDING PARK

The baseball game between the Hardwares and the employees of the J. L. Chaffoux Co. at Spalding park yesterday afternoon resulted in a victory for the "hard" ones, the final score after seven innings being 10 to 2. The battery for the winning team consisted of Roth and Norwood, while Johnson and Vining performed for the Chaffoux Co. Empire Bill handed out the decisions. The game, although one-sided, proved very interesting for the many spectators. It is probable that another game will be staged in the near future as the Chaffoux players still believe they have the goods.

REAL ESTATE AUCTION SALE

Saturday, July 9, 1921, at 2:30 P. M., at No. 15 West

Fourth Street, Lowell, Mass.

I shall sell at public auction, to the person who will bid the highest and comply with the terms of sale, a very attractive piece of investment property, consisting of a 3-story, 3-flat, slate-roofed house, barn, carriage sheds and about 15,900 square feet of land, with a frontage of about 155 feet on West Fourth street. This property is located in two pieces, but will be sold in one lot. The first place consists of a 3-story, 3-flat, slate-roofed house and 5,405 square feet of land, more or less, with a frontage of about 75 feet on West Fourth street.

The first floor has 7 rooms, pantry, bathroom, front and back halls, ice chest built in.

Second floor has 10 rooms, pantry and bathroom.

Third floor has 7 rooms, pantry and bathroom.

There are closets in almost every room in each tenement, and fireplaces in some of the front rooms.

The house has large bay windows on front and side, piazzas, electric lights throughout, hot and cold water, steam heat, front and back stairs, cemented cellar with bulkhead, sets high on the lot, has granite steps and granite-capped wall in front. The building has all modern improvements, has been remodeled, the rooms newly papered, and has been painted inside and out. It is in good condition to rent. This property can be used as a rooming house, 3-tenement house, or divided into kitchenette apartments.

The second place consists of a lot of land containing about 10,500 square feet, with a frontage of about 50 feet on West Fourth street, the next lot to the above, on which there is a large barn and carriage sheds. The buildings on this lot are out of repair but could be remodeled, or the lumber in them would go a long way in erecting a tenement house, which could be easily rented, as this is a desirable location near Bridge street, but 5 minutes' walk from Merrimack square, and near many large mills and workshops. This is a fine location for a garage. A better opportunity for investment is seldom offered.

Terms of sale: $500 must be paid to the auctioneer as a deposit as soon as the property is sold. Other terms at sale.

JOHN M. FARRELL, Auctioneer in charge.
